Ferrara,1995 Information on more than 17 500 living authors from English speaking countries Reflections on Palliative Care David Clark,Jane Seymour,1999 Palliative care seems set to continue its rapid development into the early years of the 21st century From its origins in the modern hospice movement the new multidisciplinary specialty of palliative care has expanded into a variety of settings Palliative care services are now being provided in the home in hospital and in nursing homes There are moves to extend palliative care beyond its traditional constituency of people with cancer Efforts are being made to provide a wide range of palliative therapies to patients at an early stage of their disease progression The evidence base of palliative care is growing with more research evaluation and audit along with specialist programmes of education Palliative care appears to be coming of age On the other hand numbers of challenges still exist Much service development has been unplanned and unregulated Palliative care providers must continue to adapt to changing patterns of commissioning and funding services The voluntary hospice movement may feel its values threatened by a new professionalism and policies which require its greater integration within mainstream services There are concerns about the re medicalization of palliative care about how an evidence based approach to practice can be developed and about the extent to which its methods are transferring across diseases and settings Beyond these preoccupations lie wider societal issues about the organization of death and dying in late modern culture To what extent have notions of death as a contemporary taboo been superseded How can we characterize the nature of suffering What factors are involved in the debate surrounding end of life care ethics and euthanasia David Clark and Jane Seymour

drawing on a wide range of sources as well as their own empirical studies offer a set of reflections on the development of palliative care and its place within a wider social context Their book will be essential reading to any practitioner policy maker teacher or student involved in palliative care or concerned about death dying and life limiting illness The Writers Directory ,1996 La eutanasia ante la moral y el derecho Enrique Sánchez Jiménez,1999 Whitaker's Book List ,1989 New Statesman Society ,1989-11 Encyclopedia of Community Karen Christensen,David Levinson,2003 This encyclopedia is a welcome exploration of the great variety of social networks that human beings create and participate in Interdisciplinary in scope the set includes contributions from some of the foremost scholars studying community today Appendixes include an extensive bibliography a collection of resources guides an annotated guide to Community in Popular Culture and Libraries Build Community a guide for librarians The Top 20 Reference Titles of the Year American Libraries May 2004 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1968 People of Today ,2002 Whitaker's Books in Print ,1990
