Skills Development In Sub Saharan Africa:

Skills Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Richard K. Johanson, Arvil V. Adams, 2004-01-01 This publication reviews recent developments within technical and vocational education and training TVET in sub Saharan Africa as well as future challenges in skills development in the region Based upon 70 case studies covering 20 countries it provides a good starting point for the development of country policies and programmes of relevance to other African regions as well as countries in other regions facing similar challenges Issues discussed include the labour market context reform of public training programmes regulation of non government training institutions enterprise based training building skills for the informal economy balancing cost effectiveness with growth and equity and financing Improving Skills Development in the Informal Sector

Arvil V. Adams, Sara Johansson de Silva, Setareh Razmara, 2013-07-18 This book uses household surveys in five countries of Sub Saharan Africa to describe employment off the farm in the region s growing informal sector and assesses how different forms of education and training including apprenticeships influence choices in employment and earnings

The Skills Balancing Act in Sub-Saharan Africa Omar Arias, David K. Evans, Indhira Santos, 2019-01-31 Despite strong recent economic growth Sub Saharan Africa has levels of economic transformation poverty reduction and skill development far below those of other regions Smart investments in developing skills aligned with the policy goals of productivity growth inclusion and adaptability can help to accelerate the region s economic transformation in the 21st century Sub Saharan Africa s growing working age population presents a major opportunity to increase shared prosperity Countries in the region have invested heavily in building skills public expenditure on education increased sevenfold over the past 30 years and more children are in school today than ever before Yet systems for building skills in this population have fallen short and these shortcomings significantly impede economic prospects In half of the countries fewer than two in every three children complete primary school even fewer reach and complete higher levels of education Learning outcomes have been persistently poor leading to substantial gaps in basic cognitive skills literacy and numeracy among children young people and adults The literacy rate of the adult population is below 50 percent in many countries functional literacy and numeracy rates are even lower Systemwide change is required to achieve significant progress Multiple agencies at the central and local levels are involved in skills development strategies making skills everyone s problem but no one s responsibility Policies and reforms need to build capacity for evidence based policies and create incentives to align the behaviors of all stakeholders with the pursuit of national skills development goals The Skills Balancing Act in Sub-Saharan Africa Investing in Skills for Productivity Inclusivity and Adaptability lays out evidence to inform the policy choices that countries will make in skill investments Each chapter addresses a set of specific questions drawing on original analysis and synthesis of existing studies to explore key areas How the skills appropriate to each stage of the life cycle are acquired and what market and institutional failures affect skills formation What systems are needed for individuals to access these skills including family investments private sector institutions schools and other public programs How those systems can be strengthened How the most vulnerable individuals those who fall outside the standard systems and have missed critical building blocks in skills acquisition can be supported Countries will face trade offs often stark ones that will have distributional impacts and a bearing on their development path Committed leaders reform coalitions and well coordinated policies are essential for taking on the skills balancing act in Sub Saharan Africa

Tourism and Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Marina Novelli, 2015-09-16 Over the past 20 years the perception of tourism as an effective contributor to socio economic development in the developing world has propagated with many viewing tourism as a provider for poverty alleviation and towards other UN Millennium Development Goals Over the same period readers have become familiar with the paradoxes complexities and inequalities of tourism in relation to development wealth creation growth redistribution governance and hosts guests relationships This volume further extends this critical debate with a much needed cohesive publication on Sub Sahara Africa SSA In an era of fluctuating tourist arrivals at global level the growth of tourism in SSA requires deeper consideration in terms of its inconsistent and questionable implications at local level Taking as a central theme the debate on whether tourism should be used in development efforts this book examines the way in which tourism has controversially become the way forward to development in several SSA locations and assesses bottlenecks to sustainable development as well as dilemmas and challenges faced by those SSA destinations seeking to achieve development through tourism It offers an explicit set of chapters adopting a multi disciplinary approach drawing upon tourism studies human geography sociology anthropology political economy development and environmental studies and integrates case studies authored by local African practitioners and academics to produce a book that gave voice to local experts on local realities Combining an overview of key theories concepts contemporary issues and debates as well as practical insights from a wide range of regions in SSA this book will be a valuable resource for those investigating the role of tourism in development

Imperative of Skills Development for the Structural Transformation of Sub-Saharan Africa Sajitha Bashir, 2015 At the Crossroads Adriaan Verspoor, World Bank, 2008 The challenges of education development in Sub Saharan Africa SSA at the beginning of the 21st century are urgent and unprecedented Faced with persistent gaps in the coverage of primary schooling almost all countries have launched major efforts to ensure that all children will have the opportunity to complete primary education of acceptable quality Concurrently accelerating economic growth and social change are creating an urgent imperative to expand access to further learning to strengthen the human resources base This report provides a timely resource on good practices and potential solutions for developing and sustaining high quality secondary education systems in African countries It contains elements of a roadmap for improving the responsiveness of Africa s secondary education systems to the challenges of the 21st century Its main objective is to facilitate policy dialogue within African countries and between those countries and their development partners This book addresses issues concerning the education of youth about 12 to 18 years old It draws on the outcomes of the Secondary Education in Africa SEIA initiative which supported workshops in Kampala Dakar and Accra and commissioned eight thematic studies and several background papers underpinning key sections of this book The emphasis is on general junior and senior secondary education complementing earlier work on skills development in Sub Saharan Africa Secondary education has generally been neglected in education policy and practice This is now changing but still suffers from being addressed separately from other parts of the system What are needed are secondary education plans that are integrated with longer term national plans for education development

Shifting Understandings of Skills in South Africa Simon A. McGrath, 2004 The South African preoccupation with worker skills and skills acquisition is addressed and analyzed in this compilation of essays on the multiple and shifting meanings of the word skill within the country

The Future of Work in Africa Jieun Choi, Mark A. Dutz, Zainab Usman, 2020-06-26 The Future of Work in Africa focuses on the key themes of creating productive jobs and addressing the needs of those left behind It highlights how global trends especially the adoption of digital technologies may change the nature of work in Sub Saharan Africa by creating new opportunities and challenges It argues that contrary to global fears of worker displacement by new technologies African countries can develop an inclusive future of work with opportunities for lower skilled workers Harnessing these opportunities is however contingent on implementing policies and making productive investments in four main areas These are enabling inclusive digital technologies building human capital for a young rapidly growing and largely low skilled labor force increasing the productivity of informal workers and enterprises and extending social protection coverage to mitigate the risks associated with disruptions to labor markets This companion report to the World Bank's World Development Report 2019 concludes with important policy questions that should guide future research whose findings could lead to more inclusive growth for African nations

Financing Vocational Training in Sub-Saharan Africa Adrian Ziderman, 2003 For developing countries vocational training is a vital component of the drive to enhance productivity stimulate economic competitiveness and lift people out of poverty However training provision in many countries is underfinanced and fragmented and traditional state funded training programs are proving inadequate to the task Financing Vocational Training in Sub Saharan Africa emphasizes the central role that financing strategies should play in enhancing the effectiveness and efficiency of training systems as a whole through incentives greater competition and the integration of private and public provision This book describes the emerging consensus about best practice in the financing of training drawing on experience in Latin America and Asia and testing this consensus against findings from Sub Saharan Africa It sets out the case for financing interventions by governments and scrutinizes the role and effectiveness of national training agencies payroll levies and alternative transfer mechanisms for institutional funding This discussion draws on lessons from the experience of Kenya South Africa Tanzania and Zimbabwe The book will be of particular interest to policymakers and practitioners of vocational training in developing countries to development policy analysts and to students and scholars of education and training systems worldwide

Skills Development in the Informal Sector of Sub-Saharan Africa Arvil V. Adams, 2008 Since first recognized in the early 1970s the informal sector of Sub Saharan Africa has become a growing source of employment for large numbers of youths but also older workers pursuing entrepreneurial goals and others adjusting to structural changes in the region s employment Initially viewed as a safety net for those unable to find employment in the modern sector the image of the informal sector has begun to change with time and the education of those entering it More workers have begun to view it not as a temporary stop while searching for employment in the formal wage economy but as a preferred destination offering opportunities to those wanting to become entrepreneurs The chapter examines recent research covering measurement of employment in the informal sector impediments to investing in skills within the sector and policies and programs to expand this investment It extends earlier work on this topic done under auspices of the World Bank The purpose is to examine what is currently known about these issues identify gaps in knowledge and offer a strategy for expanding skills development in the informal sector Recent research for example like that mentioned above in Ghana showing the changing character of employment in the informal sector and the prospect of growing returns to skills casts a new light on employment in this sector and merits further inquiry into the robustness of these findings in other countries to deepen our understanding of how skills influence the welfare of those who create their own employment in the informal sector and how the investment in skills can be expanded

Strategies for Sustainable Financing of Secondary Education in Sub-Saharan Africa Keith M. Lewin, 2008-02-27 Investment in secondary schooling in Sub Saharan Africa has been neglected since the World Conference on Education for All at Jomtien The World Education Forum at Dakar began to recognize the growing importance of post primary schooling for development Only 25 percent of school age children attend secondary school in the region and fewer complete successfully having consequences for gender equity poverty reduction and economic growth As universal primary schooling becomes a reality demand for secondary schools is increasing rapidly Gaps between the educational levels of the labor force in Sub Saharan Africa and other regions remain large Girls are more often excluded from secondary schools than boys Secondary schooling costs are high to both governments and households This study explores how access to secondary education can be increased Radical reforms are needed in low enrollment countries to make secondary schooling more affordable and to provide more access to the majority currently excluded The report identifies the rationale for increasing access reviews the status of secondary education in Sub Saharan Africa charts the growth needed in different countries to reach different levels of participation identifies the financial constraints on growth and discusses the reforms needed to make access affordable It concludes with a road map of ways to increase the probability that more of Africa s children will experience secondary schooling

Vocational Education and Training in Sub-Saharan Africa Celestin Mayombe, 2021-09-29 This book analyses the accessibility and success of vocational training programmes for unemployed and disadvantaged youth in Sub Saharan Africa Examining the implementation of vocational education and training programmes the author assesses various internal and external enabling factors that can help foster youth employment In doing so the author presents a solid base for robust and evidence informed practice and policy making for vocational training programmes analysing such themes as employability skills the labour market and work integrated learning It also emphasises the importance of stakeholders taking into account the enabling and disabling environments found in a given local regional or national context It will be of interest to scholars of vocational training programmes in Sub Saharan Africa and elsewhere as well as of youth poverty and unemployment Rural-Urban Linkages and Sustainable Development in Africa Shogo Kudo, Orleans Mfuné, Melissa Hansen, Jackline Nyerere, 2018-10-18

This book highlights the important role of the complex nature of interactions between rural and urban areas in Africa and how this relates to sustainable development on the continent one with a fast urbanization rate The volume critiques the widely held assumption of a societal divide where rural areas are mostly agricultural whilst urban areas engage in industry and services Contributors provide conceptual arguments and present case studies in Africa which illustrate the complex and multifaceted interdependencies between cities and rural areas through the flow of natural resources people capital information goods and services which directly impacts the socio ecological as well as economic sustainability of these spaces This volume forms part of an Education for Sustainable Development in Africa ESDA book series involving the United Nations University Institute for the Advanced Study of Sustainability and 8 partner African universities running Master s Programs in sustainable development The book series is intended to serve primarily as undergraduate and graduate instruction materials for courses on sustainable development in Africa as well as policy input to key developmental issues in Africa Sustaining Skills Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Through Private Sector In-house Skills Programmes Francois Van Vuuren, 2014

Understanding Entrepreneurship in Sub-Saharan Africa Jean Kabongo, Simon Sigué, James Baba Abugre, 2024-03-25 This edited volume provides a comprehensive and up to date understanding of the challenges and opportunities facing entrepreneurs in sub Saharan Africa It adopts a venture ship approach emphasizing the dynamic and uncertain nature of entrepreneurship and underscoring the need for entrepreneurs to continually innovate and adapt to evolving conditions It encompasses a broad spectrum of themes covering the cultural institutional and economic contexts in which entrepreneurial endeavors unfold It also discusses the role of technology and innovation as well as financing and investment in addition to the impact of entrepreneurship on economic development and social change The chapters span diverse subject matter including topics ranging from the cultivation of entrepreneurial culture and the influence of educational systems to the ramifications of political and economic frameworks on entrepreneurial expansion Additionally it addresses the significance of social entrepreneurship the burgeoning presence of female entrepreneurs the transformative effects of digitalization and the consequences of regional and international collaborations They encapsulate the insights and perspectives of an array of stakeholders including researchers scholars entrepreneurs investors and policymakers who have actively engaged with the entrepreneurial landscape in sub Saharan Africa Bringing together contributions from a diverse group of scholars and practitioners this book offers an original multidisciplinary and pragmatic vantage point on entrepreneurship within the region It not only enriches the existing body of literature but also serves as a catalyst for further research and scholarly discourse among entrepreneurship researchers

Education Marginalization in Sub-Saharan Africa Obed Mfum-Mensah,2018-08-15 This book focuses on education policy framework for educating marginalized children in sub Saharan Africa It uses marginality as a critical discourse to highlight the complicated ways education policy making in sub Saharan Africa have constructed and perpetuated marginality in the region since Africa s encounters with Europe The book is organized around two parts each of which discusses a specific dimension of the marginality and education policy nexus Part I focuses on theorizations of marginality and education The theoretical framework on marginality and education outlines the definitional and conceptual backgrounds on marginality the complicated ways policies of the Christian missionaries colonial governments and postcolonial governments constructed and perpetuated marginality in the region Part II focuses on addressing the issue of marginality from theory to practice These chapters highlight the ways policies shaped the educational development schooling processes and educational outcomes of selected marginalized communities and groups Attention is given to schooling in rural communities the complexities of girls education in rural contexts education of Zongo Muslim communities violence in school in rural contexts and education collaboration in rural traditional communities The book argues that education policies in sub Saharan Africa fail to address the educational needs of marginalized children because current policy frameworks are not based on examination of colonial policies which created the existing marginality In order to implement policies that address policy gaps and meet the educational needs of marginalized children strong synergies are necessary between education policy makers other education stakeholders and marginalized communities
