Soldiers and Stability in Southeast Asia J. Soedjati Djiwandono, Yong Mun Cheong, 1988 Southeast Asian Perspectives on Security Derek Da Cunha, 2000 The conventional understanding of strategic issues in the modern world has been very much a Western driven phenomenon That is to say Western strategists thinkers and writers have tended to establish the principles of strategic concepts and to develop theories around them While there is utility in much Western strategic thought it is also apt to note that some of it does not have full relevance or validity when applied to a regional setting that is far removed from the geographical boundaries of the Western world In that connection this volume is partly intended to serve as an antidote to much of the Western commentary on Asia Pacific security issues by providing a range of perspectives on those issues from the Southeast Asian point of view It offers a range of Southeast Asian perspectives on the multifaceted security issues that confront the Asia Pacific region in the post Cold War era That there is no unitary perspective emanating from the region is symptomatic of the very fluid geopolitical situation that characterizes Asia Pacific security and of equal import the different schools of thought that analysts in the region have chosen to subscribe to Durable Stability in Southeast Asia Kusumā Sanitwong Na 'Ayutthayā, Sukhumband Paribatra (M.R.), 1987 Southeast Asian Security in the New Millennium Richard J. Reinventing Regional Security Institutions in Asia and Africa Kei Koga, 2016-12-08 Regional security institutions play a significant role in shaping the behavior of existing and rising regional powers by nurturing security norms and rules monitoring state activities and sometimes imposing sanctions thereby formulating the configuration of regional security dynamics Yet their security roles and influence do not remain constant Their raison d'être objectives and functions experience sporadic changes and some institutions upgrade military functions for peacekeeping operations while others limit their functions to political and security dialogues The question is why and how do these variances in institutional change emerge This book explores the mechanisms of institutional change focusing on regional security institutions led by non great powers It constructs a theoretical model for institutional change that provides a new understanding of their changing roles in regional security which has yet to be fully explored in the International Relations field In so doing the book illuminates why when and how each organization restructures its role function and influence Using case studies of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS and the Organization of African Unity OAU African Union AU it also sheds light on similarities and differences in institutional change between regional security institutions Asian Security Environment, 1980 United States.
