Tierney, P. David Pearson, 2021 In this volume two notable scholars trace the monumental shifts in theory research and practice related to reading education and literacy with particular attention to what they consider the central goal of literacy making meaning Each section describes a specific epoch including a brief snapshot of how the reader of that period is envisioned and characterized by researchers and teachers as well as a deep discussion of the ideas and contextual events of that era These developmental waves are organized in rough historical sequence by a series of shifts in underlying theoretical and scholarly lenses from the behavioral to the psycholinguistic to the cognitive to the sociocultural to the critical to the multimodal to the global The book closes with a discussion of the various research frames and methodological approaches that paralleled these developments Throughout there is a profound recognition that all research and practice are ultimately directed toward how students make meaning from sound to letter to word to ideas and images Book Features Animates some of the revolutionary developments related to reading education and literacy in modern times Each development is accompanied by a discussion of the aspirational reader that sets the stage for contemplating these shifts and their significance Traces the research and theoretical developments to illustrate the origins of the shifts and their influences Supported by a website with video lectures and conversations tied to the various waves of development PISA 2009 Results: What Makes a School Successful? Resources, Policies and Practices (Volume IV) OECD,2010-12-07 This volume of PISA 2009 results examines how human financial and material resources and education policies and practices shape learning outcomes Raising Literacy Achievement in High-Poverty Schools Eithne Kennedy,2014-01-03 This book shares lessons gleaned from a two year intervention in a high poverty school which was highly successful in significantly narrowing the literacy achievement gap and in raising children s motivation and engagement in literacy both inside and outside school Kennedy argues that there is much that disadvantaged schools can do to close the gap but this is more likely to occur when a research based approach to instruction with a dual emphasis on cognitive skills and motivation and engagement assessment and professional development is undertaken Children's Reading Comprehension and Assessment Scott G. Paris,Steven A. Stahl,2005-03-23 The volume identifies critical issues and cutting edge research in assessing children s reading comprehension Instructional Leadership Efforts and Evidence-Based Practices to Improve Writing Instruction VanSlander, Jennifer,2023-10-11 Writing is a critical skill for academic and professional success yet it is often neglected in schools According to achievement data only a quarter of students in the United States are proficient writers indicating a significant need for improvement in writing instruction One contributing factor to this problem is the lack of school and district leadership in writing instruction School improvement efforts are often concentrated on reading and math leaving writing instruction overlooked Additionally issues related to writer identities self efficacy in writing and educator training can also impact the effectiveness of instructional leadership in this critical subject Instructional Leadership Efforts and Evidence Based Practices to Improve Writing Instruction edited by Jennifer VanSlander of Columbus State University provides within this peer reviewed book an exploration of evidence based practices aimed at developing instructional leaders and enhancing student achievement in writing It covers a broad range of topics related to writing instruction including learning theories conceptual models and the latest empirical research associated with the supervision organization implementation and monitoring of writing programs and instructional approaches With its emphasis on writer identities self efficacy equitable and inclusive practices curriculum planning and implementation assessment instructional frameworks and managing instructional change this book provides educators with a comprehensive guide to improving writing instruction It is an essential resource for educators who seek to increase the effectiveness of instructional leadership and writing instruction at the classroom school or district level Reading History Janet Allen,2010-04-10 Having trouble interesting your students in history or the history textbook Concerned about the ability of your students to actually read the textbook Learn ways to tie reading strategies to the learning of history and
