Students At The Center:

Students at the Center Bena Kallick, Allison Zmuda, 2017-01-27 Educators most important work is to help students develop the intellectual and social strength of character necessary to live well in the world The way to do this argue authors Bena Kallick and Allison Zmuda is to increase the say students have in their own learning and prepare them to navigate complexities they face both inside and beyond school This means rethinking traditional teacher and student roles and re examining goal setting lesson planning assessment and feedback practices It means establishing classrooms that prioritize Voice Involving students in the what and the how of learning and equipping them to be stewards of their own education Co creation Guiding students to identify the challenges and concepts they want to explore and outline the actions they will take Social construction Having students work with others to theorize pursue common goals build products and generate performances Self discovery Teaching students to reflect on their own developing skills and knowledge so that they will acquire new understandings of themselves and how they learn Based on their exciting work in the field Kallick and Zmuda map out a transformative model of personalization that puts students at the center and asks them to employ the set of dispositions for engagement and learning known as the Habits of Mind They share the perspectives of educators engaged in this work highlight the habits that empower students to pursue aspirations investigate problems design solutions chase curiosities and create performances and provide tools and recommendations for adjusting classroom practices to facilitate learning that is self directed dynamic sometimes messy and always meaningful Who's Being Served? John M.

Hayward, 2018-02-02 Asking Who's Being Served reveals who truly benefits from what gets planned implemented and assessed in today's classrooms Think about what student centered classrooms and good restaurants have in common they each put the customer first Education is a service industry where relationship building matters Learn how to transform schools and learning opportunities to be more engaging and effective for students In this helpful and relevant volume John Hayward offers advice from over twenty years of teaching about how and why to make the move from teacher centric control to student centered facilitation Each chapter references secrets from the dining industry in regards to how research planning and observation influence how one serves others Whether you are an administrator instructor or school staff your daily interaction with students needs to be at the level outlined in this book to make a lasting positive difference When students choose more interact more and fully live their learning their education serves them for longer than a unit or a year If schools focus on students personally putting relationships first the experience and the positive results will last for a lifetime

 Much has been written about how to engage students in their learning but very little of it has issued from students themselves Compiled by one of the leading scholars in the field of student voice this sourcebook draws on the perspectives of secondary students in the United States England Canada and Australia as well as on the work of teachers researchers and teacher educators who have collaborated with a wide variety of students Highlighting student voices it features five chapters focused on student perspectives articulated in their own words regarding specific approaches to creating and maintaining a positive classroom environment and designing engaging lessons and on more general issues of respect and responsibility in the classroom To support educators in developing strategies for accessing and responding to student voices in their own classrooms the book provides detailed guidelines created by educational researchers for gathering and acting upon student perspectives To illustrate how these approaches work in practice the book includes stories of how pre service and in service teachers school leaders and teacher educators have made student voices and participation central to their classroom and school practices And finally addressing both practical and theoretical questions the book includes a chapter that outlines action steps for high school teachers school leaders and teacher educators and a chapter that offers a conceptual framework for thinking about and engaging in this work Bringing together in a single text student perspectives descriptions of successful efforts to access them in secondary education contexts concrete advice for practitioners and a theoretical framework for further exploration this sourcebook can be used to guide practice and support re imagining education in secondary schools of all kinds and the principles can be adapted for other educational contexts Hearings, Reports and
