Squadrons Up! Noel Monks,1942 Squadrons Up Noel Monks,2013-10 This is a new release of the original 1942 edition Squadrons Up! a First Hand Story of the R a F Noel Monks,2008-06-01 This scarce antiquarian book is a facsimile reprint of the original Due to its age it may contain imperfections such as marks notations marginalia and flawed pages Because we believe this work is culturally important we have made it available as part of our commitment for protecting preserving and promoting the world s literature in affordable high quality modern editions that are true to the original work An Air Power Bibliography Raymond Estep,1956 Heroes of the Skies Michael Ashcroft,2012-09-13 Since the dawn of aerial combat in the First World War the heroism of the men who put their lives at risk in the air has known no bounds There were no more heroic airmen than the fighter pilots and bomber crews of the Second World War men who sacrificed their own lives in order to save their crew or who although in extreme pain managed to get their aircraft home rather than risk becoming PoWs In telling the stories of more than eighty such men Heroes of the Skies paints a picture of aerial combat from the First World War right through to Afghanistan and allows us to celebrate the extraordinary feats of our flying heroes The Squadron That Died Twice - The story of No. 82 Squadron RAF, which in 1940 lost 23 out of 24 aircraft in two bombing raids Gordon Thorburn,2015-07-02 Apart from the quiet chatter of a few mechanics who were checking that one aircraft was too badly damaged ever to fly again there was a shocked silence over the aerodrome as everyone there tried to understand the impossible Twelve twin engined bombers of 82 Squadron RAF had set out on a fi ne May morning in 1940 from Watton Norfolk in a brave but hopeless attempt to slow down the German armour ripping through Belgium Sergeant Thomas Jock Morrison was the pilot of the only one to come home Heavy losses in Bomber Command in the Second World War were common normal came with the territory but this Eleven out of twelve were shot down by flak and fighters and lay in burning fragments along the Belgium France border It is said that history repeats itself And so it was almost exactly three months later on a cloudy day in August 1940 that twelve more twin engined Bristol Blenheim bombers each with a crew of three men set off from Watton Norfolk in a brave but hopeless attempt to destroy a Luftwaffe base in enemy occupied Denmark One aircraft had to turn for home before it reached the target The other eleven pressed on as the clouds disappeared and on a fi ne sunny morning were all shot down by flak and fighters and lay in burning fragments on the shores of the Lymfjord At the time when the whole world was trying to understand the impossible how Germany could conquer Denmark Norway The Netherlands Belgium and France in a few weeks and Poland before that and surely Great Britain next 82 Squadron s disasters were barely noticed Based on the accounts of survivors and on squadron and other records Gordon Thorburn s moving retelling of the story of the events of it and the men in it at last puts right that terrible omission A Guide to the Sources of British Military History Robin Hlgham,2015-10-05 Designed to fill an overlooked gap this book originally published in 1972 provides a single unified introduction to bibliographical sources of British military history

Moreover it includes guidance in a number of fields in which no similar source is available at all giving information on how to obtain access to special collections and private archives and links military history especially during peacetime with the development of science and technology Famous Airmen William N. J. L. Scott, 2015-01-08 Example in this ebook This book tells the story of Squadron No 60 of the Royal Flying Corps afterwards of the Royal Air Force When the war began in August 1914 the Royal Flying Corps was a very small body which sent four squadrons on active service and had a rudimentary training organisation at home In those days the only functions contemplated for an airman were reconnaissance and occasionally bombing Fighting in the air was almost unknown The aeroplanes were just flying machines of different types but intended to perform substantially the same functions Gradually as the war continued specialisation developed Fighting in the air began machine guns being mounted for the purpose in the aeroplanes Then some aeroplanes were designed particularly for reconnaissance some particularly for fighting some for bombing and so on It was in the early part of this period of specialisation that Squadron No 60 was embodied And as this narrative tells us its main work was fighting in the air It was equipped for the most part with aeroplanes which were called scouts not very felicitously since a scout suggests rather reconnaissance than combat These machines carried only one man were fast easy to manuvre and quick in responding to control They were armed with one or two machine guns and they engaged in a form of warfare new in the history of the world and the most thrilling that can be imagined for each man fought with his own hand trusting wholly to his own skill and that not on his own element but in outrage of nature high in the air surrounded only by the winds and clouds The embodiment of the fighting scout squadrons was part of the expansion and organisation of what became the Royal Air Force

Among all the achievements of the war there has been perhaps nothing more wonderful than the development of the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Naval Air Service and their amalgamation in the great Royal Air Force which fought through the last year of the war When the war opened the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Naval Air Service were bodies of few units ancillary to the Army and the Navy of which the control was in the hands of the Army Council and the Board of Admiralty It was not realised that warfare in the air was a new and distinct type of warfare Generals who would have laughed at the idea of commanding a fleet Admirals who would have shrunk from the leadership of an army corps were quite unconscious of their unfitness to deal with the problems of aerial war Every step therefore of the organisation and expansion of the flying services had to be conducted under the final control of bodies kindly and sympathetic indeed but necessarily ignorant That the Royal Flying Corps attained to its famous efficiency and was expanded more than a hundredfold should earn unforgetting praise for those who were responsible for leading and developing it The country owes a great debt which has not perhaps been sufficiently recognised to Sir David Henderson whose rare gifts of quick intelligence and ready resource must have been taxed to the utmost in his dual position as head of the Flying Corps and member of the Army Council to Sir Sefton Brancker who worked under him in the War Office and to Sir Hugh Trenchard who from the date that Sir David Henderson came back from France to that of the amalgamation of the flying services in the Royal Air Force was in command in France It was the administrative skill of these distinguished men that stood behind the work of the squadrons and made possible their fighting or bombing or reconnaissance And this background of administrative skill and resource must not be forgotten or suffered to be quite outshone by the brilliant gallantry of the pilots and observers To be continue in this ebook New National Aeronautics Magazine ,1942 The Retail Bookseller ,1942 Air War Bibliography, 1939-1945 Myron J. Smith (Jr.),1977 Military Review ,1941
