Studying Cultures:

Improving Learning Cultures in Further Education David James, Gert Biesta, 2007-09-17 Through its unique theoretical framework a cultural understanding of teaching and learning this book develops a new way of understanding educational improvement one which focuses on the formation and transformation of the practices through which students learn Based on detailed ethnographic research of seventeen learning sites in further education colleges this book generates a unique insight into a wide variety of practices of teaching and learning Illustrated by case studies it is structured around three key questions what do learning cultures in FE look like and how do they transform over time how do learning cultures transform people how can people tutors managers policy makers but also students transform learning cultures for the better Through a combination of theory and analysis Improving Learning Cultures in Further Education makes a strong case for the importance of a cultural approach to the improvement of teaching and learning in further education and provides practical guidance for researchers policymakers and practitioners for implementing change for the better Chinese Students, Learning Cultures and Overseas Study Lihong Wang, 2016-04-29 This book focuses on the phenomenon of Chinese postgraduate students studying abroad and depicts their learning trajectory as they adjust to a new culture of teaching and learning in a new environment It uses an example from a British university to draw together intercultural learning theories to explore the impact that studying abroad has Learning Cultures in Online Education Robin Goodfellow, Marie-Noëlle Lamy, 2009-03-06 Research Design and Methods for Studying Cultures Victor de Munck, 2009-06-16 This is a practical guidebook for conducting field research on cultural issues The first third of the book describes how one constructs a research design The rest of the book describes different methods that the author used during his own NSF sponsored cross cultural research on romantic love in Russia Lithuania and the U S The methods described are freelists pile or Q sorts questionnaires consensus analysis interviews process analysis and participant observation Participant observation is intentionally left to the end to emphasize that it is the most difficult of all methods and also to show that participant observations is a more powerful tool when preceded by more structured and systematic methods of data collection The strengths and weaknesses of these methods are discussed as are the pitfalls that occur when a research design is implemented in the field The book is useful for anyone who is preparing to conduct fieldwork on socio cultural issues The Study of Culture at a Distance Margaret Mead, Rhoda Bubeney Métraux, Rhoda Métraux, 2000 In 1953 Margaret Mead and Rhoda Métraux produced The Study of Culture at a Distance a compilation of research from this period This work long unavailable presents a rich and complex methodology for the study of cultures through literature film informant interviews focus groups and projective techniques Annual Report of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Wisconsin for the Year ... University of Wisconsin. Agricultural Experiment Station, 1913 Research Bulletin, 1912 Open Learning Cultures Ulf-Daniel Ehlers, 2013-09-12 Today we are seeing a new form of blended learning not only is technology enhancing the learning environment but formal and informal learning are combining and there is self and peer assessment of results Open learning cultures are challenging the old and long practiced methods used by educators and transforming learning into a more student driven and independent activity which uses online tools such as blogs wikis or podcasts to connect resources students and teachers in a novel way While in higher education institutions most assessments are still tied to formal learning scenarios teachers are more and more bound to recognize their students informal learning processes and networks This book will help teachers lecturers and students to better understand how open learning landscapes work how to define quality and create assessments in such environments and how to apply these new measures To this end Ehlers first elaborates the technological background for more collaborative distributed informal and self guided learning He covers the rise of social media for learning and shows how an architecture of participation can change learning activities These new paradigms are then applied to learning and education to outline what open learning landscapes look like Here he highlights the shift from knowledge transfer to competence development the increase in lifelong learning and the importance of informal learning user generated content and open educational resources He then shows how to manage quality by presenting a step by step guide to developing customized quality concepts for open learning landscapes Finally several methods dealing with assessment in these new environments are presented including guidelines templates and use cases to exemplify the approaches Overall Ehlers argues for assessment as an integral part of learning processes with quality assurance as a method of stimulating a quality culture and continuous quality development rather than as a simple controlling exercise
