Teaching U.S. History Thematically Rosalie Metro, 2017-10-13 This book offers the tools teachers need to get started with an innovative approach to teaching history one that develops literacy and higher order thinking skills connects the past to students lives today and meets Common Core State Standards grades 7 12 The author provides over 60 primary sources organized into seven thematic units each structured around an essential question from U S history As students analyze carefully excerpted documents speeches by presidents and protesters Supreme Court cases political cartoons they build an understanding of how diverse historical figures have approached key issues At the same time students learn to participate in civic debates and develop their own views on what it means to be a 21st century American Each unit connects to current events and dynamic classroom activities make history come alive In addition to the documents themselves this teaching manual provides strategies to assess student learning mini lectures designed to introduce documents activities to help students process display and integrate their learning guidance to help teachers create their own units and more Book Features A timely aid for secondary school teachers confronted with Common Core and other state level quality requirements An approach that promotes student engagement and critical thinking to replace or augment a traditional textbook Challenges to the master narrative of U S history from figures like Sojourner Truth Malcolm X and Cesar Chavez as well as traditionally recognized historical figures such as George Washington and Thomas Jefferson Essential questions to help students explore seven of the most important recurring themes in U S history Role plays and debates to promote interaction among students Printable copies of the documents included in the book can be downloaded at tcpress com

The Importance of Problems in the Teaching of American History in High Schools Edgar Desmond Lee,1909 No invention no conformity to a new mode of living was ever brought about by an individual or community except to meet some definite need Some obstacle some difficulty arose which had to be overcome For example the invention of the cotton gin was the result of a need for an improvement over the slow and tedious method of separating the seed from the fiber by hand In like manner the edict passed by the Emperor of China in 1905 giving western education a place in the Chinese schools grew out of the feeling that China was in need of such a civilization Granting this the subject of history which is an account of the development and growth of societies or nations in its several phases religious political social and institutional is the result of various difficulties or problems which have presented themselves during this development The best and most logical method of teaching history in the high school is to place it before the student in the form of problems each smaller problem contributing to the solving of the main problem or general movement To do this it is necessary to place the student in so far as it is possible in an imaginary situation similar to that in which those who have been confronted with these difficulties have found themselves In this way the student knowing the chief difficulties and problems which have beset the race comes into closer contact with the past such thoughts and feelings are the real content of history When the student is brought thus into contact with the thoughts and emotions he is in a better position to interpret events because events are but signs of the inner thoughts of the race The position that history should be taught in the form of problems will be maintained in this thesis which presents considerations on the method worked out with a fourth year class in American history in the Teachers College High School during the year 1908 1909 Teaching American History Through the Novel Sharon Bannister,Twyla R.
