Spectacle Of Us Senate Campaigns:

The Spectacle of U.S. Senate Campaigns Kim Fridkin Kahn, Kim Fridkin, Patrick J. Kenney, 1999-07-21 This book offers a bold comprehensive look at how campaigns actually work from the framing of issues to media coverage to voters decisions In so doing it challenges the common wisdom that campaigns are a noisy symbolic aspect of electoral politics in which the outcomes are determined mainly by economic variables or presidential popularity Campaigns the authors argue do matter in the political process Examining contested U S Senate races between 1988 and 1992 Kim Kahn and Patrick Kenney explore the details of the candidates strategies and messages the content tone and bias of the media coverage and the attitudes and behaviors of potential voters Kahn and Kenney discover that when the competition between candidates is strong political issues become clearly defined and the voting population responds Through a mix of survey data content analysis and interviews the authors demonstrate how competition influences serious political debates in elections Candidates take stands and compare themselves to their opponents The news media offer more coverage of the races presenting evaluations of the candidates positions critiques of their political careers and analyses of their campaign ads In response the voters pay closer attention to the rhetoric of the candidates as they learn more about central campaign themes often adjusting their own voting criteria The book concentrates on Senate races because of the variance in campaign strategy and spending media coverage and voter reactions but many of the findings apply to elections at all levels Political Consultants and

Campaigns Jason Johnson, 2018-04-19 Political Consultants and Campaigns One Day to Sell examines the differences between how political science theory suggests campaigns should be run and how political consultants actually run campaigns In the wake of consultants who effortlessly move from campaigners to policymakers the dearth of knowledge about the attitudes beliefs and strategies of the consultants themselves is still a glaring absence in the analysis of American politics How can we purport to know what is happening in American political campaigns if we don t know what is on the minds of the men and women who run them This book provides a clearer understanding of modern day political campaigns by revealing what is on the minds of the people who run them With original data from consultants campaign managers and professional campaign schools author Jason Johnson examines consultant behavior on message formation policy positioning candidate recruitment Internet strategy and negative advertising and compares these practices to existing political science theory This groundbreaking research makes Political Consultants and Campaigns One Day to Sell a must have resource for all students of American politics campaign managers or anyone interested in how political campaigns in America are run Cases in
