Emotions and Religious Dynamics Mr Nathaniel A Warne, Professor Douglas J. Davies, 2014-02-28 We all feel emotions and are moved to action by them Religious communities often select and foster certain emotions over others Without understanding this it is hard to grasp the way groups view the world and each other Often it is the underlying emotional pattern of a group rather than its doctrines that either divides it from or attracts it to others These issues so important in today s world are explored in this book in a genuinely interdisciplinary way by anthropologists psychologists theologians and historians of religion and in some detailed studies of well and less well known religious traditions from across the world

Religion and the Specter of the West Arvind-Pal S. Mandair, 2009-10-23

Arguing that intellectual movements such as deconstruction postsecular theory and political theology have different implications for cultures and societies that live with the debilitating effects of past imperialisms Arvind Mandair unsettles the politics of knowledge construction in which the category of religion continues to be central Through a case study of Sikhism he launches an extended critique of religion as a cultural universal At the same time he presents a portrait of how certain aspects of Sikh tradition were reinvented as religion during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries India's imperial elite subtly recast Sikh tradition as a sui generis religion which robbed its teachings of their political force In turn Sikhs began to define themselves as a nation and a world religion that was separate from but parallel to the rise of the Indian state and global Hinduism Rather than investigate these processes in isolation from Europe Mandair shifts the focus closer to the political history of ideas thereby recovering part of Europe's repressed colonial memory Mandair rethinks the intersection of religion and the secular in discourses such as history of religions postcolonial theory and recent continental philosophy Though seemingly unconnected these discourses are shown to be linked to a philosophy of generalized translation that emerged as a key conceptual matrix in the colonial encounter between India and the West In this riveting study Mandair demonstrates how this philosophy of translation continues to influence the repetitions of religion and identity politics in the lives of South Asians and the way the academy state and media have analyzed such phenomena

Two Gurus One Message Savinder Kaur Gill, Sonam Wangmo, 2019-01-01

Buddhism and Sikhism founded by the Lord Buddha and Guru Nanak respectively are both religions of India with a two thousand year gap between the two faiths Tarungpa Tulku in his 1966 article Guru Nanak in Tibet A Buddhist view point wrote that Tibetan Buddhists have a special connection with Sikhism due to the belief that Guru Nanak was a manifestation of Guru Padmasambhava It is with this curiosity that the idea for this book was conceived leading to the discovery of an astonishing number of similarities between the two spiritual traditions This comparative study the first major attempt of its kind scoured the entire Sikh Scripture Shri Guru Granth Sahib and found numerous parallels with the Buddhist Canon especially Pali ranging from the life stories of the founding fathers of the two faiths their social agenda and core tenets to articles of faith including religious symbolism It is hoped that this research can in some way help to blur the divisions between religious labels and bring out pure spirituality devoid of fixation on religious externalities which leads to much dissent especially in this degenerate era While acknowledging the rich diversity and uniqueness of each spiritual tradition this book eventually comes to the conclusion that spirituality transcends religious labels We have come to appreciate that although the externalities of religion may differ vastly spiritual insights remain
