Teaching Islam Aar Teaching Religious Studies Series:

Teaching New Religious Movements David G. Bromley, 2007-05-25 Since its inception around 1970 the study of New Religious Movements NRMs has evolved into an established multidisciplinary field At the same time both the movements and the scholars who study them have been the subjects of intense controversy In this volume a group of senior NRM scholars who have been instrumental in the development of the field will offer pivotal essays that present the basics of NRM scholarship along with guidance for teachers on classroom use The book is organized topically around subjects that are both central to the study of NRMs and likely to be useful to non specialists Part I contains examinations of the definitional boundaries of the area of study varying disciplinary perspectives on NRMs unique methodological ethical problems encountered in the study of NRMs and the controversies that have confronted scholars studying NRMs and the movements themselves Part II examines a series of topics central to teaching about NRMs the larger sociocultural significance of the movements their distinctive symbolic and organizational features the interrelated processes of joining and leaving NRMs the organization of gender roles in NRMs media and popular culture portrayals of the movements the occurrence of corruption and abuse within movements and violence by and against NRMs Part III provides informational resources for teaching about NRMs which are particularly important in a field where knowing the biases of sources is crucial With its interdisciplinary approach the volume provides comprehensive accessible information and perspectives on NRMs It is an invaluable guide for instructors navigating this scholarly minefield

Teaching Religion and Film Gregory J Watkins, 2008-08-22 In a culture increasingly focused on visual media students have learned not only to embrace multimedia presentations in the classroom but to expect them Such expectations are perhaps more prevalent in a field as dynamic and cross disciplinary as religious studies but the practice nevertheless poses some difficult educational issues the use of movies in academic coursework has far outpaced the scholarship on teaching religion and film What does it mean to utilize film in religious studies and what are the best ways to do it In Teaching Religion and Film an interdisciplinary team of scholars thinks about the theoretical and pedagogical concerns involved with the intersection of film and religion in the classroom They examine the use of film to teach specific religious traditions religious theories and perspectives on fundamental human values Some instructors already teach some version of a film and religion course and many have integrated film as an ancillary to achieving central course goals This collection of essays helps them understand the field better and draws the sharp distinction between merely watching movies in the classroom and comprehending film in an informed and critical way

Teaching Undergraduate Research in Religious Studies Bernadette McNary-Zak, Rebecca Todd Peters, 2011-09-14 This text offers an introduction to the philosophy and practice of undergraduate research in religious studies and takes up several significant ongoing questions related to it

Teaching Islam Brannon M. Wheeler, 2002-12-19 Despite the importance of Islam in global affairs and the role of Islamic Studies in Religious Studies little attention has been given to the basic questions of how Islam should be taught This volume brings together a number of leading scholars of Islamic Studies with rich experience in teaching Islam in a diversity of undergraduate settings from large public universities to small private colleges Topics addressed include Islamic law the Quran Sufism women in Islam Islam in America and teaching about Islam through Arabic literature and the use of new information technology Along with providing practical information about structuring courses and assignments the contributors examine the place of Islamic Studies in the larger theoretical framework of Religious Studies and liberal arts curricula

Teaching Islam Brannon M. Wheeler, 2003 The critical role of Islam in global affairs makes it an increasingly valuable part of the undergraduate curriculum Despite this very little consideration has been given to methods of teaching Islam This book brings together leading scholars to offer perspectives on teaching Islam to undergraduates

Teaching the I Ching (Book of Changes) Geoffrey Redmond, Tze-Ki Hon, 2014-09-01 Chinese traditional culture cannot be understood without some familiarity with the I Ching yet it is one of the most difficult of the world's ancient classics Assembled from fragments with many obscure allusions it was the subject of ingenious but often conflicting interpretations over nearly three thousand years Teaching the I Ching Book of Changes offers a comprehensive study at a time when interest in Asian philosophy and the culture of China is on the rise Still widely read in China it has become a countercultural classic in the West Recent scholarship has radically altered our understanding of this foundational work Geoffrey Redmond and Tze Ki Hon present an up to date survey of recent studies including reconstruction of the early meanings excavated manuscripts the New Culture Movement and the Cultural Revolution To facilitate introducing the classic to students the necessary background is provided for university teachers and students even non China specialists The teaching approaches described will foreground the otherness of the classic yet engage the interests of twenty first century students Rather than dismissing the text's popular association with divination they explain why this mode of human thought has persisted for millennia Thus Redmond and Hon mediate between the two extreme views of the classic a source of timeless ancient wisdom on the one hand and a historical curiosity on the other Teaching the I Ching Book of Changes makes this important classic accessible to a broad readership thus providing a crucial service for those interested in China early civilization and world religion Now anyone with a serious interest can understand a text that continues to have a decisive influence on Chinese and world culture three thousand years after its original composition

Teaching Interreligious Encounters Marc A. Pugliese, Alexander Y. Hwang, 2017 Divided into five components of teaching interreligious encounters Theory Design Textual Analysis Practice and Formation this volume guides both new teachers and seasoned scholars in addressing the sometimes challenging questions raised by contact between divergent faiths

Teaching Confucianism Jeffrey L. Richey, 2008 Even the most casual observer of Chinese society is aware of the tremendous significance of Confucianism as a linchpin of both ancient and modern Chinese identity Furthermore the Confucian tradition has exercised enormous influence over the values and institutions of the other cultures of East Asia an influence that continues to be important in the global Asian diaspora If forecasters are correct in labeling the 21st century the Chinese century teachers and scholars of religious studies and theology will be called upon to illuminate the history character and role of Confucianism as a religious tradition in Chinese and Chinese influenced societies The essays in this volume will address the specifically pedagogical challenges of introducing Confucian material to non East Asian scholars and students Informed by the latest scholarship as well as practical experience in the religious studies and theology classroom the essays are attentive to the various settings within which religious material is taught and sensitive to the needs of both experts in Confucian studies and those with no background in Asian studies who are charged with teaching these traditions The authors represent all the arenas of Confucian studies from the ancient to the modern Courses involving Confucius and Confucianism have proliferated across the disciplinary map of the modern university This volume will be an invaluable resource for instructors not only in religious studies departments and theological schools but also teachers of world philosophy non Western philosophy Asian studies and world history

Teaching Religion and Violence Brian K. Pennington, 2012-05-24 Teaching Religion and Violence is designed to help instructors to equip students to think critically about religious violence particularly in the multicultural classroom

Teaching Religion and Healing Linda L. Barnes, Inés Talamantez, 2006-10-26 Publisher description

Teaching Death and Dying Christopher M. Moreman, 2008-10-03 The academic study of death rose to prominence during the 1960s Courses on some aspect of death and dying can now be found at most institutions of higher learning These courses tend to stress the psycho social aspects of grief and bereavement however ignoring the religious elements inherent to the subject This collection is the first to address the teaching of courses on death and dying from a religious studies perspective

Teaching Civic Engagement Forrest Clinger, Reid B. Locklin, 2017-08 Teaching Civic Engagement offers a new conceptual model an examination of theoretical questions and concerns and a variety of concrete teaching strategies to assist faculty in engaging questions of civic belonging and social activism in religion classrooms The book explores the civic relevance of the academic study of religion

Teaching Freud Diane Jonte-Pace Professor of Religious Studies and Associate Vice Provost for Faculty Development Santa Clara University, 2003-03-04 As one of the first theorists to explore the unconscious fantasies fears and desires underlying religious ideas and practices Freud can be considered one of the grandparents of the field of Religious Studies Yet his legacy is deeply contested How can Freud be taught in a climate of critique and controversy The fourteen contributors to this volume all recognized scholars of religion and psychoanalysis describe how they address Freud's contested legacy they teach the debates They go on to describe their courses on Freud and religion their innovative pedagogical practices and the creative ways they work with resistance

Teaching the Daode Jing Gary Delaney DeAngelis, Warren G. Frisina, 2008-04-10 The Daode Jing a highly enigmatic work rooted in ancient Chinese cosmology ontology metaphysics and moral thinking is regularly offered to college and high school students in religion philosophy history literature Asian studies and humanities courses As a result an ever expanding group of faculty with very different backgrounds and training routinely confront the question How should I teach the Daode Jing Written for non specialists who may not have a background in ancient Chinese culture the essays collected in this volume provide up to date information on contemporary scholarship and classroom strategies that have been successful in a variety of teaching environments A classic text like the Daode Jing generates debate among scholars and teachers who ask questions like Should we capitalize on popular interest in the Daode Jing in our classrooms Which of the many translations and scholarly approaches ought we to use Is it appropriate to think of the Daode Jing as a religious text at all These and other controversies are addressed in this volume Contributors are well known scholars of Daoism including Livia Kohn Norman Girardot Robert Henricks Russell Kirkland Hans Georg Moeller Hall Roth and Michael LaFargue In addition there are essays by Eva Wong Daoist practitioner David Hall philosophy Gary DeAngelis mysticism and a jointly written essay on pedagogical strategies by Judith Berling Geoffrey Foy and John Thompson Chinese religion

Teaching Ritual Catherine Bell, 2007-05-11 There is a great deal of interest in bringing a better appreciation of ritual into religious studies classes but many teachers are uncertain how to go about doing this Religious studies faculty know how to teach texts but they are often unprepared to teach something for which the meaning lies in the doing How much doing should a class do How does the teacher talk about religious concepts that exist in practical relationships not textual descriptions These practical issues also give rise to theoretical questions Giving more attention to ritual effectively suggests a reinterpretation of religion itself focused on what people have thought and written and more focused on how they order their universe Much of the useful analysis of ritual derives from anthropological and sociological premises which are often foreign to religious studies faculty and are seen by some as theologically problematic This is the first resource to address the issues specific to teaching this subject A stellar cast of contributors who teach ritual in a wide variety of courses and settings explain what has worked for them in the classroom what hasn't and what they've learned from experience Their voices range from personal to formal and their topics from Japanese theatre to using field trips The result is a thoughtful guide for teachers who are new to the subject as well as experienced ones looking for fresh angles and approaches

Teaching African American Religions Carolyn M. Jones, Theodore Louis Trost, 2005-07-14 The variety and complexity of its traditions make African American religion one of the most difficult topics in religious studies to teach to undergraduates The sheer scope of the material to be covered is daunting to instructors many of whom are not experts in African American religious traditions but are called upon to include material on African American religion in courses on American Religious History or the History of Christianity Also the unfamiliarity of the subject matter to the vast majority of students makes it difficult to achieve any depth in the brief time allotted in the survey courses where it is usually first encountered The essays in this volume will supply functional innovative ways to teach African American religious traditions in a variety of settings

Teaching Durkheim Terry F. Godlove, 2005 Emile Durkheim's work on religion occupies a central place in religious studies classrooms today This volume is designed as a resource for teachers offering practical advice about productive ways to approach central texts and difficult pedagogical issues Teaching Freud Diane Elizabeth Jonte-Pace, 2003 Freud can be considered one of the grandparents of the field of religious studies yet students often assume that Freud is sexist dangerous passe and irrelevant to the study of religion The contributors to this volume describe how they address Freud's contested legacy Teaching Mysticism William B. Parsons, 2011-10-24 The term mysticism has never been consistently defined or employed either in religious traditions or in academic discourse The essays in this volume offer ways of defining what mysticism is as well as methods for grappling with its complexity in a classroom This volume addresses the diverse literature surrounding mysticism in four interrelated parts The first part includes essays on the tradition and context of mysticism devoted to drawing out and examining the mystical element in many religious traditions The second part engages traditions and religious cultural strands in which mysticism is linked to other terms such as shamanism esotericism and Gnosticism The volume's third part focuses on methodological strategies for defining mysticism with respect to varying social spaces The final essays show how contemporary social issues and movements have impacted the meaning study and pedagogy of mysticism Teaching Mysticism presents pedagogical reflections on how best to communicate mysticism from a variety of institutional spaces It surveys the broad range of meanings of mysticism its utilization in the traditions the theories and methods that have been used to understand it and provides critical insight into the resulting controversies Teaching Jung Kelly Bulkeley, Clodagh Weldon, 2011-09-15 This book offers a collection of original articles presenting several different approaches to Jung's psychology in relation to religion theology and contemporary culture The contributors describe their teaching of Jung in different academic contexts with special attention to the pedagogical and theoretical challenges that arise in the classroom
