Teaching Lives Essays And Stories:

Teacher's Stories, Teacher's Lives Carola Conle, 2006 In this book we demonstrate a mode of teacher education that is practical in a non technical sense and relies on Dewey's notion of curriculum as the reconstruction of experience We present a curriculum that emerged through collaborative self reflection and seeks to reconstruct personal histories of schooling As four former preservice teachers and their instructor we engaged in jointly constructed autobiographical inquiry in order to generate data on our own past and on our current histories of teaching and learning We wanted to illuminate parts of our lives in schools that until now belonged to our normal and taken for granted past We did this in order to enjoy certain degrees of awareness and choice as to which of our living stories to reinforce and which to let run out in our classrooms today

Writers Without Borders Lynn Z. Bloom, 2008-07-02 In Writers Without Borders Writing and Teaching Writing in Troubled Times Lynn Z Bloom presents groundbreaking research on the nature of essays and on the political philosophical ethical and pragmatic considerations that influence how we read write and teach them in times troubled by terrorism transgressive students and uses and abuses of the Internet Writers Without Borders reinforces Bloom's reputation for presenting innovative and sophisticated research with a writer's art and a teacher's heart Each of the eleven essays addresses in its own way the essay itself as one way to live and learn with others

Against Creative Writing Andrew Cowan, 2022-09-13 The rise of Creative Writing has been accompanied from the start by two questions can it be taught and should it be taught This scepticism is sometimes shared even by those who teach it who often find themselves split between two contradictory identities the artistic and the academic Against Creative Writing explores the difference between writing which is what writers do and Creative Writing which is the instrumentalisation of what writers do Beginning with the question of whether writing can or ought to be taught it looks in turn at the justifications for BA MA and PhD courses and concludes with the divided role of the writer who teaches It argues in favour of Creative Writing as a form of hands on literary education at undergraduate level and a form of literary apprenticeship at graduate level especially in widening access to new voices It argues against those forms of Creative Writing that lose sight of literary values as seen in the proliferation of curricular couplings with non literary subjects or the increasing emphasis on developing skills for future employment Against Creative Writing written by a writer is addressed to other writers inside or outside the academy at undergraduate or graduate level whether creative or critical

Writing Studies Research in Practice Lee Nickoson, Mary P Sheridan, 2012-09-10 An essential reference for students and scholars exploring the methods and methodologies of writing research What does it mean to research writing today What are the practical and theoretical issues researchers face when approaching writing as they do What are the gains or limitations of applying particular methods and what might researchers be overlooking These questions and more are answered by the writing research field's leading scholars in Writing Studies

Research in Practice Methods and Methodologies Editors Nickoson and Sheridan gather twenty chapters from leaders in writing research spanning topics from ethical considerations for researchers quantitative methods and activity analysis to interviewing and communitybased and Internet research While each chapter addresses a different subject the volume as a whole covers the range of methodologies technologies and approaches both old and new that writing researchers use and examines the ways in which contemporary writing research is understood practiced and represented An essential reference for experienced researchers and an invaluable tool to help novices understand research methods and methodologies Writing Studies Research in Practice includes established methods and knowledge while addressing the contemporary issues interests and concerns faced by writing researchers today International Who's Who in Poetry 2005 Europa Publications,2004-08-02 The 13th edition of the International Who's Who in Poetry is a unique and comprehensive guide to the leading lights and freshest talent in poetry today Containing biographies of more than 4 000 contemporary poets world wide this essential reference work provides truly international coverage In addition to the well known poets talented up and coming writers are also profiled Contents Each entry provides full career history and publication details An international appendices section lists prizes and past prize winners organizations magazines and publishers A summary of poetic forms and rhyme schemes The career profile section is supplemented by lists of Poets Laureate Oxford University professors of poetry poet winners of the Nobel Prize for Literature winners of the Pulitzer Prize for American Poetry and of the King's Queen's Gold medal and other poetry prizes Negotiating the Personal in Creative Writing Carl Vandermeulen,2011-08-19 This book describes an alternative way to teach Creative Writing one that replaces the silent writer taking criticism and advice from the teacher led workshop with an active writer who reflects upon and publically questions the work in progress in order to solicit response from a writers group as well as from the teacher Both accompany the writer first as readers and fellow writers only later as critics Because writers ask they listen and dialogues with responders become an inner dialogue that guides later writing and revision But when teachers accompany writers teaching CW becomes even more a negotiation of the personal because this teacher who is listener and mentor is also a model for some students of the writer and even the person they would like to become and still the Authority who gives the grades Power and Identity in the Creative Writing Classroom Anna Leahy,2005-01-01 Power and Identity In the Creative Writing Classroom remaps theories and practices for teaching creative writing at university and college level This collection critiques well established approaches for teaching creative writing in all genres and builds a comprehensive and adaptable pedagogy based on issues of authority power and identity A long needed reflection this book shapes creative writing pedagogy for the 21st century Self-Development and College Writing Nick Tingle,2004-09-01 Nick Tingle investigates the psychoanalytic dimensions of composition instruction in Self Development and College Writing to boldly illustrate that mastering academic prose requires students to develop psychologically as well as cognitively Asserting that writing instruction should be an engaging developmental process for both teachers and students he urges reaching for new levels of consciousness in the classroom to aid students in realigning their subjective relationships with knowledge and truth Drawing on psychoanalytic theory and twenty years of experience as a teacher Tingle outlines the importance of moving beyond usual ways of thinking abandoning the common sense of everyday reality and coming to understand beliefs as beliefs and not absolutes These developmental moves must be accompanied Tingle says by a new attitude towards language not as something that points to things but as a series of concepts that arrange the very things one points to And this development is necessary not just in order to perform well in the writing class but also to fully participate in and reap the academic rewards of structured university life Self Development and College Writing calls attention to the psychological destabilization this method may produce for students Tingle explains that if writing instructors are to respond to this destabilization they must conceive of the classroom as a transitional space or a kind of holding environment They must also become aware of their psychological allegiances to particular theories of writing if they are to construct such environments But the goal of the transitional environment is worth pursuing Tingle argues contending that university education fails to address students developmental needs With purposeful writing and deft analyses Tingle shows that this goal also affords a means by which to place writing courses at the center of the educational curriculum Conceived as a transitional space the writing class may support and stabilize students in their developmental passage thereby fostering an improved understanding of their academic work and more importantly an increased intellectual understanding of themselves and the complex world in which they live

Compelling Confessions Suzanne Diamond,2010-12-10

Compelling Confessions The Politics of Personal Disclosure is a collection of essays whose shared purpose is to offer an accessible interdisciplinary exploration of the social dynamics behind confessional discourse As various contributors to this collection demonstrate confession is ubiquitous in contemporary culture not only within psychological or therapeutic frameworks or literary analysis but also in internet discussion groups in the criminal justice system in political rhetoric in so called reality and interview style television programming in writing pedagogy and increasingly in the testimonial strain observable in contemporary scholarship Yet telling one's story raises questions not only about authorial intent or authenticity but also about the pressures disclosure can impose upon its audiences Far less ubiquitous than confessions themselves as these contributors suggest are the critical tools that general audiences might employ in order to better evaluate the rhetoric of personal disclosure It is in fact the shortage of such tools responses and procedures that could be stated plainly and implemented by any reader or viewer that Compelling Confessions sets out to address
