CROMPTON,1994 Alpine and Polar Treelines in a Changing Environment Gerhard Wieser,2020-04-09 Concerns have been raised with respect to the state of high altitude and high latitude treelines as they are anticipated to undergo considerable modifications due to global changes and especially due to climate warming As high elevation treelines are temperature limited vegetation boundaries they are considered to be sensitive to climate warming As a consequence in this future warmer environment an upward migration of treelines is expected because low air and root zone temperatures constrain their regeneration and growth Despite the ubiquity of climate warming treeline advancement is not a worldwide phenomenon some treelines have been advancing rapidly others have responded sluggishly or have remained stable This variation in responses is attributed to the potential interaction of a continuum of site related factors that may lead to the occurrence of locally conditioned temperature patterns Competition amongst species and below ground resources have been suggested as additional factors explaining the variability in the movement of treelines This Special Issue book is dedicated to the discussion of treeline responses to changing environmental conditions in different areas around the globe Biogeography and Evolution in New Zealand Michael Heads,2016-10-04 Biogeography and Evolution in New Zealand provides the first in depth treatment of the biogeography of New Zealand a region that has been a place of long enduring interest to ecologists evolutionary scientists geographers geologists and scientists in related disciplines It serves as a key addition to the contemporary discussion on regionalization how is New Zealand different from the rest of the world With what other areas does it share its geology history and biota Do new molecular phylogenies show that New Zealand may be seen as a biological parallel universe within global evolution Marine Protected Areas for Whales, Dolphins and Porpoises Erich Hoyt,2012-10-02 The first edition of the widely praised Marine Protected Areas for Whales Dolphins and Porpoises published in 2005 led to numerous new marine
