Queering the Subversive Stitch Joseph McBrinn, 2021-04-08 The history of men's needlework has long been considered a taboo subject This is the first book ever published to document and critically interrogate a range of needlework made by men It reveals that since medieval times men have threaded their own needles stitched and knitted woven lace handmade clothes as well as other kinds of textiles and generally delighted in the pleasures and possibilities offered by all sorts of needlework Only since the dawn of the modern age in the eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries did needlework become closely aligned with new ideologies of the feminine Since then men's needlework has been read not just as feminising but as queer In this groundbreaking study Joseph McBrinn argues that needlework by male artists as well as anonymous tailors sailors soldiers convalescents paupers prisoners hobbyists and a multitude of other men and boys deserves to be looked at again Drawing on a wealth of examples of men's needlework as well as visual representations of the male needleworker in museum collections from artist's papers and archives in forgotten magazines and specialist publications popular novels and children's literature and even in the history of photography film and television he surveys and analyses many of the instances in which needlemen have contested resisted and subverted the constrictive ideals of modern masculinity This audacious original carefully researched and often amusing study demonstrates the significance of needlework by men in understanding their feelings agency identity and history

New Feminist Art Criticism Katy Deepwell, 1995 This text reviews feminist art strategies as they emerged in the late 1980s and early 1990s in America and the UK It draws together the views of prominent practitioners critics academics and curators on a broad range of controversial issues The central focus of the book is feminism's engagement with psychoanalysis and post modernism and its aim of deconstructing the borders between art and craft and theory and practice Feminist politics in the art world are also investigated through discussion of the negotiations of feminist curators responses to feminist exhibitions issues surrounding pornography and the censorship of women's work and the role of feminist teaching on fine art and design degree courses The book covers a variety of art work including installation work painting textiles and photography

Needlework and Women's Identity in Colonial Australia Lorinda Cramer, 2019-09-05 In gold rush Australia social identity was in flux gold promised access to fashionable new clothes a grand home and the goods to furnish it but could not buy gentility Needlework and Women's Identity in Colonial Australia explores how the wives mothers sisters and daughters who migrated to the newly formed colony of Victoria used their needle skills as a powerful claim to social standing Focusing on one of women's most common daily tasks the book examines how needlework's practice and products were vital in the contest for social position in the turmoil of the first two decades of the Victorian rush from 1851 Placing women firmly at the center of colonial history it explores how the needle became a tool for stitching together identity From decorative needlework to household making and mending women's sewing was a vehicle for establishing and maintaining social status. Interdisciplinary in scope, Needlework and Women's Identity in Colonial Australia draws on material culture, written primary sources, and pictorial evidence to create a rich portrait of the objects and manners that defined genteel goldfields living. Giving voice to women's experiences and positioning them as key players in the fabric of gold rush society, this volume offers a fresh critical perspective on gender and textile history.

Dress Culture in Late Victorian Women's Fiction Christine Bayles Kortsch, 2016-05-13. In her immensely readable and richly documented book, Christine Bayles Kortsch asks us to shift our understanding of late Victorian literary culture by examining its inextricable relationship with the material culture of dress and sewing. Even as the Education Acts of 1870, 1880, and 1891 extended the privilege of print literacy to greater numbers of the populace, stitching samplers continued to be a way of acculturating girls in both print literacy and what Kortsch terms dress culture. Kortsch explores nineteenth-century women's education, sewing, and needlework; mainstream fashion; alternative dress movements; working-class labor in the textile industry; and forms of social activism, showing how dual literacy in dress and print cultures linked women writers with their readers. Focusing on Victorian novels written between 1870 and 1900, Kortsch examines fiction by writers such as Olive Schreiner, Ella Hepworth Dixon, Margaret Oliphant, Sarah Grand, and Gertrude Dix, with attention to influential predecessors like Elizabeth Gaskell, Charlotte Brontë, and George Eliot. Periodicals, with their juxtaposition of journalism, fiction, and articles on dress and sewing, are particularly fertile sites for exploring the close linkages between print and dress cultures. Informed by her examinations of costume collections in British and American museums, Kortsch's book broadens our view of New Woman fiction and its relationship both to dress culture and to contemporary women's fiction.

Contemporary Art and Feminism Jacqueline Millner, Catriona Moore, 2021-07-05. This important new book examines contemporary art while foregrounding the key role feminism has played in enabling current modes of artmaking, spectatorship, and theoretical discourse. Contemporary Art and Feminism carefully outlines the links between feminist theory and practice of the past four decades of contemporary art and offers a radical re-reading of the contemporary movement. Rather than focus on filling in the gaps of accepted histories by adding the missing female, queer, First Nations, and women artists of colour, the authors seek to revise broader understandings of contemporary practice by providing case studies contextualised in a robust art historical and theoretical basis. Readers are encouraged to see where art ideas come from and evaluate past and present art strategies. What strategies, materials, or tropes are less relevant in today's networked, event-driven art economies? What strategies and themes should we keep hold of or develop in new ways? This is a significant and innovative intervention that is ideal for students in courses on contemporary art, within fine arts, visual studies, history of art, gender studies, and queer studies.

Milton and the Politics of Public Speech Helen Lynch,2016-04-22 Using Hannah Arendt s account of the Greek polis to explain Milton s fascination with the idea of public speech this study reveals what is distinctive about his conception of a godly republican oratory and poetics The book shows how Milton uses rhetorical theory its ideas techniques and image patterns to dramatise the struggle between good and bad oratory and to fashion his own model of divinely inspired public utterance Connecting his polemical and imaginative writing in new ways the book discusses the subliminal rhetoric at work in Milton s political prose and the systematic scrutiny of the power of oratory in his major poetry By setting Milton in the context of other Civil War polemicists of classical political theory and its early modern reinterpretations and of Renaissance writing on rhetoric and poetic language the book sheds new light on his work across several genres culminating in an extended Arendtian reading of his Greek drama Samson Agonistes

The Nineteenth-century Visual Culture Reader Vanessa R. Schwartz,Jeannene M. Przyblyski,2004 The nineteenth century is central to contemporary discussions of visual culture This reader brings together key writings on the period exploring such topics as photographs exhibitions and advertising

Women and museums 1850-1914 Kate Hill,2016-07-01 This book recovers the significant contribution made by women to museums not just in obvious roles such as workers but also as donors visitors volunteers and patrons It suggests that women persistently acted to domesticate the museum by importing domestic objects and domestic regimes of value as well as by making museums more welcoming to children and even by stressing the importance of housekeeping at the museum At the same time women sought masculine careers in science and curatorship but found such aspirations hard to achieve their contribution tended to be kept within clear feminised areas The book will be of interest to those working on gender culture or museums in the period It sheds new light on women s material culture and material strategies education and professional careers and leisure practices It will form an important historical context for those working in contemporary museum studies

The Rise and Fall of Art Needlework Linda Cluckie,2008 Cluckie explores the growth and development of Art Embroidery in Britain circa 1870 1890 giving special consideration to the support received from the art establishment in designing for and educating embroiderers This thesis demonstrates the hidden workforce s contribution to the British economy

Female Devotion and Textile Imagery in Medieval English Literature Anna McKay,2024 Uncovers the female voices lived experiences and spiritual insights encoded by the imagery of textiles in the Middle Ages For millennia women have spoken and read through cloth The literature and art of the Middle Ages are replete with images of women working cloth wielding spindles distaffs and needles or sitting at their looms Yet they have been little explored Drawing upon the burgeoning field of medieval textile studies as well as contemporary theories of gender materiality and eco criticism this study illustrates how textiles provide a hermeneutical alternative to the patriarchally dominated written word It puts forward the argument that women s devotion during this period was a fabricated phenomenon a mode of spirituality and religious exegesis expressed devised and practised through cloth Centred on four icons of female devotion Eve Mary St Veronica and of course Christ the book explores a broad range of narratives from across the rich tapestry of medieval English literature from the fields of Piers Plowman to the late medieval Morte D arthur the devotions of Margery Kempe to the visionary experiences of Julian of Norwich Gervase of Tilbury s fabulous Otia Imperialia to the anchoritic guidance literature of the Middle Ages and the innumerable and oft forgotten lives of Christ prayers legends and miracle tales in between
