American Dementia Daniel R. George,Peter J. Whitehouse,2021-09-14 Have the social safety nets environmental protections and policies to redress wealth and income inequality enacted after World War II contributed to declining rates of dementia today and how do we improve brain health in the future Winner of the American Book Fest Health Aging 50 by the American Book Fest Living Now Book Award Mature Living Aging by the Living Now Book Awards For decades researchers have chased a pharmaceutical cure for memory loss But despite the fact that no disease modifying biotech treatments have emerged new research suggests that dementia rates have actually declined in the United States and Western Europe over the last decade Why is this happening And what does it mean for brain health in the future In American Dementia Daniel R George PhD MSc and Peter J Whitehouse MD PhD argue that the current decline of dementia may be strongly linked to mid twentieth century policies that reduced inequality provided widespread access to education and healthcare and brought about cleaner air soil and water They also explain why Alzheimer s disease an obscure clinical label until the 1970s is the hallmark illness of our current hyper capitalist era reveal how the soaring inequalities of the twenty first century which are sowing poverty barriers to healthcare and education loneliness lack of sleep stressful life events environmental exposures and climate change are reversing the gains of the twentieth century and damaging our brains tackle the ageist tendencies in our culture which disadvantage both vulnerable youth and elders make an evidence based argument that policies like single payer healthcare a living wage and universal access to free higher education and technical training programs will build collective resilience to dementia promote strategies that show how local communities can rise above the disconnection and loneliness that define our present moment and come together to care for our struggling neighbors Ultimately American Dementia asserts that actively remembering lessons from the twentieth century which help us become a healthier wiser and more compassionate society represents our most powerful intervention for preventing Alzheimer s and protecting human dignity Exposing the inconvenient truths that confound market based approaches to memory enhancement as well as broader social organization the book imagines how we can act as citizens to protect our brains build the cognitive resilience of younger generations and rise to the moral challenge of caring for the cognitively frail

Malone, 2013-09-23 Contemporary Perspectives on Ageism Liat Ayalon, Clemens Tesch-Römer, 2018-05-22 This open access book provides a comprehensive perspective on the concept of ageism its origins the manifestation and consequences of ageism as well as ways to respond to and research ageism The book represents a collaborative effort of researchers from over 20 countries and a variety of disciplines including psychology sociology gerontology geriatrics pharmacology law geography design engineering policy and media studies The contributors have collaborated to produce a truly stimulating and educating book on ageism which brings a clear overview of the state of the art in the field The book serves as a catalyst to generate research policy and public interest in the field of ageism and to reconstruct the image of old age and will be of interest to researchers and students in gerontology and geriatrics Aging Veterans with Disabilities Arie Rimmerman, 2020-10-15 The number of older war veterans receiving disability benefits is steadily growing and is predicted to rise in the next decade This book provides comprehensive knowledge about health and psychosocial concerns of veterans aging with disabilities and unmet needs and compares policy in three countries that have been involved in massive warfare in the 20th century the United Kingdom UK the United States US and Israel Using a cross national comparative study of the policies legislation and services provided by these three countries which have significant numbers of aging disabled military veterans this book provides evidence based knowledge on the trajectories and attendant mental health and psychosocial problems this sub group faces when aging with a disability

It sheds light on the paradox in which most veterans with disabilities in the UK USA and Israel are older while the current legislation and budget target younger veterans with disabilities The book reflects the current debate regarding the desired policy toward older veterans with disabilities in these countries and whether to provide them with proactive health services prior to retirement to prevent accelerated aging It also evaluates the dilemma of whether to serve aging veterans separately as a unique population or to provide them with the same services used by the general population This book will be of interest to all academics and students working in disability studies rehabilitation studies gerontology psychology sociology social work social policy and law more broadly Functional Performance in Older Adults Bette R Bonder, Vanina Dal

Davis, Paul Scherz, 2020-09-30 Although philosophy religion and civic cultures used to help people prepare for aging and dying well this is no longer the case Today aging is frequently seen as a problem to be solved and death as a harsh reality to be masked In part our cultural confusion is rooted in an inadequate conception of the human person which is based on a notion of absolute individual autonomy that cannot but fail in the face of the dependency that comes with aging and decline at the end of life To help correct the ethical impoverishment at the root of our contemporary social confusion The Evening of Life provides an interdisciplinary examination of the challenges of aging and dying well It calls for a reenvisioning of cultural concepts practices and virtues that embraces decline dependency and finitude rather than stigmatizes them Bringing together the work of sociologists anthropologists philosophers theologians and medical practitioners this collection of essays develops an interrelated set of conceptual tools to discuss the current challenges posed to aging and dying well such as flourishing temporality narrative and friendship Above all it proposes a positive understanding of thriving in old age that is rooted in our shared vulnerability as human beings It also suggests how some of these tools and concepts can be deployed to create a medical system that better responds to our contemporary needs The Evening of Life will interest bioethicists medical practitioners clinicians and others involved in the care of the aging and dying Contributors Joseph E Davis Sharon R Kaufman Paul Scherz Wilfred M McClay Kevin Aho Charles Guignon Bryan S Turner Janelle S Taylor Sarah L Szanton Janiece Taylor and Justin Mutter Healthy Ageing Christine Stephens, Mary Breheny, 2018-06-14 What does it mean to age well This important new book redefines what successful ageing means challenging the idea that physical health is the only criteria to gauge the ageing process and that an ageing population is necessarily a burden upon society Using Sen's Capability Approach as a theoretical starting point Healthy Ageing A Capability Approach to Inclusive Policy and Practice outlines a nuanced perspective that transcends the purely biomedical view recognising ideas of resilience as well as the experiences of older people themselves in determining what it means to age well It builds to provide a comprehensive response to the overarching discourse that successful ageing is simply about eating well and exercising acknowledging not only that older people are not always able to follow such advice but also that well being is mediated by factors beyond the physical In an era where ageing has become such an important topic for policy makers this is a robust and timely response that examines what it means to live well as an older person It will be hugely valuable not only for students of gerontology and social care but also professionals working in the field Communication Yearbook 38 Elisia L.
