The Social Context of James Ensor's Art Practice Susan M. Canning, 2022-10-20 Vive la Sociale This rousing revolutionary statement written on a bright red banner across the top of James Ensor s Christ s Entry into Brussels in 1889 served as a visual manifesto and call to action by the Belgian artist 1860 1949 one that announced with an insistent public voice the centrality of his art practice to the cultural discourse of modern Belgium This provocative declaration serves as the title for this new study of Ensor s art focusing on its social discourse and the artist's interaction with and at times satirical encounter with his contemporary milieu. Rather than the alienated and traumatized Expressionist given preference in modern art history, Ensor is presented here as an artist of agency and purpose whose art practice engaged the issues and concerns of middle class Belgian life, society and politics and was informed by the values and class, race and gendered perspectives of his time. Ensor's radical vision and oppositional strategy of resistance, self-fashioning and performance remains relevant. This book with its timely nuanced reading of the art and career of this often misunderstood artist's artist invites a re-evaluation not only of Ensor's social context and expressive critique but also his unique contribution to modernist art practice. Architecture in Development

Aggregate Architectural History Collaborative, 2022-04-25. This extensive text investigates how architects, planners and other related experts responded to the contexts and discourses of development after World War II. Development theory did not manifest itself in tracts of economic and political theory alone. It manifested itself in every sphere of expression where economic predicaments might be seen to impinge on cultural factors. Architecture appears in development discourse as a terrain between culture and economics in that practitioners took on the mantle of modernist expression while also acquiring government contracts and immersing themselves in bureaucratic processes. This book considers how for a brief period architects, planners, structural engineers and various practitioners of the built environment employed themselves in designing all the intimate spheres of life but from a consolidated space of expertise. Seen in these terms, development was to cite Arturo Escobar, an immense design project itself, one that requires radical disassembly and rethinking beyond the umbrella terms of global modernism and colonial modernities which risk erasing the sinews of conflict encountered in globalizing and modernizing architecture. Encompassing countries as diverse as Israel, Ghana, Greece, Belgium, France, India, Mexico, the United States, Venezuela, the Philippines, South Korea, Sierra Leone, Singapore, Turkey, Cyprus, Iraq, Zambia and Canada, the set of essays in this book cannot be considered exhaustive nor a field guide in the traditional sense. Instead, it offers theoretical reflections from the field based on extensive archival research. This book sets out to examine the arrays of power, resources, technologies, networking and knowledge that cluster around the term development and the manner in which architects and planners negotiated these thickets in their multiple capacities as knowledge experts, as technicians, as negotiators and as occasional authorities on settlements, space, domesticity, education, health and every other field where arguments for development were made.

From Day to Day Odd Nansen, 2021-04-30. This new hardcover edition of Odd Nansen's diary, the first in over sixty-five years, contains extensive annotations and other material not found in any other hardcover or paperback versions. Nansen, a Norwegian, was arrested in 1942 by the Nazis and spent the remainder of World War II in concentration camps: Grini in Oslo, Veidal above the Arctic Circle and Sachsenhausen in Germany. For three and a half years, Nansen kept a secret diary on tissue paper, thin pages later smuggled out by various means, including inside the prisoners' hollowed-out breadboards. Unlike writers of retrospective Holocaust memoirs, Nansen recorded the mundane and horrific details of camp life as they happened from day to day With an unsparing eye Nansen described the casual brutality and random terror that was the fate of a camp prisoner His entries reveal his constantly frustrated hopes for an early end to the war his longing for his wife and children his horror at the especially barbaric treatment reserved for Jews and his disgust at the anti-Semitism of some of his fellow Norwegians Nansen often confronted his German jailors with unusual outspokenness and sometimes with a sense of humor and absurdity that was not appreciated by his captors After the Putnam's edition received rave reviews in 1949 the book fell into obscurity In 1956 in response to a poll about the most undeservedly neglected book of the preceding quarter century Carl Sandburg singled out From Day to Day calling it an epic narrative which took its place among the great affirmations of the power of the human spirit to rise above terror torture and death Indeed Nansen witnessed all the horrors of the camps yet still saw hope for the future He sought reconciliation with the German people even donating the proceeds of the German edition of his book to German refugee relief work Nansen was following in the footsteps of his father Fridtjof an Arctic explorer and humanitarian who was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1922 for his work on behalf of World War I refugees Fridtjof also created the Nansen passport for stateless persons Forty sketches of camp life and death by Nansen an architect and talented draftsman provide a sense of immediacy and acute observation matched by the diary entries The preface is written by Thomas Buergenthal who was Tommy the ten year old survivor of the Auschwitz Death March whom Nansen met at Sachsenhausen and saved using his extra food rations Buergenthal author of A Lucky Child formerly served as a judge on the International Court of Justice at The Hague and is a recipient of the 2015 Elie Wiesel Award from the US Holocaust Memorial Museum

Recto Verso: Redefining the Sketchbook Dr Angela Bartram, Dr Douglas Gittens, Dr Nader El-Bizri, 2014-06-28 Bringing together a broad range of contributors including art architecture and design academic theorists and historians in addition to practicing artists architects and designers this volume explores the place of the sketchbook in contemporary art and architecture Drawing upon a diverse range of theories practices and reflections common to the contemporary conceptualisation of the sketchbook and its associated environments it offers a dialogue in which the sketchbook can be understood as a pivotal working tool that contributes to the creative process and the formulation and production of visual ideas Along with exploring the theoretical philosophical psychological and curatorial implications of the sketchbook the book addresses emergent digital practices by way of examining contemporary developments in sketchbook productions and pedagogical applications Consequently these more recent developments question the validity of the sketchbook as both an instrument of practice and creativity and as an educational device International in scope it not only explores European intellectual and artistic traditions but also intercultural and cross cultural perspectives including reviews of practices in Chinese artworks or Islamic calligraphy and situational contexts that deal with historical examples such as Roman art or modern practices in geographical cultural regions like Pakistan      Reference Information Paper ,1973
