An Ethical Approach to Practitioner Research Anne Campbell, Susan Groundwater-Smith, 2007-09-12 Practice based research is burgeoning in a number of professional areas An Ethical Approach to Practitioner Research covers a comprehensive range of issues and dilemmas encountered in practitioner and action research contexts While principally focused upon practitioner inquiry in education it takes account of and acknowledges that others engaged in professional practice such as in legal nursing and social care contexts face similar issues and dilemmas It aims to stimulate ethical thinking and practice in enquiry and research contexts Following moves to promote professional learning and development in the workplace there is an increase in the number of practitioners engaging in action or inquiry based learning in the workplace supported by university staff or consultants as evidenced in the emergence of professional learning communities and learning networks There are many tensions inherent in relationships between practitioners and academics in terms of the setting of the research agenda the policy implications that may flow from it and the right to publish outcomes Negotiating that relationship requires ethical probity where each party recognises understands and respects mutual responsibilities The book explores this through a wide variety of roles from those of academic researchers consultants and teachers to professional practitioners as researchers and importantly students and children It therefore illustrates a number of differing perspectives about ethics and research which are allied to those roles Drawing on the expertise of international researchers and academics from America Australia and Europe the book provides invaluable support to the novice researcher and illuminates some of the more intricate issues for the more experienced research practitioner Packed with detailed and thought provoking examples this book contains both theoretical analyses of ethical matters and offers practical advice to practitioner and action researchers across the fields of schools hospitals and community and family settings

Policy-Making in Education Miriam Ben-Peretz, 2009-04-16 This book is based on the notion that an adequate response to globalization challenges requires a holistic approach to several different dimensions immigration technology economy and environment as well as effective collaboration and coordination among the central domains of education curriculum teaching and teacher education Several cases of policy making are presented in order to elicit common features as guidelines for the holistic policy making model proposed in this book First this central framework views the different dimensions of globalization as requiring connection and integration Second the proposed approach asserts that three major aspects of education that are vital for policy in education curriculum teaching and teacher education must also be integrated

Finally the process of policy making is perceived as requiring close interaction and coordination between diverse stakeholders and representatives of the different aspects of globalization The book presents a conceptual model for policy making as well as details of operational steps in this process Teachers Doing Research Gail E. Burnaford, 2000-11-01 This popular text describes the processes of doing teacher action research But it is much more than a dry presentation of methods Filled with examples of teacher action research projects provided by teachers themselves the book places teachers at the heart of the action research process Teachers own writing about their work and research questions is featured in 11 examples of teacher action research conducted in a range of settings grade levels and content areas The second edition of Teachers Doing Research is fully updated and substantially reorganized and revised including four totally new chapters and six new teacher stories This edition provides more specifics on teacher action research processes and a variety of methodological options for teachers who do research in their classrooms and schools Chapter 1 5 includes more specifics on data collection and interpretation methods Chapter 3 balances a detailed introduction to technology for novice researchers with discussion of issues and questions related to technology based teacher research Chapter 4 Information on Web sites related to topics addressed in the chapters and teacher research stories is integrated throughout the book A new Teachers Doing Research Web site www.teachersdoingresearch.com invites readers teacher research participants preservice candidates and teacher educators to participate in dialogue with the authors and editors of this text and with each other gives expanded attention to teacher action research with preservice teachers and to university school collaboration especially in Chapter 6 examines the connections between teacher action research and the larger arena of educational research Chapter 8 broadens the context for teacher action research through discussion of its influence on school reform both in the United States and internationally International examples of urban teacher research are included Chapter 9 and offers new In Practice sections to engage readers in opportunities to respond to what they are reading and to try out related activities

International Handbook of Information Technology in Primary and Secondary Education Joke Voogt, Gerald Knezek, 2008-08-26 Since the introduction of the computer into education in the 1960 s its potential for K 12 education has been widely recognized The terminology used at times confusing due to rapid technology change has continuously evolved We are in transition to an information society and the term computer technology has been replaced by information technology IT or information and communication technology ICT New demands from the information society require education to focus on information management and communication skills for which IT can be an essential resource IT offers promising environments and tools to support new approaches to teaching and learning Despite major investments the implementation of IT in education has been a persistent problem And although it is generally assumed that IT has high potential for improving education major research findings have only recently confirmed positive results of IT on students performance While there is a vast amount of research on information technology IT in K 12 education most of it is scattered

Until now a unified presentation of the research from a broad international perspective has not been accomplished. As a ground breaking publication the two volume International Handbook on Information Technology fully synthesizes the major issues and directions of research in the field. One major focus of the Handbook is the design and potential of IT based student learning environments. Offering the latest research in IT and the learning process distance learning and emerging technologies for education these chapters address the critical issue of the potential for IT to improve K 12 education. A second important theme deals with the implementation of IT in educational practice. In these chapters barriers and opportunities for IT implementation are studied from several perspectives: the teacher, the curriculum, the school organization and educational policy. Curriculum, competencies and attitudes, teacher learning, schools and international and regional programs and policies are examined to improve understanding how the implementation of IT in K 12 educational practice can be supported. Additional topics addressed in the Handbook include the role of education in the information society, threats to equity in education and as well various approaches to research in IT in education. The International Handbook on Information Technology in Primary and Secondary Education provides researchers, policy makers and practitioners with an integrated and detailed overview of this complex field making it an essential reference for all libraries and educators.

Reading Families Catherine Compton-Lilly, 2003. This dynamic text offers a rare glimpse into the literacy development of urban children and their families' role in it. Based on the author's candid interviews with her first grade students, their parents and grandparents, this book challenges the stereotypical view that urban parents don't care about their children's education. By listening closely to the voices of her students and their families, the author helps us to move beyond negative assumptions, revealing complexities that have previously been undocumented.

Teacher Narrative as Critical Inquiry Joy S. Ritchie, David E. Wilson, 2000. Research on teacher learning has too often excluded personal development in considering professional development. This timely book argues that the development of a professional identity is inextricable from personal identity. It suggests that when teachers are given the opportunity to compose their own stories of learning within a supportive community, they can then begin to compose new narratives of identity and practice. This book is a critical tool for educators seeking to refine their teaching practice and author their own development.

From Another Angle Margaret Himley, Patricia F. Carini, 2000-03. This volume represents the first effort to present and teach the descriptive processes, philosophy and values developed at the Prospect Archives and Center for Education and Research in North Bennington, Vermont. Through story and essay, it introduces a disciplined collaborative method for understanding children as thinkers and learners, called the descriptive review of the child. Developed through the Prospect Center under the leadership of Patricia F. Carini, the descriptive review is a mode of inquiry that draws on the rich, detailed knowledge teachers and parents have of children and on their ability to describe those children in full and balanced ways so that they become visible as complex persons with particular strengths, interests and capacities. In an educational climate that calls increasingly for standardization this book is a timely resource for educators parents and administrators who value individual human capacity A Life of Optimism ,2022-12-05 This book presents the scholarship of Miriam Ben Peretz a pioneering female professor and university leader who held the highest academic honors in Israel and was an American Educational Research Fellow and a member of the National Academy of Education in the United States With opening comments by F Michael Connelly and an Afterword by Lee Shulman the volume shows how Miriam Ben Peretz continued in the academic footsteps of her advisor Seymour Fox Hebrew University and his advisor Joseph J Schwab University of Chicago who also supervised Connelly and Shulman Some book chapters reflect the influence of Miriam Ben Peretz s academic lineage some others instead feature her signature research and the final chapters capture her advocacy work with the MOFET Institute a consortium of Israeli colleges of education created by the Ministry of Education that focuses on research curriculum and program development for teacher educators Teachers Learning in Communities Michal Zellermyer,Elaine Munthe,Malka Gorodetsky,Frances O'Connel Rust,Lily Orland-Barak,2007-01-01 Teachers Learning in Communities is about teacher educators by those brave enough to make their professional learning public The authors reveal the complexities of their participation in school university partnerships and their relationships with teachers Here practice informs theory greatly expanding our knowledge and understanding of these important communities Ann Lieberman Senior Scholar at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Teachers Learning in Communities is full of exciting success stories about rare and exotic teacher education episodes played out on the marg A Critical Inquiry Framework for K-12 Teachers JoBeth Allen,Lois Alexander,2015-04-25 This dynamic book provides powerful ideas to guide pedagogy and a curriculum model for helping students connect with issues in their lives while meeting standards Vivid portraits of K12 classrooms illustrate how teachers used a human rights framework to engage students in critical inquiry of relevant social issues such as immigration rights religious tolerance racial equality countering the effects of poverty and respect for people with disabilities The book shows how a group of teachers worked together to develop a critical content framework using the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child Chapters highlight lively classroom and community action projects What Would It Take to Make an Ed School Great? John Schwille,2023-06-01 This book brings new life to the long standing debate in the United States over whether teacher education K 12 teaching and the role that universities play in this work can be revolutionized so that they are less subject to self defeating conventions and orthodoxy to the benefit of all the nation s children Author John Schwille reexamines the ambitious reform agenda that Michigan State University teacher education leaders brought to the national table in the 1980s and 1990s This attempted revolution mobilized unprecedented resources to the struggle to transform teaching and learning of subject matter Conveying this history through the words of the teachers and scholars responsible for it Schwille shows that a great deal was achieved but many of the lessons learned continue to be ignored Video Research in the Learning Sciences Ricki Goldman,Roy Pea,Brigid Barron,Sharon J. Derry,2014-05-01 Video Research in the Learning Sciences is a comprehensive exploration of key theoretical methodological and technological advances concerning uses of digital video as data in the learning sciences as a way of knowing about learning teaching and educational processes The aim of the contributors a community of scholars using video in their own work is to help usher in video scholarship and supportive technologies and to mentor video scholars so that video research will meet its maximum potential to contribute to the growing knowledge base about teaching and learning This volume contributes deeply to both to the science of learning through in depth video studies of human interaction in learning environments whether classrooms or other contexts and to the uses of video for creating descriptive explanatory or expository accounts of learning and teaching It is designed around four themes each with a cornerstone chapter that introduces and synthesizes the cluster of chapters related to it Theoretical frameworks for video research Video research on peer family and informal learning Video research on classroom and teacher learning and Video collaboratories and technological futures Video Research in the Learning Sciences is intended for researchers university faculty teacher educators and graduate students in education and for anyone interested in how knowledge is expanded using video based technologies for inquiries about learning and teaching Visit the Web site affiliated with this book www.videoresearch.org

Leading Professional Development in Education Bob Moon, John Butcher, Elizabeth Bird, 2000 This work focuses on the nature of professional learning and the policy context in which educational reform takes place It also explores the forms of leadership relevant to the differing contexts of professional development

Teacher Educators as Members of an Evolving Profession Miriam Ben-Peretz, Rivka Reichenberg, Sarah Shimoni, 2013 Teachers are viewed as the major element in successful schooling and play a central role in educational improvement It is argued that the single most important factor in improving the quality of education is linked to the increased general and professional education of teachers

Inquiry as Stance Marilyn Cochran-Smith, Susan L. Lytle, 2015-04-25 In this long awaited sequel to Inside Outside Teacher Research and Knowledge two leaders in the field of practitioner research offer a radically different view of the relationship of knowledge and practice and of the role of practitioners in educational change In their new book the authors put forward the notion of inquiry as stance as a challenge to the current arrangements and outcomes of schools and other educational contexts They call for practitioner researchers in local settings across the United States and around the world to ally their work with others as part of larger social and intellectual movements for social change and social justice Part I is a set of five essays that conceptualize inquiry as a stance and as a transformative theory of action that repositions the collective intellectual capacity of practitioners Part II is a set of eight chapters written by eight differently positioned practitioners who are or were engaged in practitioner research in K 12 schools or teacher education Part III offers a unique format for exploring inquiry as stance in the next generation a readers theatre script that juxtaposes and co mingles 20 practitioners voices in a performance oriented format Together the three parts of the book point to rich possibilities for practitioner inquiry in the next generation Contributors Rebecca Akin Gerald

Campano Delvin Dinkins Kelly A Harper Gillian Maimon Gary McPhail Swati Mehta Rob Simon and Diane Waff Cochran Smith and Lytle once again prove themselves to be among the best at melding theory and practice Instead of merely making the case for practitioner inquiry they go the next step to show us exactly what this genre brings to our field rigor relevance and passion The interplay of conceptual clarity and powerful exemplars make this a text we will read well into the next decade Gloria Ladson Billings University of Wisconsin Madison Once again Marilyn Cochran Smith and Susan Lytle point the way to new and hopeful understandings of practitioner research Rather than blame teachers for all that is wrong with education they and their fellow authors remind us that if school reform is to have any chance of fulfilling its stated goal of equal opportunity for all students teachers must have a significant voice in research policy and practice With its focus on social justice and its view of practitioner research as transformative this is a powerful and welcome sequel to their classic Inside Outside Sonia Nieto Professor Emerita University of Massachusetts Amherst Inquiry as Stance should be a blockbuster This brilliant sequel re calibrates relationships between practitioner inquiry and social justice Carole Edelsky Professor Emerita Arizona State University This optimistic and generous book is sure to become a central reference for teacher researchers in K 16 schools and their colleagues and supporters throughout the system Elyse Eidman Aadaahl Director National Programs and Site Development National Writing Project University of California Berkeley This view of the intellectual and personal work of teaching is a major counter to the contemporary emphasis on testing and packaged curricula Cynthia Ballenger reading specialist Cambridge Public Schools Once again Cochran Smith Lytle and their colleagues bring us an invaluable book on the enormous possibilities of practitioner research Luis C Moll College of Education University of Arizona
