Science Teaching/science Learning Elnora S. Harcombe,2001-01-01 Science Teaching Science Learning based on a model professional development program gives powerful proof that urban teachers can ignite curiosity and promote deep understanding in children when provided with the necessary intellectual infrastructure including a complex balance of increased science knowledge a safe environment for professional experimentation and a long term interaction with colleagues The ensuing invigoration and renewed dedication of program participants belies the inevitability of the projected national science teacher shortage Harcombe breaks new ground demonstrating that when professional teacher development is based on constructivist learning theory and framed in the knowledge domain of the sciences it empowers teachers to dramatically change what they know how they teach and what their students learn Women's Experiences in Leadership in K-16 Science Education Communities, Becoming and Being Katherine C. Wieseman,Molly Weinburgh,2009-06-18 A discourse on women s leadership within science education has until now been largely invisible in book form This therefore is the first book to address women s leadership within science education The book embraces relational ways of knowing as a foundation for leadership and takes courageous steps by exposing our innermost tensions dilemmas and feelings about leadership making them available to others The power promise of feminine approaches to transform traditional leadership cultures is also addressed The authors believe that anyone can lead regardless of position title years of experience or age They also believe that each of us has a responsibility to provide some leadership and direction for the shared endeavours of which we are part The purpose of the book is to inspire and guide educators and academics in K 16 science education as well as individuals in other professions as their leadership skills develop The leadership activities provided offer guidance and or concrete ways to delve into issues of leadership
