Silent Film Performance Elisabetta Girelli, 2021-06-18 This book provides a groundbreaking exploration of silent film performance. It combines close reading of silent screen acting with theoretically informed analysis, stressing the overlap between different performative arts such as film and stage acting, dance, mime, and pantomime. The boundary between silent and sound films is also challenged. Anna Pavlova's acting in The Dumb Girl of Portici is read through Freud's work on the uncanny, disability studies, and notions of intermediality. Vladimir Mayakovsky's performance in The Young Lady and the Hooligan is approached as a silent soliloquy and a representation of loneliness. Ivan Mozzhukhin's tour de force in The Late Mathias Pascal is discussed through a queer failure lens, while Pola Negri's presence in Hotel Imperial is analysed with the aid of texts on wartime anxiety. Harald Kreutzberg's stunning number in Paracelsus is examined in the light of theories of mime and pantomime, arguing for its subversive potential in a Third Reich sound film.

Sant of the Secret Service: Some Revelations of Spies and Spying William Le Queux, 2023-07-07 Originally published in 1918 as Sant of the Secret Service, this novel describes the ongoing adventures of Gerry Sant, spy for the allied forces during the First World War. He's cheerful, optimistic, and modest; he often telephones for the assistance of Gabrielle Soye, female agent of the British Secret Service, to carry out surveillance and sometimes to infiltrate the enemy in disguise. The author, William Le Queux, was one of the first creators of the spy story. A journalist turned author, he successfully combined his passionate interest in national security and new technological developments with his detailed knowledge of travel and high society in Europe in these and other collections of short stories of intrigue and espionage. These are well-written, thrilling adventures. A must have
