Southern China In Transition:

Southern China in Transition Murdoch University. Asia Research Centre,Australia. East Asia Analytical Unit,1992

Southern China in Transition ,1993-04 Northern and Southern China He Xuefeng,2022-03-07 This edited volume examines regional differences in social structure in rural China and elaborates the characteristics reasons and practical implications to policymaking In contrast to many existing studies the book spotlights regional disparities that stem from the varied social compositions of villages and their social relations in rural areas of Northern Central and Southern China Three types of rural community structures ranging from the north to the south of China are identified including the segmented village comprised of kinship groups with a high degree of atomization and the united village resting on a patrilineage based organization The editor draws on middle range theory organically combining a theoretical framework of the regional variations with empirical studies based on years of fieldwork in rural China This approach is used throughout the book to analyze topics in four aspects family relations social interactions other notable social issues and rural governance The volume will appeal to scholars and students of sociology and Chinese studies as well as general readers interested in rural Chinese society

Economic Transition in Hunan and Southern China A. S. Bhalla,1984-06-18 Southern China in Transition Murdoch University. Asia Research Centre,Australia. East Asia Analytical Unit,1992 Stratigraphy Around the Permian-Triassic Boundary of South China Wei-hong He,G. R. Shi,Jian-xin Yu,Dao-Liang Chu,Ke-Xin Zhang,Hai-Shui Jiang,Ting-Lu Yang,Yi-Fan Xiao,2024-01-16 This book timely provides high quality records of 32 PTB sections across different depositional settings from terrestrial to marine facies in South China including descriptions of lithologies high resolution correlation of key boundaries and fossil occurrences at each section This book also analyzes the patterns and processes of the community and ecosystem evolution over space and through time in the lead to the end Permian mass extinction and critically analyzes the mostly debated hypothesis anoxia and volcanism which were considered as the causes of mass extinction based on the data from the studied sections of South China together with materials from other regions of the world

Red Capitalism in South China George C.S. Lin,2011-11-01 This book describes the dramatic economic and spatial transformation in China s Pearl River Delta region over the past decade Reforms introduced by the Chinese government since 1978 were the cause of this transformation The Pearl River Delta has had the highest recorded rate of economic growth in East Asia and has done so through a pattern of development which differed significantly from that found in other regions of fast growth George Lin reviews the processes by which this remarkable transformation was achieved and discusses the implications of such change Red Capitalism in South China looks at theories of regional development and the patterns of spatial and economic restructuring in the Delta and provides three case studies which focus on the transformation of the peasant economy transport development and the influence of Hong Kong This book represents the best account yet available of the implications of change in South China It examines a phenomenon of particular importance not only because the speed and magnitude of changes taking place in the region are truly fascinating but also because its patterns of growth and development are distinct from those of the Western capitalist world or the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe

China's Challenges and International Order Transition Huiyun Feng, Kai He, 2020-01-30 China's Challenges and International Order Transition introduces an integrated conceptual framework of international order categorized by three levels: power, rules and norms, and three issue areas: security, political and economic. Each contributor engages one or more of these analytical dimensions to examine two questions: 1. Has China already challenged this dimension of international order? 2. How will China challenge this dimension of international order in the future? The contested views and perspectives in this volume suggest it is too simple to assume an inevitable conflict between China and the outside world. With different strategies to challenge or reform the many dimensions of international order, China's role is not a one-way street. It is an interactive process in which the world may change China as much as China may change the world. The aim of the book is to broaden the debate beyond the Thucydides Trap perspective currently popular in the West. Rather than offering a single argument, this volume offers a platform for scholars, especially Chinese scholars vs. Western scholars, to exchange and debate their different views and perspectives on China and the potential transition of international order. The South China Sea

C. J. Jenner, Tran Truong Thuy, 2016-09 The South China Sea has long been a source of conflict and represents a core contemporary security issue in the Indo Asia Pacific region. This book offers an empirical analysis of the global ocean's most contested maritime territory: the South China Sea and its agents of contest. Security Dynamics in the South China Sea Howard M. Hensel, 2024-05-16 This volume examines the South China Sea's regional security dynamics, highlighting the challenges and opportunities for both littoral and non-littoral states. The South China Sea is a vital pathway for the great container ships and tankers as well as for the naval vessels of today. Indeed, the security of the contemporary global economy is reliant more than ever upon the dependability of freedom of navigation through the waters of the South China Sea. This volume concentrates on the security of the South China Sea sub-region. It is designed to help illuminate the contemporary security dynamics within this important sub-region by highlighting its development, the contemporary challenges and opportunities confronting both the littoral states and the non-littoral powers that are active in the sub-region, and the policy responses of those states as they seek to defend and promote their national interests. This book is composed of 16 chapters and is organized into five thematic sections. Part I of the book is designed to set the historical context. Part II examines some of the contemporary challenges and opportunities that present themselves in the sub-region, while Part III focuses on Chinese policy in the South China Sea sub-region. Parts IV and V analyse and evaluate the contemporary policies of the various littoral and non-littoral powers that are active in the South China Sea sub-region. The collective analyses and assessments of the contemporary perceptions and policies of the various littoral and non-littoral powers active in the South China Sea in response to the traditional and non-traditional challenges within the sub-region that are examined in the chapters contained in Parts III IV and V framed against the material presented in Parts I and II provides the basis for observations concerning areas of conflicting and coinciding interests in the concluding chapter of the book This book will be of interest to students of the South China Sea maritime security Asian politics and international relations
