Sudan The Gezira Scheme And Agricultural Transition:

Sudan Abbas Abdelkarim, Tony Barnett, 2013-12-16 The authors propose that the Gezira scheme has played a paradoxical role in the capitalist transformation of the Sudan reinforcing some non capitalist production relations while at the same time acting as an engine for the peripheral capitalist development Improvising Planned Development on the Gezira Plain, Sudan, 1900-1980 Maurits W. Ertsen, 2015-11-04 The typical image of the Gezira Scheme the large scale irrigation scheme started under British colonial rule in Sudan is of a centrally planned effort by a central colonial power controlling tenants and cotton production However any idea l s of planned irrigation and profit in Gezira had to be realized by African farmers and European officials who both had their own agendas Projects like Gezira are best understood in terms of continuous negotiations This book rewrites Gezira s history in terms of colonial control farmers actions and resistance and the broader development debate Historical Dictionary of the Sudan Robert S. Kramer, Richard A. Lobban Jr., Carolyn Fluehr-Lobban, 2013-03-22 The Republic of the Sudan was long the largest country in Africa and according to the general consensus also one of the least successful in many ways This was not entirely its fault since it lay along the fault line between Muslim and Christian Africa and between the Nile Valley civilizations and African Sudanic cultures This partly explains the long and bloody warfare waged by the Southerners to achieve independence which they did in July 2011 So this hefty book actually covers not one but two states This fourth edition of the Historical Dictionary of the Sudan does so first through a lengthy and detailed chronology tracing its relatively few successes and numerous failures The introductory essay does an admirable job of putting it all in perspective But the most informative part is the dictionary with now over 700 entries for this fourth edition They deal with important personalities politics the economy society culture religion and inevitably the civil war There are also appendixes and an extensive bibliography Frontiers of Medicine in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, 1899-1940 Heather Bell, 1999-06-10 Much recent work on the history of colonial medicine argues that medicine was the handmaiden of colonial power and of capitalism Dr Bell challenges this interpretation through careful investigation of the complicated relationship between medicine politics and capital in the Anglo Egyptian Sudan Subverting the accepted wisdom that colonial medicine consisted primarily of white male doctors treating black patients Dr Bell highlights the important role of women and of African and non European practitioners of Western medicine She moves beyond the realm of medical practice to consider the relationship between medical research and colonial power And she argues that a new international medicine emerged during the interwar period modifying and even supplanting existing colonial relationships Frontiers of Medicine examines the physical epidemiological and professional boundaries that endlessly preoccupies colonial officials Emphasising the tenuousness of colonial power it includes chapters on midwifery training and female circumcision on health and racial ideology and on the quest to find the yellow fever virus in East Africa Accepted wisdom maintains that colonial medicine consisted primarily of white doctors treating black patients that it was mainly about medical practice and that it was driven by colonial relationships Dr Bell subverts these notions with detailed evidence of the participation of women and native Africans as trained medical personnel in the Anglo Egyptian Sudan and demonstrates the tenuousness of colonial power in practice There are chapters on midwifery training and female circumcision on health and racial ideology and on the quest to find yellow fever virus in East Africa Dr Bell also investigates the relationship between colonial power and medical research arguing that a new international medicine emerged during the inter war period

Weaving the Social Networks of Women Migrants in Sudan Awatif Ata Elmannan Elageed, 2008 The Gezira Scheme GS area in the central Sudan is considered a melting pot for migrants of different origins and whose lives are intertwined with the Scheme land This book offers a qualitative analysis of social networks of women migrants of different origins and age groups who are engaged in the agricultural labour force of the GS It looks at the social interactions the diversity of social processes and the functions and functioning of social networks of women that shape their everyday life Special emphasis is given to the means by which women get work opportunities and undertake work negotiations Strategies that women apply to solve problems arising at work and in their private sphere are explored The differential responses concerning ethnicity based differences are analysed A combination of social networks theory and an actor oriented perspective both framed in constructivist terms guided the analysis To illustrate the complete picture of gendered social realities additional notions such as social security and social capital are introduced Evidence shows that women are actors and acquire agency and their social networks serve multiple purposes and facilitate a wide range of settings Examining the social networks by drawing upon a sociological approach provides new insights into the social networks theory and postulates additions to the actor oriented approach and proposes new contributions to both theories

World Histories from Below Antoinette Burton, Tony Ballantyne, 2022-02-10 History has traditionally privileged elites and their accomplishments World Histories from Below provides an antidote placing ordinary people and subordinated subjects at the heart of the themes it explores Arguing that disruption and dissent are overlooked agents of historical change it takes a global view of topics including political revolution religious conversion labour struggles and body politics This 2nd edition includes two additional chapters on indigenous peoples migration and environmental histories from below With an updated preface this enhanced text also includes additional images and case studies to grapple with themes that have more recently come to the fore such as populism and the environment Offering a study of these themes from 1750 to the present day World Histories from Below refocuses our entire approach to teaching world history

Technology and Transition Abdelkader Djeflat, Girma Zawdie, 2014-01-14 The Maghreb countries had a promising start in economic growth after independence For the most part they thrived on industrialisation by import substitution but unfortunately this strategy left them with macroeconomic and structural imbalances which together have effectively constrained their ability to compete in the world economic system and to catch up with the rapidly changing global techno economic circumstances Issues relating to aspects of technology transfer to the Maghreb strategies for technological and resource development and the integration of education and R D systems with the productive systems of the economies in the region are discussed along with relevant cases from Mexico China South Korea India and Bangladesh

War and Underdevelopment: Country experiences Frances Stewart, Edmund Valpy Knox Fitzgerald, 2001 This series traces the economic and social consequences of conflict both theoretically and through empirical investigations including seven country case studies

Making Water Security Hermen Smit, 2020-02-04 This book examines Nile water security through the morphology of the river it uses the always changing form of the river as a theoretical and empirical device to map and understand how infrastructures and discourses dynamically interact with the Nile By bringing a history of two centuries of dam development on the Nile in relation with the drainage of a hill slope in Ethiopia on the one hand and irrigation reform in Sudan on the other the author shows how the scales units and populations figuring in projects to securitize the river emerge through the rearrangement of its water and sediments The analysis of Making water security is more than yet another story of how modern projects of water security have legitimized often violent disposessions of Nile land and water It shows how no water user is confined by the roles assigned by project engineers and planners As ongoing modern development of the river reduces the prospects for new large diversions of water the targeted subjects of development and modernization make use of newly opened spaces to carve out their own projects They creatively mobilize old irrigation and drainage infrastructures in ways that escape the universal logic of water security

Sustainable Development Paul Sillitoe, 2014-08-01 With growing evidence of unsustainable use of the world's resources such as hydrocarbon reserves and related environmental pollution as in alarming climate change predictions sustainable development is arguably the prominent issue of the 21st century This volume gives a wide ranging introduction focusing on the arid Gulf region where the challenges of sustainable development are starkly evident The Gulf relies on non renewable oil and gas exports to supply the world's insatiable CO2 emitting energy demands and has built unsustainable conurbations with water supplies dependent on energy hungry desalination plants and deep aquifers pumped beyond natural replenishment rates Sustainable Development has an interdisciplinary focus bringing together university faculty and government personnel from the Gulf Europe and North America including social and natural scientists environmentalists and economists architects and planners to discuss topics such as sustainable natural resource use and urbanization industrial and technological development economy and politics history and geography

The Post-Colonial State and Civil War in Sudan Noah R. Bassil, 2015-08-25 Since 2003 the ongoing violence and subsequent humanitarian crisis in Darfur has attracted significant international media attention Here Noah R. Bassil offers a re conception of the conflict in Darfur by examining the origins and progression of the conflict through the broader issue of state failure in postcolonial Sudan By moving away from a localised view of the conflict Bassil is able to demonstrate the extent to which the breakdown of social relations in Darfur is interconnected with the wider breakdown of Sudanese and post colonial societies more broadly offering a definitive study of the nexus between international national and local forces and providing a coherent framework for understanding the causes of the civil war that erupted in the Darfur region of Sudan in 2003 The Post Colonial State and Civil War in Sudan offers a thorough examination of the historical development of the Sudanese state from an analysis of the colonial state structure to the post colonial state struggles and from the failure of the state led development project to the impact these had on the Darfur region It therefore demonstrates how Sudan s political instability recurrent civil wars and crisis of identity provide an important context for understanding why Darfur became the location of a major rebellion against the government in 2003 and in fact created the very conditions for conflict in Darfur Looking forward towards peace in post colonial societies Bassil urges the abandonment of neo liberal policies and a return to an international system that is based on building state capacity and state legitimacy as the most effective mechanisms for rebuilding political and social relations in regions that have suffered crises in the post colonial state Rather than examining Darfur as a sui generis conflict through the analysis here it becomes evident that in fact the events in Darfur are far from unusual but part of the wider contemporary demise of the post colonial state building project This book therefore provides a unique examination of the conflict and the wider postcolonial situation making it an important contribution to the fields of History International Relations and Peace Studies
