Superpowers And Arms Control:

The Superpowers and Nuclear Arms Control Dennis Menos, 1990-04-23 The nuclear arsenals of the United States and the Soviet Union are larger better equipped and deadlier than at any other time in history This incisive book contends that the superpowers while exhibiting enormous ingenuity in the area of arms development have shown only a minimal interest toward the containment of arms This is a carefully documented evaluation of the mismanagement of nuclear arms control by the superpowers and of their failure to contain the nuclear arms race despite their involvement in the process for over a quarter of a century Only the superpowers can reduce the proliferation of nuclear arms and in the process lessen the likelihood of nuclear war through accident miscalculation or crisis escalation Yet forty four years after Hiroshima not a single wanted nuclear weapon has been eliminated by them The Superpowers and Nuclear Arms Control addresses a broad spectrum of nuclear arms control issues beginning with the history of the nuclear arms race the lukewarm attempts by the superpowers at nuclear arms control and the role of the nuclear havenots The book then considers current threats to arms control evidenced by the termination of the SALT regime and plans to discard the ABM Treaty A discussion of the congressional executive split on numerous key arms control issues is followed by conclusions drawn from observing decades of negotiation Comprehensive appendices contain valuable charts and other documents that reinforce the content of the text This resource is a useful tool for arms control and disarmament activists students and researchers and for the many men and women everywhere who are at a loss to understand why so little is being accomplished in this critical area

Superpowers at Sea Richard W. Fieldhouse, Shunji Taoka, 1989 The arms race at sea is a dangerous nuclear race which is causing growing international concern and must be brought under control What are the hard facts about the situation This book documents the realities of the competition especially the nuclearization of naval forces and dispels some of the myths surrounding the naval arms race This incisive analysis of naval forces of the East and West concludes that contrary to common perceptions the US and its allies have a considerable military advantage over the Soviet Navy a trend which is expected to continue for the foreseeable future The authors describe in detail the widespread nuclearization of naval forces of all five nuclear navies analyse the implications for security and arms control and conclude with suggestions for possible arms control measures
