Studies in the History of Natural Theology Clement Charles Julian Webb, 1915 Studies in the History of Natural Theology Clement Charles Julian Webb, 1915 Studies in the History of Natural Theology Clement Charles Julian Webb, 1915 Studies in the History of Natural Theology Clement Charles Julian Webb, 2015-06-25 Excerpt from Studies in the History of Natural Theology The following pages contain the substance of three courses of lectures delivered by the author as Wilde Lecturer on Natural and Comparative Religion in the University of Oxford during the academical years 1911 12 and 1912 13 They may be considered as contributions to the history of Natural Theology in Europe The first is a general introduction to the subject the second deals with the Natural Theology of Plato as expounded in the tenth book of the Laws the third with mediaeval Natural Theology as represented by six writers St Anselm Abelard St Thomas Aquinas Raymond of Sebonde Pietro Pomponazzi and Lord Herbert of Cherbury The inclusion of the thinker last named who might at first seem to belong to the modern rather than to the mediaeval period was suggested by the plan of Dr Pfeiderer's Religionsphilosophie auf geschichtlicher Grundlage Dr Pfeiderer takes Spinoza as the first representative of the Philosophy of Religion which he regards on grounds which I have ventured to criticize as a branch of speculation unknown alike to antiquity and to the Middle Ages I cannot for my own part draw so sharp a line between the Philosophy of Religion and the Natural Theology which admittedly existed in those earlier periods No one can be more conscious than myself of the superficiality of the treatment which is here accorded to a subject requiring and deserving a far more thorough investigation I can only plead in my own excuse that an Oxford college tutor can only undertake work such as belongs to the Lectureship which I was privileged to hold from 1911 to 1914 if he is prepared to accomplish less than might reasonably be demanded from a lecturer able to devote the whole or even the major part of his time to the duties of the lectureship About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

A Natural History of Natural Theology Helen De Cruz,Johan De Smedt,2024-06-11 An examination of the cognitive foundations of intuitions about the existence and attributes of God Questions about the existence and attributes of God form the subject matter of natural theology which seeks to gain knowledge of the divine by relying on reason and experience of the world Arguments in natural theology rely largely on intuitions and inferences that seem natural to us occurring spontaneously at the sight of a beautiful landscape perhaps or in wonderment at the complexity of the cosmos even to a nonphilosopher In this book Helen De Cruz and Johan De Smedt examine the cognitive origins of arguments in natural theology They find that although natural theological arguments can be very sophisticated they are rooted in everyday intuitions about purpose causation agency and morality Using evidence and theories from disciplines including the cognitive science of religion evolutionary ethics evolutionary aesthetics and the cognitive science of testimony they show that these intuitions emerge early in development and are a stable part of human cognition De Cruz and De Smedt analyze the cognitive underpinnings of five well known arguments for the existence of God the argument from design the cosmological argument the moral argument the argument from beauty and the argument from miracles Finally they consider whether the cognitive origins of these natural theological arguments should affect their rationality

God and Greek Philosophy Lloyd P. Gerson,1994

Ramified Natural Theology in Science and Religion Rodney Holder,2020-10-15 This book offers a rationale for a new ramified natural theology that is in dialogue with both science and historical critical study of the Bible Traditionally knowledge of God has been seen to come from two sources nature and revelation However a rigid separation between these sources cannot be maintained since what purports to be revelation cannot be accepted without qualification rational argument is needed to infer both the existence of God from nature and the particular truth claims of the Christian faith from the Bible Hence the distinction between bare natural theology and ramified natural theology The book begins with bare natural theology as background to its main focus on ramified natural theology Bayesian confirmation theory is utilised to evaluate competing hypotheses in both cases in a similar manner to that by which competing hypotheses in science can be evaluated on the basis of empirical data In this way a case is built up for the rationality of a Christian theist worldview Addressing issues of science theology and revelation in a new framework this book will be of keen interest to scholars working in Religion and Science Natural Theology Philosophy of Religion Biblical Studies Systematic Theology and Science and Culture
