The Netflix Effect Kevin

McDonald,Daniel Smith-Rowsey,2018-02-22 Netflix is the definitive media company of the 21st century It was among the first to parlay new Internet technologies into a successful business model and in the process it changed how consumers access film and television It is now one of the leading providers of digitally delivered media content and is continually expanding access across a host of platforms and mobile devices Despite its transformative role however Netflix has drawn very little critical attention far less than competitors such as YouTube Apple Amazon Comcast and HBO This collection addresses this gap as the essays are designed to critically explore the breadth and diversity of Netflix s effect from a variety of different scholarly perspectives a necessary approach considering the hybrid nature of Netflix its inextricable links to new models of media production distribution viewer engagement and consumer behavior its relationship to existing media conglomerates and consumer electronics its capabilities as a web based service provider and data network and its reliance on a broader technological infrastructure

The Deep End of South Park Leslie Stratyner,James R. Keller,2014-01-10 No American television show of the past decade has been vilified as has Comedy Central s South Park This is the show that has featured in turn a nine year old boy enmeshed in an affair with Ben Affleck a maniacal Mel Gibson smearing feces everywhere and the misadventures of Mr Hankey the Christmas Poo a talking bouncing singing piece of poop While it s not always an exercise in good taste South Park is a socially significant satire that has also devoted entire episodes to interpretations of Great Expectations Ken Burns Civil War and Hamlet This volume explores the popularity and cultural relevance of South Park and its place as an artistically and politically worthy satire

Children, Film and Literacy Becky Parry,2013-10-22 Children Film and Literacy explores the role of film in children s lives The films children engage in provide them with imaginative spaces in which they create play and perform familiar and unfamiliar fantasy and everyday narratives and this narrative play is closely connected to identity literacy and textual practices Family is key to the encouragement of this social play and at school the playground is also an important site for this activity However in the literacy classroom some children encounter a discontinuity between their experiences of narrative at home and those that are valued in school Through film children develop understandings of the common characteristics of narrative and the particular language of film This book demonstrates the ways in which children are able to express and develop distinct and complex understandings of narrative that is to say where they can draw on their own experiences including those in a moving image form Children whose primary experiences of narrative are moving images face particular challenges when their experiences are not given opportunities for expression in the classroom and this has urgent implications for the teaching of literacy Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Policy and Standards Division,2009 How Toddlers Learn the Secret Language of Movies Cary Bazalgette,2022-05-18 This book takes a radically new approach to the well worn topic of children s relationship with the media avoiding the risks and benefits paradigm while examining very young children s interactions with film and television Bazalgette proposes a refocus on the learning processes that children must go through in order to understand what they are watching on televisions phones or iPads To demonstrate this she offers unique insight from research done with her twin grandchildren starting from just before they were two years old with analysis drawn from the field of embodied cognition to help identify minute behaviours and expressions as signals of emotions and thought processes The book makes the case that all inquiry into early childhood movie viewing should be based on the premise that learning usually self driven is taking place throughout
