Jung and the Postmodern Christopher Hauke, 2013-10-23 What has Jung to do with the Postmodern Chris Hauke's lively and provocative book puts the case that Jung's psychology constitutes a critique of modernity that brings it in line with many aspects of the postmodern critique of contemporary culture The metaphor he uses is one in which we are gazing through a Jungian transparency or filter being held up against the postmodern while from the other side we are also able to look through a transparency or filter of the postmodern to gaze at

Jung From either direction there will be a new and surprising vision Setting Jung against a range of postmodern thinkers Hauke recontextualizes Jung's thought as a response to modernity placing it sometimes in parallel and sometimes in contrast to various postmodern discourses Including chapters on themes such as meaning knowledge and power the contribution of architectural criticism to the postmodern debate Nietzsche's perspective theory of affect and Jung's complex theory representation and symbolization constructivism and pluralism this is a book which will find a ready audience in academy and profession alike The Fantasy Principle Michael Vannoy Adams,2004 The Fantasy Principle makes a strong case for a new school of psychoanalysis the school of imaginal psychology It radically affirms the centrality of imagination and emphasizes the transformative impact of images Tim Burton: The Monster and the Crowd Helena Bassil-Morozow,2013-12-16 Tim Burton's films are well known for being complex and emotionally powerful In this book Helena Bassil Morozow employs Jungian and post Jungian concepts of unconscious mental processes along with film semiotics analysis of narrative devices and cinematic history to explore the reworking of myth and fairytale in Burton's gothic fantasy world The book explores the idea that Burton's lonely rebellious monstrous protagonists roam the earth because they are unable to fit into the normalising tendencies of society and become part of the crowd Divided into six chapters the book considers the concept of the archetype in various settings focusing on the child the monster the superhero the genius the maniac the monstrous society Tim Burton The Monster and the Crowd offers an entirely fresh perspective on Tim Burton's works The book is essential reading for students and scholars of film or Jungian psychology as well as anyone interested in critical issues in contemporary culture It will also be of great help to those fans of Tim Burton who have been searching for a profound academic analysis of his works Counselling Psychology Professor Petruska Clarkson,2013-11-12 Counselling psychology a rapidly expanding mental health discipline is rooted in academic psychology and therefore has unique potential of develop and sustain a powerful model for the integration of research and practice This is the argument of this pioneering book which brings together contributions from many leading counselling psychologists to show how practitioners are already working along these lines and how the model can be developed for the future The aim of the book is to bridge the divide between academic psychology and counselling practice and to encourage professionals to bring ethically aware and culturally sensitive research into the consulting room It provides a secure grounding for trainees and an excellent resource for experience practitioners Counselling Psychology defines and contextualizes the discipline examines its potential for future development shows how research integrated with supervised practice can be applied in professional settings The Therapist'S Use Of Self Rowan, John,Jacobs, Michael,2002-10-01 This book deals with what is perhaps the central question in therapy who is the therapist And how does that actually come across and manifest itself in the therapeutic relationship A good deal of the thinking about this in psychoanalysis has come under the heading of countertransference Much of the thinking in the humanistic approaches has come under such headings as empathy genuineness nonpossessive warmth
