The Power and Vulnerability of Love Elizabeth O'Donnell Gandolfo, 2015-02-01 Gandolfo constructs a theological anthropology that begins with the condition of human vulnerability as a site to answer why human beings experience and inflict terrible suffering This volume argues that vulnerability is a dimension of human existence that causes us great anxiety which forms the basis for violence but also affords the possibility of human openness to the redemptive work of divine love Poised paradoxically between tragic and redemptive vulnerability human beings need existential resources and empowering practices to cope with and manage our vulnerability in more compassionate ways

Altizer, 2012-12-06 Alienation ecstasy death rebirth in the poetry of Michelangelo Donne and d'Aubigne these archetypal themes make possible the ultimate formulation of new poetic symbolizations of self and world As their poetry evolves from a primarily rhetorical towards a fully symbolic mode images of loss of self in ecstasy or in alienation of death and rebirth recur with increasing frequency and intensity Whether the context is love poetry or religious poetry the basic problem remains the same love is the link between the two kinds of poetry And love is indeed a problem for these three poets since it involves the self in relation to the other the other being either God or another human being Increasingly the work of each poet centers on a need to analyze or abolish the gulf separating subject and object self and other The dominant mode of most of the three poets work is neither rhetorical nor symbolic but expressive This transitional mode reveals the individual poet's most urgent concerns and conflicts his sense of self in its most isolated or burdensome affirmative or struggling state Underlying most of their poems is a profound self consciousness a
