

From Teaching the Universe of Discourse

“The interrelation of life and literature is both more precise and more organic than is commonly expressed in the truism that one can learn one through the other.”

Teaching The Universe Of Discourse:

Teaching the Universe of Discourse James Moffett, 1983 Teaching the Universe of Discourse James Moffett, 1968 Encyclopedia of Language and Education David Corson, 1997 Made up of eight volumes the Encyclopedia of Language and Education is the first attempt at providing an overview of the subject A Theory of Contemporary Rhetoric Richard Andrews, 2013-08-22 A Theory of Contemporary Rhetoric describes explains and argues the overarching theory of contemporary rhetoric This current view of rhetoric brings together themes in the communication arts including political literary criticism bi and multi lingualism multimodality framing as an artistic and sociological device for composition and interpretation literacy in the digital age and the division between fiction and non fiction in language literature studies Chapters explore the implications of rhetoric for particular aspects of the field Discussions throughout the book provide illustrations that ground the material in practice As an overarching theory in the communication arts rhetoric is elegant as a theoretical solution and simple as a practical one It asks such questions as who is speaking writing composing to whom why what is being conveyed and how is it being conveyed Acknowledging the dirth of recent works addressing the theory of rhetoric this book aims to fill the existing theoretical gap and at the same time move the field of language literature studies forward into new territory It provides the keynote theoretical guide for a generation of teachers teacher educators and researchers in the fields of English as a subject English as a second foreign or additional language and language study in general Testing, Teaching, and Learning Ralph Winfred Tyler, 1979 Testing, Teaching and Learning , 1979 The Teaching of Thinking R. S. Nickerson, D. N. Perkins, E. E. Smith, 2014-01-09 First published in 1985 This book was created due to involvement of the authors to develop a course to enhance thinking skills A main aim of which was to determine what is known about the teaching of thinking from current research literature and from the results of efforts to develop cognitive enhancement programs The primary focus is on intentional purposeful goal oriented thinking thinking if you will for the express purpose of realizing some specific objective Teaching Writing Cynthia L. Caywood, Gillian R. Overing, 1987-01-01 This anthology explores the relationship between feminism and writing theory The chapters cover the major issues basic pedagogical theory and philosophical approaches to the teaching of writing studies of problems encountered by female writers and writing instructors and useful how to essays on classroom technique The authors also address important provocative questions about power in the classroom its use abuse and distribution The book is based on the concept of equity which the editors define Equity does not mean to us the abolition of differences among individuals nor does it imply a blanket imposition of an Orwellian homogeneity It does not mean stifling some voices so that others may be heard it does not demand the compromising of academic standards in the name of egalitarianism Equity as we understand it creates new standards which accommodate and nurture differences Equity fosters the individual voice in the classroom investing students with confidence in their own authority Equity unleashes the creative potential of heterogeneity this definition of equity is at the heart of this anthology and our attempts as teachers to model our pedagogy on this principle provided the impetus for assembling it from the Introduction

Hawisher, Anna O. Soter, 1990-07-05 This book recognizes and embraces the complexities of modern English teaching It presents English teachers and teacher educators with a critical view of current professional issues and concerns in the belief that these groups need and want to participate in curricular and professional reform movements that affect them and their students The book examines such issues as the interconnectedness of the study of language literature and composition curricular problems in language instruction in teacher education the relationship between our traditional notions of literature study and our emerging view of literacy in the contemporary information age and the ways in which current theory and research can be translated into innovative designs for the teaching of written composition On Literacy and Its Teaching is a powerful response to the current challenge for innovation and change in English teacher education With its broad scope it provides a balanced overview and timely analysis of the field of English Education Theorizing Composition Mary Kennedy, 1998-06-25 The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory's critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works Composing Social Identity in Written Language Donald L. Rubin, 2013-09-13 This volume constitutes a unique contribution to the literature on literacy and culture in several respects It links together aspects of social variation that have not often been thus juxtaposed ethnicity nationality gender and participant role relations The unifying theme of this collection of papers is that all of these factors are aspects of writers identities identities which are simultaneously expressed and constructed in text The topic of social identity and writing can be approached from a variety of scholarly avenues including humanistic critical and historical perspectives The papers in the present volume make reference to and contribute to such humanistic perspectives however this book lies squarely within the tradition of social science It draws primarily upon the disciplines of linguistics discourse analysis anthropology social and cognitive psychology and education studies The constituent topics of social identity style and writing themselves lie at the intersections of several related fields of scholarship Writing remains of peak interest to educators from many fields and is still a hot topic The instructional ramifications of the particular issues addressed in this volume are of vital concern to educational systems adjusting to the realities of our multicultural society This publication therefore should attract a substantial and diverse readership of scholars educators and policymakers affiliated with many fields including applied linguistics composition and rhetoric communication studies dialect studies discourse analysis English composition English language arts education ethnic studies language behavior literacy sociolinguistics stylistics women s studies and writing research and instruction Teaching in Progress Josephine Koster Tarvers, Cindy Moore, 2008 The Handbook of
