Reid, 2012-10-12 Increasingly, dyslexia is becoming a whole school issue. The responsibility for addressing the needs of dyslexic students no longer rests with one individual but is the responsibility of all school staff, subject specialists and school management. This timely book addresses this need by providing specific guidance to secondary school staff on how to support dyslexic students within different subject areas and within the principles and practices of inclusion. Effective In-Class

Support Stephanie Lorenz, 2013-10-28 First Published in 1999, Schools are increasingly responding to the challenge of resourcing special educational needs by employing a variety of support staff to help children with SEN access as much of the curriculum as possible. They may be qualified teachers, nursery nurses or therapists, unqualified learning support assistants or parent volunteers. The purpose of this book is to provide SENCOs and classroom teachers with a practical guide to managing and supporting their in-class support. Emphasis is put on defining the roles and responsibilities of support staff, developing partnership and establishing effective communication between the class teacher and the support worker. Photocopiable proformas and checklists are provided for INSET and to help schools plan and appraise the work of support staff. Schools for Special Needs 2011-2012 Gabbittas, 2011-10-03 Special needs provision continues to be the focus of much attention. Growing emphasis on the importance of meeting individual and often highly complex needs means that finding the right school for a child can be a complicated process Schools for Special Needs explains the full system of special needs education in the UK and offers parents and carers a comprehensive range of information and advice on key areas of concern along with the details of more than 2 000 establishments The book provides commentary from experts in all sectors of special education and includes advice on assessment and identification of needs statementing and school choice the role of the local authority the Special Educational Needs Codes of Practice guidance on further and higher education and indexes listing schools according to type of need

Addressing Special Educational Needs and Disability in the Curriculum: Science

Marion Frankland, 2017-05-18 The SEND Code of Practice 2015 reinforced the requirement that all teachers must meet the needs of all learners This topical book provides practical tried and tested strategies and resources that will support teachers in making science lessons accessible and exciting for all pupils including those with special needs The author draws on a wealth of experience to share her understanding of special educational needs and disabilities and show how science teachers can reduce or remove any barriers to learning Offering strategies that are specific to the context of science teaching this book will enable teachers to help all students develop their evidence gathering skills and aid their scientific discovery by involving the use of all of the senses and structuring tasks appropriately create a supportive environment that maximises learning opportunities plan the classroom layout and display to enhance learning use technology to adapt lessons to the needs of individual pupils successfully train and fully use the support of their teaching assistants An invaluable tool for continuing professional development this text will be essential for teachers and their teaching assistants seeking guidance specific to teaching science to all pupils regardless of their individual needs This book will also be of interest to SENCOs senior management teams and ITT providers In addition to free online resources a range of appendices provide science teachers with a variety of writing frames and activity sheets to support effective teaching This is an essential tool for science teachers and teaching assistants and will help to deliver successful inclusive lessons for all pupils
