Snug Little Flock:

A Snug Little Flock Frits Pannekoek, 1998-01-16 This original and provocative book carefully investigates the social tensions in Red River that led to the Riel uprising Dr Frits Pannekoek bases his account on more than twelve years of research in private church commercial and government sources Métis in Canada Christopher Adams, Gregg Dahl, Ian Peach, 2013-08-14 These twelve essays constitute a groundbreaking volume of new work prepared by leading scholars in the fields of history anthropology constitutional law political science and sociology who identify the many facets of what it means to be M tis in Canada today After the Powley decision in 2003 M tis peoples were no longer conceptually limited to the historical boundaries of the fur trade in Canada Key ideas explored in this collection include identity rights and issues of governance politics and economics The book will be of great interest to scholars in political science and Indigenous studies the legal community public administrators government policy advisors and people seeking to better understand the M tis past and present Contributors Christopher Adams Gloria Jane Bell Glen Campbell Gregg Dahl Janique Dubois Tom Flanagan Liam J Haggarty Laura Lee Kearns Darren O Toole Jeremy Patzer Ian Peach Siomonn P Pulla Kelly L Saunders Polio '53 Russell F. Taylor, 2012-09-30 In the summer and fall of 1953 an epidemic of poliomyelitis struck Edmonton Dr Taylor recounts his experiences as director of the program that dealt with the worst medical emergency ever faced in northern Alberta

The Road to the Rapids Robert Coutts, 2000 Tells the story of the role of the Anglican Church in the social and economic development of the 19th century Red River Settlement parish of St Andrew s in Canada Explores the evangelical basis of the church s approach and attitude towards indigenous populations within the settlement and offers new insights on the church s relationship with the commercial interests of the Hudson s Bay Company Includes b w historical photos and illustrations Coutts is a historian with Parks Canada in Winnipeg specializing in cultural resources at national historic sites and parks throughout western and northern Canada Distributed by Raincoast Books Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Proclaiming the Gospel to the Indians and the Metis Raymond J.A. Huel, 1996-07 Since their arrival in Red River in 1845 the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate have played an integral role in the history of Canada s North West The Oblates followed the Hudson s Bay Company trade routes into western Canada They believed ardently in the importance of bringing the word of Christ to natives of what to the Oblates was a new land Competition with Protestant missionaries added pressure to the missionary work of the Oblates In recent years the Oblates have acknowledged that their converts radically torn from traditional native worship and spirituality made a sometimes troubled embrace of Christianity Guided by their vision of Christian society and norms the Oblates went on to work with the Government of Canada to provide health care and education to treaty Indians on the prairies Their strong identity as both French and Catholic helped shape both native and non native communities throughout Canada s North West Unsettled Pasts Sarah Carter, 2005 The traditional mythology of the West is dominated by male images the fur trader the Mountie the missionary the miner the cowboy the politician the Chief Unsettled Past: Reconceiving the West claims to re-examine the West through women's eyes. It draws together contributions from researchers, scholars and academic and community activists and seeks to create dialogue across geographic, cultural and disciplinary boundaries. Ranging from scholarly essays to poetry, these pieces offer the reader a sample of some of today's most innovative approaches to western Canadian women's history. Several of the themes that run throughout the volume have only recently been critically addressed. By rewriting the West from the perspective of women, the contributors complicate traditional narratives of the region's past by contesting historical generalizations, thus transcending the myths and frontier legacies that emerged out of imperial and masculine priorities and perspectives. With Contributions by Kristin Burnett, Cristine Georgina Bye, Sarah Carter, Mary Leah De Zwart, Lesley A. Erickson, Cheryl Foggo, Nadine I. Kozak, Siri Louie, Graham A. MacDonald, Florence Melchior, Patricia A. Roome, Eliane Leslau Silverman, Olive Stickney, Aritha Van Herk, Muriel Stanley, Venne Cora J. Voyageur. Civilizing the Wilderness A.A. den Otter, 2012-04-05. Eleven essays explore the dichotomy of civilizing and wilderness in 1850s Euro-British North America.

Reporting the Resistance J.M. Bumsted, 2003-12-19. Reporting the Resistance brings together two first-person accounts to give a view from the ground of the developments that shocked Canada and created the province of Manitoba. In 1869 and 1870, Begg and Hargrave were regular correspondents for respectively the Toronto Globe and the Montreal Herald. While neither man was a committed supporter of the Métis or Louis Riel, each gives a more complex and more sympathetic view of the resistance than is commonly expected from the Anglophone community of Red River. They describe often from very different perspectives the events of the resistance as well as give insider accounts of the social and political background. Largely unreprinted until now, this correspondence remains a relatively untapped resource for contemporary views of the resistance. These are the Red River's own accounts and are often quite different from the perspective of eastern observers.

The Oblate Assault on Canada's Northwest Robert Choquette, 1995. The first Oblates to come to Canada arrived in December 1841. Within four years of landing in Montreal, two Oblates beached their canoes in Red River, inaugurating an epic story of the evangelization of Canada's North and West. Using a military analogy of assault and conquest, Choquette examines the Oblate missionaries' work in Canada's Northwest during the nineteenth century. Presented as a conquest aimed at the liberation of Canada's aboriginal population, this saga frequently resulted in their subjugation to white Euro-Canadian society. Exploring the extremely rapid expansion of the Oblate missions has also meant the simultaneous study of the love-hate relationship between Catholics and Protestants in Canada, given that both were vying for control of the Northwest. Furthermore, given that the Catholics were French and the Protestants English, this book deals with French-English relations in the Northwest and with the relationships between religion and culture in a conflictual setting. Choquette's work is based primarily on extensive research in ecclesiastical archives of the Catholic Church of the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate and of the Hudson's Bay Company. Filling a serious void in the area of Church history in the Canadian West, this study constitutes a valuable contribution for those interested in the history of religion in Canada the history of Canada the history of native peoples and the history of Western Canada Constitutional Politics in Multinational Democracies André Lecours, Nikola Brassard-Dion, Guy Laforest, 2021-07-15 Constitutional politics is exceptionally intense and unpredictable It involves negotiations over the very nature of the state and the implications of self determination Multinational democracies face pressing challenges to the existing order because they are composed of communities with distinct cultures histories and aspirations striving to coexist under mutually agreed upon terms Conflict over the recognition of these multiple identities and the distribution of power and resources is inevitable and indeed part of what defines democratic life in multinational societies In Constitutional Politics in Multinational Democracies Andr Lecours Nikola Brassard Dion and Guy Laforest bring together experts on multinational democracies to analyze the claims of minority nations about their political future and the responses they elicit through constitutional politics Essays focus on the nature of these states and the actors and political process within them This framework allows for a multidimensional examination of crucial political periods in these democracies by assessing what constitutional politics is who is involved in it and how it happens Case studies include Catalonia and Spain Puerto Rico and the United States Scotland and the United Kingdom Belgium Bosnia and Herzegovina and Quebec and the M tis People in Canada Theoretically significant and empirically rich Constitutional Politics in Multinational Democracies is a necessary read for any student of multinationalism
