Stuff Dreams Are Made Of Housing Provision In Australia 1945 1960:

A History of European Housing in Australia Patrick Troy, 2000-06-22 This collection of essays first published in 2000 was the first systematic attempt to explain the social administrative technical and cultural history of European housing in Australia Written by a collaborative team of scholars from a wide range of disciplines it explains how Australian housing has evolved from the ideas brought by the first settlers and what makes Australian housing distinctive in social terms This book covers a broad range of topics including the ways in which houses reflect social values and aspirations the relationship between houses and gardens the home as a site of domestic production and consumption and an exploration of how housing provides the basis for developing a sense of community The book will be invaluable for students of urban affairs and those engaged in housing and the design professions as well as policy makers and analysts in the public and private sectors

Housing in 21st-Century Australia Rae Dufty-Jones, Dallas Rogers, 2016-03-09 Over the last two decades new and significant demographic economic social and environmental changes and challenges have shaped the production and consumption of housing in Australia and the policy settings that attempt to guide these processes These changes and challenges as outlined in this book are many and varied While these issues are new they raise timeless questions around affordability access density quantity type and location of housing needed in Australian towns and cities The studies presented in this text also provide a unique insight into a range of housing production consumption and policy issues that while based in Australia have implications that go beyond this national context For instance how do suburban based societies adjust to the realities of aging populations anthropogenic climate change and the significant implications such change has for housing How has policy been translated and assembled in specific national contexts Similarly what are the significantly different policy settings the production and consumption of housing in a post Global Financial Crisis period require Framed in this way this book accounts for and responds to some of the key housing issues of the 21st century A Concise History of Australia

Stuart Macintyre, 2020-08-03 Macintyre revisits A Concise History of Australia to provoke readers to reconsider Australia's past and its relationship to the present Consumer Australia Robert Crawford, Kim Humphery, Judith Smart, 2010-06-09 Donald Horne's The Lucky Country claimed that Australia was one of the first nations to find part of the meaning of life in the purchase of consumer goods Significantly similar views had been expressed in the late 18th century where everyday life in the antipodean outpost of Empire was regarded as being pecuniary and acquisitive in nature While references to Australia as a consumer society continue to be made the question of how Australia came to be so has attracted less attention The chapters in Consumer Australia actively redress this omission by examining the ways in which the processes of selling buying and exchanging have characterised the experiences of consumption in every day Australian life Prepared by leading and emerging scholars the chapters in this unique collection critically explore the different ways that Australians have consumed products brands and even consumption itself from the 19th century and through the 20th century By charting the growth and development of consumption in Australia Consumer Australia reveals how Australia came to be a consumer society and asks where it is headed

Australia's Boldest Experiment Stuart Macintyre, 2015-06-01 In this landmark book Stuart Macintyre explains how a country traumatised by World War I hammered by the Depression and overstretched by World War II became a prosperous successful and growing society by the 1950s An extraordinary group of individuals notably John Curtin Ben Chifley Nugget Coombs John Dedman and Robert Menzies re made the country planning its reconstruction against a background of wartime sacrifice and austerity The other part of this triumphant story shows Australia on the world stage seeking to fashion a new world order that would bring peace and prosperity This book shows the 1940s to be a pivotal decade in Australia At the height of his powers Macintyre reminds us that key components of the society we take for granted work welfare health education immigration housing are not the result of military endeavour but policy planning politics and popular resolve

Displaced Persons, Resettlement and the Legacies of War Jessica Stroja, 2022-06-09 This book provides a case study on the ongoing impact of displacement and encampment of refugees who do not have access to resettlement support services or are resettled in locations of low cultural and linguistic diversity Following the journeys of displaced families and children who left Europe after the Second World War to seek resettlement in Queensland Australia this book brings together the rarely heard voices of these refugees from written archives along with material from more than 50 oral history interviews It thoroughly explores the impacts of displacement encampment and eventually resettlement in locations without resettlement facilities or support networks In so doing the book brings to light important findings that can be used to help understand the experiences of those impacted by contemporary refugee crises and can be considered when developing responses and assistance in locations where there is a lack of diversity or support for refugees This book will be of interest to scholars and students studying and researching the history of migration sociology of migration psychological effects of migration and displacement as well as demography Practitioners and policymakers will also be able to draw from this book when considering the long term impacts of responses to contemporary refugee crises

Ethnographic Research in the Construction Industry Sarah Pink,Dylan Tutt,Andrew Dainty,2013 The construction industry as a workplace is commonly seen as problematic for a number of reasons including its worrying health and safety record the instability of its workforce and the poorly regulated nature of the sector It is surprising therefore that the sector and its working practices remain so under theorised Now though there is a growing interest in and awareness of the utility of an ethnographic approach to the construction industry Ethnographic Research in the Construction Industry draws together in one volume a set of expert contributions which demonstrate how social science perspectives rooted in ethnographic research on construction sites and with construction workers themselves can generate fresh insights into the social cultural and material ways that the industry and conditions of work in it are experienced and played out Each chapter develops discussion on the basis of an ethnographic case study to examine how theoretically informed ethnographic research can help us understand industry problems and can challenge common perceptions of the construction industry This book will be of interest to students and scholars of anthropology sociology geography and organization studies as well as those from the built environment and related applied fields

Critical Realism and Housing Research Julie M. Lawson,2006 First Published in 2006 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Henri Lefebvre Chris Butler,2012-10-12 While certain aspects of Henri Lefebvre s writings have been examined extensively within the disciplines of geography social theory urban planning and cultural studies there has been no comprehensive consideration of his work within legal studies Henri Lefebvre Spatial Politics Everyday Life and the Right to the City provides the first serious analysis of the relevance and importance of this significant thinker for the study of law and state power Introducing Lefebvre to a legal audience this book identifies the central themes that run through his work including his unorthodox humanist approach to Marxist theory his sociological and methodological contributions to the study of everyday life and his theory of the production of space These elements of Lefebvre s thought are explored through detailed investigations of the relationships between law legal form and processes of abstraction the spatial dimensions of neoliberal configurations of state power the political and aesthetic aspects of the administrative ordering of everyday life and the right to the city as the basis for asserting new forms of spatial citizenship Chris Butler argues that Lefebvre's theoretical categories suggest a way for critical legal scholars to conceptualise law and state power as continually shaped by political struggles over the inhabitation of space This book is a vital resource for students and researchers in law sociology geography and politics and all readers interested in the application of Lefebvre's social theory to specific legal and political contexts Critical Realism and

Housing Research Julie Lawson, 2013-01-11 Since the nineteenth century various housing solutions have evolved such as sprawling Australian home ownership and compact Dutch social rental housing This phenomenon cannot be adequately explained with simple descriptions of key events politics and housing outcomes Critical Realism and Housing Studies pushes debate forward arguing that a new ontological perspective is required to address fundamental issues in housing and comparative research This book is clearly organized into three parts which evaluate ontological and methodological alternatives for comparative housing research provide two historical case studies inspired by critical realist ontology compare the causal tendencies that explain diverging housing pathways in Australia and the Netherlands Lawson proposes that we turn to critical realism for the solution From this perspective the causal tendencies of complex open and structured housing phenomena are highlighted With this insight we are able to extract the key social arrangements which promote different housing solutions from the historical case studies Social arrangements which are found to influence alternative pathways in housing history concern the property rights circuit of savings and investment as well as labour and welfare relations As they develop differently over time and space they affect where when and how housing solutions develop It was Another Skin Sian Supski, 2007 This study examines the meanings of the kitchen to women who were wives mothers housewives and homemakers in the 1950s in Western Australia It uses qualitative data collected from oral history interviews with migrant and Australian born women The book provides insight to women's everyday lives and analyses practices such as cooking ironing budgeting shopping dishwashing and decorating which provide women with power Central themes of this study explore the meaning of home and kitchen design and analyses how practices of the kitchen inform women's multiple identities It also shows how dominant discourses such as domesticity femininity and efficiency reinforce gendered notions of women's work in the kitchen Moreover the book examines points of resistance it shows that women perform their everyday practices design their kitchens and decorate them in ways that perhaps were not always intended by domestic science experts designers architects and manufacturers GoogleBooks Renovation Nation Fiona R. Allon, 2008 This is an intelligent savvy account of home in all its manifestations It's about our fetish for home and ownership Why are Australians so obsessed with interest rates home ownership home beautification investment properties real estate Fiona Allon looks at our own homes why we renovate why shows like The Block were so incredibly popular why housing affordability has become one of the key political and social issues and finds that we have become more inward looking than ever She also looks at the national home and at why we became so anxious about keeping some people out of the country or away from places some thought they owned like Cronulla Beach Provided by publisher Home Alison Blunt, Robyn Dowling, 2022-05-30 Home articulates a critical geography of home in which home is understood as an emotive place and spatial imaginary that encompasses lived experiences of everyday domestic life alongside a wider and often contested sense of being and belonging in the world Engaging with the burgeoning cross disciplinary interest in home since the first edition was published this significantly revised and updated second edition contains new research boxes illustrations and contemporary examples throughout It also adds a new chapter on Home and the City that extends the scalar understanding of home to the urban The book develops the conceptual and methodological underpinnings of a critical geography of home drawing on key feminist postcolonial and housing thinkers as well as contemporary methodological currents in non representational thinking and performance The book s chapters consider the making and unmaking of home across the domestic scale house as home the urban city as home national nation as home and homemaking in relation to transnational migration and diaspora Each chapter includes illustrative examples from diverse geographical contexts and historical time periods Chapters also address some of the key cross cutting dimensions of home across these scales including digital connectivity art and performance more than human constructions of home and violence and dispossession The book ends with a research agenda for home in a world of COVID 19 The book provides an understanding of home that has three intersecting dimensions that material and imaginative geographies of home are closely intertwined that home power and identity are intimately linked and that geographies of home are multi scalar This framework the examples used to illustrate it and the intended audience of academics and students across the humanities and social sciences will together shape the field of home studies into the future Consuming the Entrepreneurial City Anne Cronin, Kevin Hetherington, 2008-04-07 This collection offers a global perspective on the changing character of cities and the increasing importance that consumer culture plays in defining their symbolic economies Increasingly forms of spectacle have come to shape how cities are imagined and to influence their character and the practices through which we know them from advertising and the selling of real estate to youth cultural consumption practices and forms of entrepreneurship to the regeneration of urban areas under the guise of the heritage industry and the development of a WiFi landscape Using examples of cities such as New York Sydney Atlantic City Barcelona Rio de Janeiro Douala Liverpool San Juan Berlin and Harbin this book illustrates how image and practice have become entangled in the performance of the symbolic economy It also argues that it is not just how the urban present is being shaped in this way that is significant to the development of cities but also that a prominent feature of their development has been the spectacular imagining of the past as heritage and through regeneration Yet the ghosts that this conjures up in practice offer us a possible form of political unsettlement and alternative ways of viewing cities that is only just beginning to be explored Through this important collection by some of the leading analysts of consumption cities and space Consuming the Entrepreneurial City offers a cutting edge analysis of the ways in which cities are developing and the implications this has for their future It is essential reading for students of Urban Studies Geography Sociology Cultural Studies Heritage Studies and Anthropology Cities in a Sunburnt Country Margaret Cook, Lionel Frost, Andrea Gaynor, Jenny Gregory, Ruth A.

Morgan, Martin Shanahan, Peter Spearritt, 2022-05-19 As Australian cities face uncertain water futures what insights can the history of Aboriginal and settler relationships with water yield Residents have come to expect reliable safe and cheap water but natural limits and the costs of maintaining and expanding water networks are at odds with forms and cultures of urban water use Cities in a Sunburnt Country is the first comparative study of the provision use and social impact of water and water infrastructure in Australia's five largest cities Drawing on environmental urban and economic history this co-authored book challenges widely held assumptions both in Australia and around the world about water management consumption and sustainability From the living water of Aboriginal cultures to the rise of networked water infrastructure the book invites us to take a long view of how water has shaped our cities and how urban water systems and cultures might weather a warming world Offsite Production and Manufacturing for Innovative Construction Jack S.
