Urban Youth Friendships and Community Practice breaks new ground in identifying and capturing the importance of friendships and the role that community practitioners and scholars can play to enhance them Mayors and the Challenge of Urban Leadership Richard Michael Flanagan, 2004 Big city mayors rank among the most powerful and colorful politicians in America Yet few books focus on the leadership challenges the occupants of the office face Mayors and the Challenge of Urban Leadership examines twelve case studies of mayoral leadership in seven cities from the New Deal era to the beginning of the 21st century The prospects for mayoral success or failure are driven by how mayors manage the fit between political commitments and the broader patterns of political competition City Hall powerhouses like Richard J Daley of Chicago 1954 76 David Lawrence of Pittsburgh 1946 58 Tom Bradley of Los Angeles 1973 83 and Robert F Wagner of New York 1954 65 came to power in times of political crisis They realigned politics in their cities to reinvigorate municipal government and bolster their power In contrast mayors with less redoubtable reputations like Mayors Sam Yorty of Los Angeles 1961 73 Dennis Kucinich of Cleveland 1977 79 Jane Byrne of Chicago 1979 83 and Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia 1972 1980 were outsiders who lost their battles to challenge powerful political coalitions in their cities The new breed mayors of the 1990s among them Rudy Giuliani of New York Dennis Archer of Detroit and Ed Rendell of Philadelphia used modern campaign and governing techniques and scored surprising policy and political victories as a result Mayors and the Challenge of Urban Leadership concludes with a discussion of Mayor Michael Bloomberg of New York elected in the aftermath of the 9 11 attacks as an exemplar of the modern style of governing big cities in the 21st century Negotiating the Livelihoods of Children and Youth in Africa's Urban Spaces Michael Bourdillon, 2012-09-28 This book deals with problems facing children and youth in African cities today African populations have high growth rates and consequently relatively high proportions of young people Population growth in rural areas has stretched resources leading to urban migration and a rapid growth of cities Economies have not grown apace with the population and in some countries economies have even shrunk The result is a severe lack of resources in cities to meet the needs of the growing populations shown in high unemployment inadequate housing poor services and often extreme poverty All the essays in this book draw attention to such urban environments in which children and youth have to live and survive The title of this book speaks of negotiating livelihoods The concept of livelihood has been adopted to incorporate the social and physical environment together with people's responses to it It considers not only material but also human and social resources including local knowledge and understanding It thus considers the material means for living in a broader context of social and cultural interpretation It therefore does not deal only with material and economic existence but also with leisure activities entertainments and other social forms of life developed by young people in response to the dictates of the environment The book contains country specific case studies of the problems faced by youths in many African cities how they develop means to solve them and the various creative ways through which they improve their status both economically and socially in the different urban spaces It recognizes the potentials of young people in taking control of their lives within the constraints imposed upon them by the society This book is a valuable contribution to the field of child and youth development and a useful tool for parents teachers academics researchers as well as government and non government development agencies
