Sub City Young People Homelessness And Crime:

Sub City: Young People, Homelessness and Crime Julia Wardhaugh, 2017-07-05 Documenting young people's experiences of homelessness crime and danger this book analyzes the construction of homelessness as a social and legal problem. It addresses themes of home and homelessness exclusion and marginality and risk and urban incivilities. Victims, Crime and Society Pamela Davies, Peter Francis, Chris Greer, 2007-11-18 Focusing on key issues themes and concepts within victimology this edited collection provides an accessible and comprehensive critical analysis of crucial areas within victimisation. The main theories are related to and integrated with empirical research in an engaging style. Dr Anette Ballinger Keele University. This book achieves the rare feat of helping its readers without patronising them. The aids to the reader tables boxes glossaries questions and suggestions for further reading will prove genuinely helpful to students and their teachers but they appear within a text that is theoretically informed as well as comprehensive and up to date in its coverage. It deserves to be widely read and used in the teaching of criminology victimology and criminal justice. Professor David Smith University of Lancaster UK. Organized around the intersecting social divisions of class race age and gender the book provides an engaging and authoritative overview of the nature of victimisation in society. In addition to a review of the major theoretical developments in relation to understanding aspects of victimization in society individual chapters explore the political and social context of victimisation and the historical comparative and contemporary research and scholarly work on it. Each chapter includes the following: Background and glossary Theory research and policy review Thinking critically about sections Reflections and future research directions Summary and conclusions Annotated bibliography. Victims Crime and Society is the essential text on victims for students of criminology criminal justice community safety youth justice and related areas. Crime and Inequality Chris Grover, 2013-09-13 This book examines key relationships between material circumstances and crime and analyzes the areas of social policy in particular social security and labour market policy that are most important in terms of dealing with inequality at the lower end of the income hierarchy. It seeks to explain why inequality is linked to offending behaviour and the evidence underpinning explanations for this and looks in detail at the relationship between offending and anti social behaviour and its management through social policy interventions. Crime and Inequality draws upon both criminological and social policy approaches to understand this vital relationship moving beyond criminological approaches which often fail to analyse the way the state attempts to manage poor material circumstance offending and anti social behaviour through social policy. The main aims of the book are threefold: to draw upon the disciplines of both criminology and social policy to understand the relationship between crime and inequality; to provide an in depth analysis of those aspects of social policy that have a bearing on the context management and punishment of offending behaviour; to examine government crime and anti social behaviour policies in the context of social security and labour market policies and to identify the tensions that have resulted from attempts to address social justice issues while also making individuals responsible for their actions      Young Homeless People and Urban Space Emma Jackson, 2015-07-16 This ethnographic exploration of contemporary spaces of homelessness takes an expanded view of homeless space threading together experiences of organizational spaces routes taken through the city and the occupation of public space Through engaging with participants accounts of movement and place the book argues that young homeless people become fixed in mobility a condition that impacts on both everyday life and possible futures Based on an innovative multi method study of a day centre in London for young homeless people the book contextualizes spaces of homelessness within the social relations and flows of people that produce the world city The book considers how the biographical and everyday trajectories of young homeless people intersect with place attachments and forms of governance to produce urban homeless spaces It provides a new angle on the city made by movement foregrounding the impact of mobilities shaped by loss violence and the search for opportunity The book draws on mental maps photography interviews and observation in order to produce an engaging and rich ethnographic account of young homeless people in the city      International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home, 2012-10-09 Available online via SciVerse ScienceDirect or in print for a limited time only The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home Seven Volume Set is the first international reference work for housing scholars and professionals that uses studies in economics and finance psychology social policy sociology anthropology geography architecture law and other disciplines to create an international portrait of housing in all its facets from meanings of home at the microscale to impacts on macro economy This comprehensive work is edited by distinguished housing expert Susan J Smith together with Marja Elsinga Ong Seow Eng Lorna Fox O Mahony and Susan Wachter and a multi disciplinary editorial team of 20 world class scholars in all Working at the cutting edge of their subject liaising with an expert editorial advisory board and engaging with policy makers and professionals the editors have worked for almost five years to secure the quality reach relevance and coherence of this work A broad and inclusive table of contents signals or testifies to detailed investigation of historical and theoretical material as well as in depth analysis of current issues This seven volume set contains over 500 entries listed alphabetically but grouped into seven thematic sections including methods and approaches economics and finance environments home and homelessness institutions policy and welfare and well being Housing professionals both academics and practitioners will find The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home useful for teaching discovery and research needs International in scope engaging with trends in every world region The editorial board and contributors are drawn from a wide constituency collating expertise from academics policy makers professionals and practitioners and from every key center for housing research Every entry stands alone on its merits and is accessed alphabetically yet each is fully cross referenced and attached to one of seven thematic categories whose wholes far exceed the sum of their parts      Invisible Victims Laura Huey, 2012-01-01 Despite Western society's preoccupation with safety and protection its most vulnerable members still lack access to the level of security that many of us take for granted In this trailblazing study Laura Huey illustrates the issue of a security gap faced by increasing homeless populations while they are among the most likely victims of crime they are also among the least served by existing forms of state and private security Invisible Victims presents the first comprehensive integrated study of the risks faced by homeless people and their attempts to find safety and security in often dangerous environments Huey draws not only on current debates on security within criminology but also on a decade s worth of her own field research on the victimization and policing of the homeless A theoretically and empirically informed examination of the myriad issues affecting the homeless Invisible Victims makes a compelling case for society to provide necessary services and above all a basic level of security for this population      Encyclopedia of Race and Ethnic Studies Ellis Cashmore,2004-03-01 Developed from the critically acclaimed and commercially successful Dictionary of Race and Ethnic Relations now in its fourth edition Encyclopedia of Race and Ethnic Studies has been assembled by a world class team of international scholars led by Ellis Cashmore to provide an authoritative single volume reference work on all aspects of race and ethnic studies From Aboriginal Australians to xenophobia Nelson Mandela to Richard Wagner sexuality to racial profiling the Encyclopedia is organized alphabetically and reflects cultural diversity in a global context The entries range from succinct 400 word definitions to in depth 2000 word essays to provide comprehensive coverage of all the key terms concepts and debates important figures both historical and contemporary landmark cases historical events Although unafraid to engage with cutting edge theory the Encyclopedia is uncluttered by jargon and has been written in a lucid facts fronted style to offer an accessible introduction to race and ethnic studies The Encyclopedia is also fully cross referenced and thoroughly indexed with most entries followed by annotated up to date suggestions for further reading to guide the user to the key sources It is destined to become an essential resource for scholars and students of race and ethnic studies as well as a handy reference for journalists and others working in the field      Street Kids Kristina E. Gibson,2011-05-09 Street outreach workers comb public places such as parks vacant lots and abandoned waterfronts to search for young people who are living out in public spaces if not always in the public eye Street Kids opens a window to the largely hidden world of street youth drawing on their detailed and compelling narratives to give new insight into the experiences of youth homelessness and youth outreach Kristina Gibson argues that the enforcement of quality of life ordinances in New York City has spurred hyper mobility amongst the city s street youth population and has serious implications for social work with homeless youth Youth in motion have become socially invisible and marginalized from public spaces where social workers traditionally contact them jeopardizing their access to the already limited opportunities to escape street life The culmination of a multi year ethnographic investigation into the lives of street outreach workers and their kids on the streets of New York City Street Kids illustrates the critical role that public space regulations and policing play in shaping the experience of youth homelessness and the effectiveness of street outreach      Encyclopedia of Criminology J. Mitchell Miller,Richard A. Wright,2013-12-17 This three volume work offers a comprehensive review of the pivotal concepts measures theories and practices that comprise criminology and criminal justice No longer just a subtopic of sociology criminology has become an independent academic field of study that incorporates scholarship from numerous disciplines including psychology political science behavioral science law economics public health family studies social work and many others The three volume Encyclopedia of Criminology presents the latest research as well as the traditional topics which reflect the field's multidisciplinary nature in a single authoritative reference work More than 525 alphabetically arranged entries by the leading authorities in the discipline comprise this definitive international resource The pivotal concepts measures theories and practices of the field are addressed with an emphasis on comparative criminology and criminal justice While the primary focus of the work is on American criminology and contemporary criminal justice in the United States extensive global coverage of other nations justice systems is included and the increasing international nature of crime is explored thoroughly Providing the most up to date scholarship in addition to the traditional theories on criminology the Encyclopedia of Criminology is the essential one stop reference for students and scholars alike to explore the broad expanse of this multidisciplinary field

Demystifying Power, Crime and Social Harm David Gordon Scott,Joe Sim,2023-12-29 This collection revisits Steven Box's book Power Crime and Mystification published in 1983 and considers its relevance forty years on It introduces the critical analysis developed by Box which examined corporate crime police crime rape and sexual assault and female crime and analyses the continuities and discontinuities since 1983 in relation to crime the state and the exercise mystification of power The book explores the ways in which we can see his influence nationally and internationally on critical criminological zemiological and abolitionist writings today It asks how can these perspectives be applied to a critical analysis of contemporary state authoritarianism and the criminal injustice that this authoritarianism generates Additionally how can Box's concepts shine a critical light on contemporary social harms that were not covered in the original book The collection provides a toolkit for students and academics to critically analyse the issues around crime social harm power powerlessness truth mystification criminal injustice social justice as well as historical and contemporary sites of resistance confronting the exercise of state power Britain Since 1945 Peter Leese, 2006-09-21 Britain since 1945 is an ideal introductory text for students of British Studies cultural studies and modern British history Assuming no prior knowledge Leese offers students of all backgrounds both the essential chronological grounding and vital insight into the issues of identity necessary for a full understanding of contemporary Britain

Values in Criminology and Community Justice Malcolm Cowburn, Marian Duggan, Anne Robinson, Paul Senior, 2015-03-18 The way we think about crime and the way that society responds to it are imbued with values that can determine what is considered important and what gets attention Sometimes values that are claimed may not be the values expressed in practice as we see in the multiple and confusing discourses about victims and offenders punishment and protection rights and responsibilities This collection of writings considers values in crime theory criminal justice and research practice uncovering the many different sides to echo Howard Becker's famous phrase that criminologists policy makers and researchers take It spans Marxist postmodernist and feminist perspectives on criminology analyses of the dynamics of race gender and age research methods and ethics the working of the criminal justice system and engages with current debates about new challenges for criminology such as the green movement and Islamophobia This is a timely and thought provoking collection which will be of interest to academics and students in criminology and criminal justice and on professional courses such as probation and youth justice practice

Narratives of Loneliness Olivia Sagan, Eric Miller, 2017-09-28 Rising life expectancies and declining social capital in the developed world mean that an increasing number of people are likely to experience some form of loneliness in their lifetimes than ever before Narratives of Loneliness tackles some of the most pressing issues related to loneliness showing that whilst recent policies on social integration community building and volunteering may go some way to giving an illusion of not being alone ultimately they offer a rhetoric of togetherness that may be more seductive than ameliorative as the condition and experience of loneliness is far more complex than commonly perceived Containing thought provoking contributions from researchers and commentators in several countries this important work challenges us to rethink some of the burning issues of our day with specific reference to the causes and consequences of loneliness Topics include the loneliness and mental health of military personnel loneliness and social media loneliness and sexuality urban loneliness and the experiences of transnational movement and adopted children This book therefore makes an overdue multidisciplinary contribution to the emerging debate about how best to deal with loneliness in a world that combines greater and faster connectedness on the one hand with more intensely experienced isolation on the other Since mile Durkheim first claimed that the structure of society could have a strong bearing on psychological health in the 1890s researchers in a range of disciplines have explored the probable impact of social context on mental health and wellbeing Interdisciplinary in approach Narratives of Loneliness will therefore be of great interest to academics postgraduate students and researchers in social sciences the arts psychology and psychiatry      Beside One's Self Catherine Robinson, 2011-05-24 What is it to feel homeless How does it feel to be without the orienting geography of home Going beyond homelessness as a housing issue this book uniquely explores the embodied emotional experiences of homelessness In doing so Robinson reveals much about existing gaps in service responses in community perceptions and in the ways in which homelessness most often becomes visible as a problem for policy makers She argues that the emotional dimension of displacement must be central to contemporary practices of researching understanding writing and responding to homelessness She situates the issue of homelessness at the nexus of important broader intellectual and methodological developments that take bodily and spatial experience as their starting point Drawing on field research and interviews Robinson details the lives of homeless individuals in Sydney Australia The moving narratives of these individuals bear witness to the key experiences of corporeal fragmentation geographical detachment and social alienation At the book's core lies a call to legitimize scholarly work that focuses on emotions particularly trauma facilitating researchers and policy makers to explore new avenues for evaluating service delivery Beside One's Self bridges the divide between research that has policy implications and research that makes theoretical contributions      Needed by Nobody Tova Höjdestrand, 2011-03-15 Homelessness became a conspicuous facet of Russian cityscapes only in the 1990s when the Soviet criminalization of vagrancy and similar offenses was abolished In spite of the host of social and economic problems confronting Russia in the demise of Soviet power the social dislocation endured by increasing numbers of people went largely unrecognized by the state Being homeless carries a special burden in Russia where a permanent address is the precondition for all civil rights and social benefits and where homelessness is often regarded as a result of laziness and drinking rather than external factors In Needed by Nobody the anthropologist Tova Höjdestrand offers a nuanced portrait of homelessness in St Petersburg Based on ethnographic work at railway stations soup kitchens and other places where the homeless gather Höjdestrand describes the material and mental world of this marginalized population They are she observes not needed in two senses The state considers them in effect as noncitizens At the same time they stand outside the traditionally intimate social networks that are the real safety net of life in postsocialist Russia As a result they are deprived of the prerequisites for dealing with others in ways that they themselves value as decent and human Höjdestrand investigates processes of social exclusion as well as the remaining world of waste things tasks and places that are wanted by nobody else and on which human leftovers are forced to survive In this bleak context Höjdestrand takes up the intimate worlds of the homeless their social relationships dirt and cleanliness and physical appearance Her interviews with homeless people show that the indigent have a very good idea of what others think of them and that they are liable to reproduce the stigma that is attached to them even as they attempt to negotiate it This unique and often moving portrait of life on the margins of society in the new Russia ultimately reveals how human dignity may be retained in the absence of its very preconditions      The Ethics of Space Steph Grohmann, 2020-03-01

Across the Western world full membership of society is established through entitlements to space and formalized in the institutions of property and citizenship Those without such entitlements are deemed less than fully human as they struggle to find a place where they can symbolically and physically exist Written by an anthropologist who accidentally found herself homeless The Ethics of Space is an unprecedented account of what happens when homeless people organize to occupy abandoned properties Set against the backdrop of economic crisis austerity and a disintegrating British state Steph Grohmann tells the story of a flourishing squatter community in the city of Bristol and how it was eventually outlawed by the state The first ethnography of homelessness done by a researcher who was formally homeless throughout fieldwork this volume explores the intersection between spatial existence subjectivity and ethics The result is a book that rethinks how ethical views are shaped and constructed through our own spatial existences

England's Other Countrymen Onyeka Nubia, 2019-06-15 The Tudor period remains a source of timeless fascination with endless novels TV programmes and films depicting the period in myriad ways And yet our image of the Tudor era remains overwhelmingly white This ground breaking and provocative new book seeks to redress the balance revealing not only how black presence in Tudor England was far greater than has previously been recognised but that Tudor conceptions of race were far more complex than we have been led to believe Onyeka Nubia's original research shows that Tudors from many walks of life regularly interacted with people of African descent both at home and abroad revealing a genuine pragmatism towards race and acceptance of difference Nubia also rejects the influence of the Curse of Ham myth on Tudor thinking persuasively arguing that many of the ideas associated with modern racism are in fact relatively recent developments England's Other Countrymen is a bravura and eloquent forgotten history of diversity and cultural exchange and casts a new light on our own attitudes towards race

Race and Probation Sam Lewis, 2013-05-13 The issue of minority ethnic groups experiences of the criminal justice process and in particular whether they are subject to disadvantageous treatment has received much attention in recent years following high profile events such as the publication of the Macpherson report in 1999 and the riots involving British born Asian youths in northern towns in 2001 At the same time there has been a burgeoning body of research evidence about the needs and experiences of minority ethnic offenders the behaviour of racially motivated offenders and concern with What Works to reduce recidivism by members of both groups This book reviews this field drawing upon the largest study of minority ethnic probationers ever conducted in Europe and seeks to understand the stark contrast between the experience of white and black minority ethnic people in some areas of the criminal justice system Part 1 of the book sets out the context of recent policy research and practice initiatives Part 2 focuses on the needs and experiences of minority ethnic offenders Part 3 discusses aspects of recent practice and policy Part 4 reviews conclusions and the way forward Race and Probation also contributes to the wider debate about race and crime The lessons learned will be of key importance as new arrangements linked to NOMS National Offender Management Service come in to place It will be essential reading for probation trainees and students of criminal justice for probation practitioners and managers and for academics and researchers in the field

Moralising Poverty Serena Romano, 2017-07-14 Do we judge the poor Do we fear them Do we have a moral obligation to help those in need The moral and social grounds of solidarity and deservedness in relation to aid for poor people are rarely steady This is particularly true under contemporary austerity reforms where current debates question exactly who is most deserving of protection in times of crisis These arguments have accompanied a rise in the production of negative and punitive sentiments towards the poor This book breaks new ground in the discussion of the moral dimension of poverty and its implications for the treatment of the poor in mature welfare states drawing upon the diverse political social and symbolic constructions of deservedness and otherness It takes a new look at the issue of poverty from the perspective of public policy media and public opinion It also examines in a topical manner the various ways in which certain factions contribute to the production of stereotyped representations of poverty and to the construction of boundaries between insiders and outsiders in our society Case studies from the UK and Italy are used to examine these issues and to understand the impact that a moralising of poverty has on the everyday experiences of the poor This is valuable reading for students and researchers interested in contemporary social work social policy and welfare systems
