Recent Trends in Naval Engineering Research Anthony A. Ruffa, Bourama Toni, 2021-06-12 This multidisciplinary volume is the second in the STEAM H series to feature invited contributions on mathematical applications in naval engineering Seeking a more holistic approach that transcends current scientific boundaries leading experts present interdisciplinary instruments and models on a broad range of topics Each chapter places special emphasis on important methods research directions and applications of analysis within the field Fundamental scientific and mathematical concepts are applied to topics such as microlattice materials in structural dynamics acoustic transmission in low Mach number liquid flow differential cavity ventilation on a symmetric airfoil Kalman smoother metallic foam metamaterials for vibration damping and isolation seal whiskers as a bio inspired model for the reduction of vortex induced vibrations multidimensional integral for multivariate weighted generalized Gaussian distributions minimum uniform search track placement for rectangular regions antennas in the maritime environment the destabilizing impact of non performers in multi agent groups inertial navigation accuracy with bias modeling Carefully peer reviewed and pedagogically presented for a broad readership this volume is perfect to graduate and postdoctoral students interested in interdisciplinary research Researchers in applied mathematics and sciences will find this book an important resource on the latest developments in naval engineering In keeping with the ideals of the STEAM H series this volume will certainly inspire interdisciplinary understanding and collaboration Naval Research Logistics ,1987 AMSTAT News ,1994 Forthcoming Books Rose Army,1992-10

Proceedings of International Conference on Recent Trends in Machine Learning, IoT, Smart Cities and Applications Vinit Kumar Gunjan, Jacek M. Zurada, 2020-10-17 This book gathers selected research papers presented at the International Conference on Recent Trends in Machine Learning IOT Smart Cities Applications ICMISC 2020 held on 29 30 March 2020 at CMR Institute of Technology Hyderabad Telangana India Discussing current trends in machine learning Internet of things and smart cities applications with a focus on multi disciplinary research in the area of artificial intelligence and cyber physical systems this book is a valuable resource for scientists research scholars and PG students wanting formulate their research ideas and find the future directions in these areas Further it serves as a reference work anyone wishing to understand the latest technologies used by practicing engineers around the globe Time-Varying Network Optimization Dan Sha, C. K. Wong, 2007-05-05 Network optimization problems may arise in a wide variety of important fields such as transportation telecommunication computer networking financial planning logistics and supply chain management energy systems etc Significant and elegant results have been achieved on the theory algorithms and applications of network optimization in the past few decades See for example the seminal books written by Ahuja Magnanti and Orlin 1993 Bazaraa Jarvis and Sherali 1990 Bertsekas 1998 Ford and Fulkerson 1962 Gupta 1985 Iri 1969 Jensen and Barnes 1980 Lawler 1976 and Minieka 1978 Most network optimization problems that have been studied up to date are however static in nature in the sense that it is assumed that it takes zero time to traverse any arc in a network and that all attributes of the network are constant without change at any time. Networks in the real world are nevertheless time varying in essence in which any ow must take a certain amount of time to traverse an arc and the network structure and parameters such as arc and node capacities may change over time. In such a problem how to plan and control the transmission of ow becomes very important since waiting at a node or travelling along a particular arc with different speed may allow one to catch the best timing along his path and therefore achieve his overall objective such as a minimum overall cost or a minimum travel time from the origin to the destination.

Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1971-07 Topics in Structural Graph Theory
 Lowell W. Beineke, Robin J. Wilson, 2012-11-08 The rapidly expanding area of structural graph theory uses ideas of connectivity to explore various aspects of graph theory and vice versa. It has links with other areas of mathematics such as design theory and is increasingly used in such areas as computer networks where connectivity algorithms are an important feature. Although other books cover parts of this material none has a similarly wide scope. Ortrud R Oellermann, Winnipeg internationally recognised for her substantial contributions to structural graph theory acted as academic consultant for this volume helping shape its coverage of key topics. The result is a collection of thirteen expository chapters each written by acknowledged experts. These contributions have been carefully edited to enhance readability and to standardise the chapter structure terminology and notation throughout. An introductory chapter details the background material in graph theory and network flows and each chapter concludes with an extensive list of references.

Nature-inspired Methods for Stochastic, Robust and Dynamic Optimization
 Javier Del Ser Lorente, Eneko Osaba, 2018-07-18 Nature inspired algorithms have a great popularity in the current scientific community being the focused scope of many research contributions in the literature year by year. The rationale behind the acquired momentum by this broad family of methods lies on their outstanding performance evinced in hundreds of research fields and problem instances. This book gravitates on the development of nature inspired methods and their application to stochastic dynamic and robust optimization. Topics covered by this book include the design and development of evolutionary algorithms bio inspired metaheuristics or memetic methods with empirical innovative findings when used in different subfields of mathematical optimization such as stochastic dynamic multimodal and robust optimization as well as noisy optimization and dynamic and constraint satisfaction problems.

Computational Intelligence - Volume II
 Hisao Ishibuchi, 2015-12-30 Computational intelligence is a component of Encyclopedia of Technology Information and Systems Management Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias. Computational intelligence is a rapidly growing research field including a wide variety of problem solving techniques inspired by nature. Traditionally computational intelligence consists of three major research areas: Neural Networks, Fuzzy Systems and Evolutionary Computation. Neural networks are mathematical models inspired by brains. Neural networks have massively parallel network structures with many neurons and weighted connections Whereas each neuron has a simple input output relation a neural network with many neurons can realize a highly non linear complicated mapping Connection weights between neurons can be adjusted in an automated manner by a learning algorithm to realize a non linear mapping required in a particular application task Fuzzy systems are mathematical models proposed to handle inherent fuzziness in natural language For example it is very difficult to mathematically define the meaning of cold in everyday conversations such as It is cold today and Can I have cold water The meaning of cold may be different in a different situation Even in the same situation a different person may have a different meaning Fuzzy systems offer a mathematical mechanism to handle inherent fuzziness in natural language As a result fuzzy systems have been successfully applied to real world problems by extracting linguistic knowledge from human experts in the form of fuzzy IF THEN rules Evolutionary computation includes various population based search algorithms inspired by evolution in nature Those algorithms usually have the following three mechanisms fitness evaluation to measure the quality of each solution selection to choose good solutions from the current population and variation operators to generate offspring from parents Evolutionary computation has high applicability to a wide range of optimization problems with different characteristics since it does not need any explicit mathematical formulations of objective functions For example simulation based fitness evaluation is often used in evolutionary design Subjective fitness evaluation by a human user is also often used in evolutionary art and music These volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers
