Sinister Touch 3:

Chemical Lands David D. Vail, 2018 An exploration of the elaborate relationship between farmers aerial sprayers agriculturalists crop pests chemicals and the environment The controversies in the 1960s and 1970s that swirled around indiscriminate use of agricultural chemicals their long term ecological harm versus food production benefits were sparked and clarified by biologist Rachel Carson's Silent Spring 1962 This seminal publication challenged long held assumptions concerning the industrial might of American agriculture while sounding an alarm for the damaging persistence of pesticides especially chlorinated hydrocarbons such as DDT in the larger environment In Chemical Lands Pesticides Aerial Spraying and Health in North America's Grasslands since 1945 David D Vail shows however that a distinctly regional view of agricultural health evolved His analysis reveals a particularly strong ethic in the North American grasslands where practitioners sought to understand and deploy insecticides and herbicides by designing local scientific experiments engineering more precise aircraft sprayers developing more narrowly specific chemicals and planting targeted test crops Their efforts to link the science of toxicology with environmental health reveal how the practitioners of pesticides evaluated potential hazards in the agricultural landscape while recognizing the production benefits of controlled spraying Chemical Lands adds to a growing list of books on toxins in the American landscape This study provides a unique Grasslands perspective of the Ag pilots weed scientists and farmers who struggled to navigate novel technologies for spray planes and in the development of new herbicides insecticides while striving to manage and mitigate threats to human health and the environment

The Apostate David J Knight, 2017-04-05 When John Galt published The Apostate Or Atlantis Destroyed in 1814 its portrayal of First Nations peoples was in many ways a real challenge to the colonial assumptions of the day His 1833 prose version of the story The New Atlantis even furthered these challenges and the two works were not well received by the public when they appeared Both are presented here in a new edition that also includes Susanna Moodie's contemporary 1814 poem The Captive which makes similarly challenging social commentary on the evils of slavery and the plight of refugees As early examples of Canadian activist writing these works are overdue for reevaluation in a world still struggling with many of the injustices that they address

Stalin's War Sean McMeekin, 2021-04-20 A prize winning historian reveals how Stalin not Hitler was the animating force of World War II in this major new history World War II endures in the popular imagination as a heroic struggle between good and evil with villainous Hitler driving its events But Hitler was not in power when the conflict erupted in Asia and he was certainly dead before it ended His armies did not fight in multiple theaters his empire did not span the Eurasian continent and he did not inherit any of the spoils of war That central role belonged to Joseph Stalin The Second World War was not Hitler's war it was Stalin's war Drawing on ambitious new research in Soviet European and US archives Stalin's War revolutionizes our understanding of this global conflict by moving its epicenter to the east Hitler's genocidal ambition may have helped unleash Armageddon but as McMeekin shows the war which emerged in Europe in September 1939 was the one Stalin wanted not Hitler So too did the Pacific war of 1941-1945 fulfill Stalin's goal of unleashing a devastating war of attrition between Japan and the Anglo Saxon capitalist powers he viewed as his ultimate adversary McMeekin also reveals the extent to which Soviet Communism was rescued by the US and Britain's self defeating strategic moves beginning with Lend Lease aid as American and British supply boards agreed almost blindly to every Soviet demand Stalin's war machine McMeekin shows was substantially reliant on American material from warplanes tanks trucks jeeps motorcycles fuel ammunition and explosives to industrial inputs and technology transfer to the foodstuffs which fed the Red Army This unreciprocated American generosity gave Stalin's armies the mobile striking power to conquer most of Eurasia from Berlin to Beijing for Communism A groundbreaking reassessment of the Second World War Stalin's War is essential reading for anyone looking to understand the current world order
