Teaching Translation and Interpreting 2 Cay Dollerup, Anne Lindegaard, Annette Lindegaard, 1994-01-01 Selected papers from this second conference on Translator and Interpreter Training With contributions from five continents the articles deal with global challenges taking into account the role of the translator in societies knit together by one tongue and those in which languages are the repositories of national cultures such as India The main merit of this volume is that it shows how translator training is tackled in the main translator training courses around the world what requirements are made on the students and what solutions are given The various approaches provide a wealth of translator training ideas Complementing the first volume of papers from the Language International conference this second volume deals with a wide variety of aspects in this interdisciplinary field of study dubbing subtitling simultaneous consecutive interpreting court interpreter training linguistic features cognitive aspects cultural aspects terminology and specialisation computeraided translation in practice translation procedures at the European Commission etc

Translation and Cultural Change Eva Hung, 2005-05-26 History tells us that translation plays a part in the development of all cultures Historical cases also show us repeatedly that translated works which had real social and cultural impact often bear little resemblance to the idealized concept of a good translation Since the perception and reception of translated works as well as the translation norms which are established through contest and or consensus reflect the concerns preferences and aspirations of their host cultures they are never static or homogenous even within a given culture This book is dedicated to exploring some of the factors in the interplay of culture and translation with an emphasis on translation activities outside the Anglo European tradition particularly in China and Japan

Expertise and Explicitation in the Translation Process Birgitta Englund Dimitrova, 2005-09-22 This book addresses the complexities of the translation process Informed by theoretical and methodological advances in translation studies research on writing and the expertise paradigm it explores translation as a text reproduction task With triangulation of data from Russian Swedish translation think aloud methodology and computer logging of the writing process it makes a cross sectional comparison of subjects with different amounts of translation experience highlighting crucial aspects of professional competence and expertise in translation The book also elaborates a method for a combined product and process analysis applying it to the study of one type of explicitation increased cohesive explicitness of the target text The results have implications for translation theory and pedagogy This volume will be of interest to translation scholars and translator trainers irrespective of language combination as well as to specialists in Russian and Swedish It will also appeal to researchers on expertise in other domains

Functional Approaches to Culture and Translation Dirk Delabastita, Lieven D'hulst, Reine Meylaerts, 2006-10-31 This volume contains a generous selection of articles on translation by Professor Jos Lambert K U Leuven It traces the intellectual itinerary of their author who started out as a French and Comparative Literature scholar some four decades ago trying to get a better grip on the problem of inter literary contacts and who soon became a key figure in the emergent discipline of Translation Studies where he is widely known as an indefatigable promoter of descriptively oriented research This collection shows how Jos Lambert has never stopped asking new questions about the crucial but often hidden role of language and translation in the world of today It includes some of the author's classic papers as well as a few lesser known ones that deserve wider circulation The editors introduction and the bibliography complete this thought provoking survey of the career of one of the most creative researchers in the field

Developing Translation Competence Christina Schäffner, Beverly Adab, 2000-10-15 This volume presents a comprehensive study of what constitutes Translation Competence from the various sub competences to the overall skill Contributors combine experience as translation scholars with their experience as teachers of translation The volume is organized into three sections Defining Building and Assessing Translation Competence The chapters offer insights into the nature of translation competence and its place in the translation training programme in an academic environment and show how theoretical considerations have contributed to defining building and assessing translation competence offering practical examples of how this can be achieved The first section introduces major sub competences including linguistic cultural textual subject research and transfer competence The second section presents issues relating to course design methodology and teaching practice The third section reflects on criteria for quality assessment

The Turns of Translation Studies Mary Snell-Hornby, 2006-01-01 What s new in Translation Studies In offering a critical assessment of recent developments in the young discipline this book sets out to provide an answer as seen from a European perspective today Many new ideas actually go back well into the past and the German Romantic Age proves to be the starting point The main focus lies however on the last 20 years and beginning with the cultural turn of the 1980s the study traces what have turned out since then to be ground breaking contributions new paradigms as against what was only a change in position on already established territory shifting viewpoints Topics of the 1990s include nonverbal communication gender based Translation Studies stage translation new fields of interpreting studies and the effects of new technologies and globalization including the increasingly dominant role of English The author s aim is to stimulate discussion and provoke further debate on the current profile and future perspectives of Translation Studies

Structural Propensities Monika Doherty, 2006-01-01 This book focuses on the translation of English academic texts into German closely analysing the structural and discourse properties of original sentences and their possible translations It consists of six chapters with more than a hundred carefully discussed examples and presents the author s results of a series of research projects which have successively dealt with the typologically determined conditions for discourse appropriate uses of word order case voice perspective and structural explicitness in simple and complex sentences or sequences of sentences The theoretical and methodological assumptions of the book follow a basically generative approach in studying the interaction between semantic pragmatic and phonological syntactic properties of the linguistic forms as they are involved in the perception of written language The linguistic and psycholinguistic models accessed are also introduced in detail to promote comprehension for the interested reader with an alternative theoretical background whether scholar student or translator
