Sophie Calle Appointment With Sigmund Freud:

Appointment Sophie Calle, 2001 Appointment with Sigmund Freud Sophie Calle, 2005 A unique assembly of Calle's own thoughts and photographs of her belongings juxtaposed with objects from Sigmund Freud's personal collection still kept in the house where he lived

What We Brought with Us Vanessa Agnew, 2024-09-03 In exile and migration the things that forcibly displaced people take with them become mobile testimonies of defiance mourning creativity and rejuvenation Through a series of scholarly essays and autobiographical vignettes this richly illustrated volume draws on such observations to examine the meanings that possessions assume when they are wrenched from their original contexts The contributors to this collection shine an intimate spotlight on those who are driven from their homes by conflict and forced into exile by authoritarian regimes In so doing the contributors underscore the necessity for civil societies to support academic freedom and the work done by critical thinkers worldwide

The Aesthetic Clinic Fernanda Negrete, 2020-10-01 In The Aesthetic Clinic Fernanda Negrete brings together contemporary women writers and artists well known for their formal experimentation Louise Bourgeois Sophie Calle Lygia Clark Marguerite Duras Roni Horn and Clarice Lispector to argue that the aesthetic experiences afforded by their work are underwritten by a tenacious and uniquely feminine ethics of desire To elaborate this ethics Negrete looks to notions of sublimation and feminine sexuality developed by Freud Baudelaire Mallarmé and Nietzsche and their reinvention with and after Jacques Lacan including in the schizoanalysis of Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari But she also highlights how psychoanalytic theory draws on writing and other creative practices to conceive of unconscious processes and the transformation sought through analysis Thus the aesthetic clinic of the book's title a term Negrete adopts from Deleuze is not an applied psychoanalysis or schizoanalysis Rather The Aesthetic Clinic privileges the call and constraints issued by each woman's individual work Engaging an artwork here is less about retrieving a hidden meaning through interpretation than about receiving a precise transmission of sensation a jouissance irreducible to meaning Not only do art and literature serve an urgent clinical function in Negrete's reading but sublimation itself requires an embrace of femininity

Embodying the Dead Claire Hind, Gary Winters, 2019-11-13 Where do we find the dead Do the dead appear in our dreams What is it like to play dead This book is an exciting exploration of the relationship between death and play in performance Exploring a range of artists and creative disciplines that remember personify and re-imagine the dead it playfully unpacks the psychoanalytic concepts of the Death Drive Desire and the Uncanny as a way of thinking about performance Embodying the Dead draws on work of Gary Winters and Claire Hind and the various qualities of deadness found in their projects The authors' work includes live art theatre installation Super 8mm film walking arts practice and durational performance This book includes scripts and scores of their performances original creative texts interviews with internationally renowned artists and a series of practice-led research tasks to support readers creating their own imaginative performance work Rich in creative and critical content this book is ideal for students of drama theatre and performance studies who have an interest in devised theatre theatre making writing for performance and intermedial practice Inside the Freud Museums Joanne Morra, 2017-12-11 Sigmund Freud spent the final year of his life at 20 Maresfield Gardens London surrounded by all his possessions in exile from the Nazis The long term home and workspace he left behind in Berggasse 19 Vienna is a seemingly empty space devoid of the great psychoanalyst's objects and artefacts Now museums both of these spaces resonate powerfully Since 1989 the Freud Museum London has held over 70 exhibitions by a distinctive range of artists including Louise Bourgeois Sophie Calle Mat Collishaw Susan Hiller Sarah Lucas and Tim Noble and Sue Webster The Sigmund Freud Museum Vienna houses a small but impressive contemporary art collection with work by John Baldessari Joseph Kosuth Jenny Holzer Franz West and Ilya Kabakov In this remarkable book Joanne Morra offers a nuanced analysis of these historical museums and their unique relationships to contemporary art Taking us on a journey through the site responsive artworks exhibitions and curatorial practices that intervene in the objects spaces and memories of these museums Joanne Morra offers a fresh experience of the history and practice of psychoanalysis of museums and contemporary art

The Heretical Archive Domietta Torlasco, 2013-03-05 The Heretical Archive examines the relationship between memory and creation in contemporary artworks that use digital technology while appropriating film materials Domietta Torlasco argues that these digital films and multimedia installations radically transform our memory of cinema and our understanding of the archive Indeed such works define a notion of archiving not as the passive preservation of audiovisual signs but as an intervention and the creative rearticulation of cinema's perceptual and political textures Connecting psychoanalysis phenomenology and feminist theory in innovative ways Torlasco analyzes cutting edge digital works that engage with the past of European cinema and visual culture including video installations by Monica Bonvicini Destroy She Said and Pierre Huyghe The Ellipsis Agnès Varda's film The Gleaners and I Marco Poloni's multimedia installation The Desert Room and Chris Marker's CD ROM Immemory Torlasco's central claim is that if the archives of psychoanalysis and cinema have long privileged the lineage that runs from Oedipus to Freud the archives of the digital age what she calls the heretical archive can help us imagine an unruly porous multifaceted legacy one in which marginal figures return to speak of lost life as much as of life that demands to be lived

Discipline and Desire Elise Morrison, 2016-10-12 Discipline and Desire examines how surveillance technologies when placed within the frames of theater and performance can be used to critique and reimagine the politics of surveillance in everyday life The book explores how rapidly proliferating surveillance technologies including drones CCTV cameras GPS tracking systems medical surveillance equipment and facial recognition software can be repurposed through performance to become technologies of ethical witnessing critique and action While the subject of surveillance continues to provoke fascination and debate in mainstream media and academia opportunities to critically reflect upon and more importantly to imagine alternative creative responses to living in a rapidly expanding surveillance society have been harder to find Author Elise Morrison argues that such opportunities are being created through the growing genre of surveillance art and performance defined as works that centrally employ technologies and techniques of surveillance to create theater installation and performance art

Introducing readers to a broad range of surveillance art works including the work of artists and activists such as Surveillance Camera Players Jill Magid Steve Mann Hasan Elahi Wafaa Bilal Blast Theory Electronic Disturbance Theater George Brant Janet Cardiff Mona Hatoum and Zach Blas Discipline and Desire provides a practical and analytical framework that can aid the diverse pursuits of new media arts practitioners performance scholars activists and hobbyists interested in critical and creative uses of surveillance technologies

The Big Archive Sven Spieker, 2017-03-03 The archive as a crucible of twentieth century modernism and key for understanding contemporary art The typewriter the card index and the filing cabinet these are technologies and modalities of the archive To the bureaucrat archives contain little more than garbage paperwork no longer needed to the historian on the other hand the archive's content stands as a quasi objective correlative of the living past Twentieth century art made use of the archive in a variety of ways from what Spieker calls Marcel Duchamp's anemic archive of readymades and El Lissitzky's Demonstration Rooms to the compilations of photographs made by such postwar artists as Susan Hiller and Gerhard Richter In The Big Archive Sven Spieker investigates the archive as both bureaucratic institution and index of evolving attitudes toward contingent time in science and art and finds it to be a crucible of twentieth century modernism Dadaists constructivists and Surrealists favored discontinuous nonlinear archives that resisted hermeneutic reading and ordered presentation Spieker argues that the use of archives by such contemporary artists as Hiller Richter Hans Peter Feldmann Walid Raad and Boris Mikhailov responds to and continues this attack on the nineteenth century archive and its objectification of the historical process Spieker considers archivally driven art in relation to changing media technologies the typewriter the telephone the telegraph film And he connects the archive to a particularly modern visuality showing that the avant garde used the archive as something of a laboratory for experimental inquiries into the nature of vision and its relation to time The Big Archive offers us the first critical monograph on an overarching motif in twentieth century art

New Practices - New

Pedagogies Malcolm Miles, 2004-11-23 With radical changes happening in arts over the past two decades this book brings us up to date with the social and economic contexts in which the arts are produced Influential and knowledgeable leaders in the field debate how arts education particularly in visual art has changed to meet new needs or shape new futures for its production and reception Opening up areas of thought previously unexplored in arts and education this book introduces students of visual culture performance studies and art and design to broad contextual frameworks new directions in practice and finally gives detailed cases from and insights into a changing pedagogy
