Sudsee Travels In The South Seas:

Südsee. Travels in the South Seas ... Translated ... by Vivian Ogilvie. [With Plates and a Map.]. Hugo Adolf BERNATZIK, Vivian OGILVIE, 1935 Südsee Hugo Adolf Bernatzik, 1935 Photographing Papua Max Quanchi, 2009-03-26

Photographing Papua is a study of photography in the public domain in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. It argues that southeastern New Guinea, known as British New Guinea and then as Papua when it became an Australian colony, was created as a geographical place through visual representation in illustrated magazines and newspapers, lavishly illustrated travelogues and mission hagiography, serial encyclopedia lantern slides and postcards. Readers knew Papua because many thousands of black and white photographs of Papuans, villages and material culture rapidly swamped the reading public once the process of halftone newsprint reproduction became possible. In an innovative and breakthrough fashion, Photographing Papua switches attention from a few well-known prints in museums and archives, in some cases repeatedly reproduced but mostly rarely seen outside of scientific and scholarly circles. It deals instead with thousands of photographs often used in ways not intended when the photograph was taken but which editors and publishers and subsequent photographers gradually made conform to an iconographic imperative, a sort of abbreviated visual gallery of natives and a quick access pathway to the actual and imagined lives of Papuans in the last Unknown as New Guinea was titled. It is a study of representation, colonialism, cross-cultural encounters and the early world of illustrated media and photojournalism.

Art and Performance in Oceania Barry Craig, Bernie Kernot, Christopher Anderson, 1999-12-01. The Fifth International Symposium of the Pacific Arts Association, titled Art Performance and Society, called for papers in sessions dealing with Production and Performance, Social and Cultural Context, The Record and the Remainder, and The Mission of Museums. In all, some sixty papers were presented, twenty-four of which have been included in this book. The first two topics elicited several papers that explored the creative process, including the description and analysis of performance and the taxonomy of objects used, the transmission of cultural knowledge and the identity and work of individual artists. The second two topics provided the opportunity for papers on some significant early museum collectors and collections, various methods of documenting cultural material such as photography, how cultural material has been and can be exhibited, and the role of museums and cultural centers in Pacific Island countries.

Wealth of the Solomons Judith A. Bennett, 1987-05-01. Du site de l'd. The history of the Solomon Islands is in itself an intriguing story, and Dr Bennett tells it more than well. The depth and breadth of the work is impressive in at least two respects. First, it covers events in the Solomons from initial European contact in the middle 1500s to the country's emergence as an independent and sovereign state in 1978. Second, all facets of colonial history are covered, to name only a few: the early contact period, the whaling trade, the development of plantations, the nature of British colonial rule and missionization. Considering the scope of this volume, it represents a definitive history of the Solomon Islands and it will remain so for many years to come.

The White Headhunter Nigel Randell, 2013-08-22 Shanghaied in San Francisco in 1868 teenage Scots sailor Jack Renton then found himself on a voyage into the heart of darkness Escaping from his floating prison in an open whaleboat Renton drifted for 2000 miles only to be washed up on the shores of a Pacific island shunned by 19th century mariners Malaita in the Solomon Islands There he was stripped of his clothes by headhunters and forced to go native to survive Initially a slave to their chief Kabou he eventually became the man s most trusted warrior and adviser Renton s own account of his eight year exile published after he was rescued remains the only authenticated account of a mental and physical ordeal that still haunts the imagination to this day It caused a sensation at the time though it is now clear that it airbrushed out most of the key events Researching the Renton legend Nigel Randell spent several years talking to the Malaitans and piecing together a very different account from Renton s sanitised version The ultimate irony is that a man so keen to conceal his crimes should have bequeathed their evidence a necklace of 60 human teeth to a collector who donated it to a national museum

Thirty Years in the South Seas Richard Parkinson, 2010 Richard Parkinson s Thirty Years in the South Seas was first published in 1907 In this 900 page work Parkinson drew together and expanded on the scientific and popular papers he had been publishing since 1887 creating in the process a landmark ethnography of the Bismarck Archipelago Parkinson moved to New Britain in 1879 only seven years after the first trader had established himself in the area Over the next thirty years he employed many local people on the family s expanding plantations and travelled widely in the area trading for produce especially coconuts observing traditional life and buying artefacts for museums in Europe USA and Australia His travels covered the islands now known as New Britain New Ireland New Hanover Manus Buka and Bougainville but he also collected information about the mainland of New Guinea Kaiser Wilhelmsland His observations covered a wide range of topics from religious life and ceremonies to artefacts and language It is clear he talked extensively with people though mostly with a translator and compared accounts He also took many photographs some 200 of which were included in the volume Given the period all his human subjects had to be posed but the range of associated detail probably unconsciously included is substantial What is particularly important about this work is the period in which it was written While Parkinson may never have been the first contact of any local people he was clearly among the first and observed many societies before they were extensively incorporated into the Western economy or missionised Thirty Years in the South Seas is unparalleled in the literature of the Bismarck Archipelago It is an incomparable picture of a time and place now long past

Intertextual Exoticism Richard Sperber, 2025-04-24 Intertextual Exoticism reads a body of non canonical German exoticist literature published after imperial Germany s loss of colonial Oceania in 1914 applying theories of intertextuality Kristeva and recent scholarship on literary exoticism to explore Germany s postwar crises of psychology masculinity and national identity mapped onto Oceanic spaces Many readers are familiar with late Victorian texts expressing imperial Britain s anxieties Richard Sperber expands the scope of these texts in the context of a post imperial Europe examining how German exoticist literature published after German colonial loss in Oceania in 1914 intensifies the gothic themes and subjectivities of these Victorian texts The first part of this volume examines eight adventure narratives of Oceania demonstrating how they do not necessarily present or represent a single unified German colonial project They take place on islands owned by Australia and Britain and the unprepared German protagonists amateur naturalists and bungling traders are compared unfavourably to resolute Anglophone adventurers The second part then pairs five well known exoticist texts including Conrad s Heart of Darkness Stevenson s The Beach of Fales Haggard s She Hitchens The Garden of Allah and Wilde s Salom with five non canonical exoticist German texts Sperber shows through these pairings how German literary exoticism becomes a transnational and intertextual literature that rereads dominant themes in 20th century Europe s greater literatures of exoticism and colonial loss
