

So you think you know golf

By HERBERT WARREN WIND

First, the title annual golf quiz, is very much like its antecedents. The bulk of the questions are of the multiple-choice type, and the remainder are varied. What do they test? Well, certainly a golfer's knowledge of recent events and personalities, but also his (or her) knowledge of golf history, the great courses, golf in foreign countries, famous occasions, plus a few obscure points of trivia relevant or of some importance—mostly, being the complete golfer should know before going out to dinner with Bruce Hanau or Bob Stenel or to sit Morgan in Joe Day or Hootie (Harry or Jack Tufel) or Bob Hagen. A reasonably well-informed golfer should be able to answer 14 of the 20 questions correctly.

1

Andrew Kirkaldy, the early Scottish professional, was a "rough golfer" who was noted for his native wit. For example, once when he was asked, "Andrew, how is the wind blowing just?" he made the following memorable reply:

- "Just" is a wee dawk and dawk."
- "Well, then, I get the jags."
- "We're within."
- "Well and into, into and into."

2

In three of the following four groups, each of the names carried has something in common with the others. However, in one of the groups one of the names has no affinity whatsoever with its neighbors, which group is that?

- Cliff Swank, Jerry Towers, Bobby Jones, Francis Curran, Jack Nicklaus.
- Kilmerick, Milwaukee Country Club, National Golf Links, Pine Valley, Pine Plains.
- Dick Sutherland, Charlie Yates, Frank Swannell, Bob Wilentz, Joe Garner.
- St. Andrews, Inverurie, Interlachen, Winged Foot, Merion.

3

Read the following paragraph closely. Then answer: true, it is a rule of golf, or false, it is just an exercise in sloped prose.

"If a ball rests against the flagstick when it is in the hole, the player shall be entitled to leave the flagstick unattended, and if the ball falls into the hole the player shall be deemed to have holed out his last stroke; otherwise, the ball shall be placed on the lip of the cup, without penalty."

4

All of these statements about Nancy Lopez are correct except one. Which one is that?

- She earned hitting golf balls when she was 4 using a broom for what her given for.
- Like Jack Nicklaus, who turned won the U.S. Junior championship, Nancy never succeeded in winning the U.S. Girls' Junior championship.
- In 1977, before winning the LPGA qualifying school and qualifying with distinction, she finished second in the U.S. Women's Open.
- In 1979 she broke all LPGA records by winning five tournaments in five consecutive starts.

5

There have been many sporting trophies in modern sport golf in recent years but only one that has ever won a major tournament by winning four of the last six holes. He is:

- | | |
|---------------|---------------|
| Jack Nicklaus | Tom Watson |
| Tony Jack | Lee Westwood |
| Arnold | Lee Westwood |
| Gary Player | Johnny Miller |

6

Name the golfer from whose autobiography the following passage is taken, and also name the tournament (the year or year or years) that he is describing.

"We were followed by a sparse gallery, for the bulk of the spectators were watching Jones or Wood and Plunk, who were playing three holes ahead of us. It was about 5:30 in the afternoon when Walter and I came to the 10th hole . . ."

7

This is a two-part question. You must answer both parts correctly.

- What young young professional has during the past few years won tournaments in England, France, Switzerland, Japan, United States, the Philippines, Korea, New Zealand and Germany?
- Which tournament on the American tour did he win?

8

The first golf club established outside of Scotland and England was:

- Royal St. George, which dates from 1862 when Queen Victoria's ancestors, Lord Salisbury, drove off the first ball.
- Royal Calcutta, its early members included a high proportion of British from the Bombay area who were in the job trade in Bengal and were interested in their national game.
- Royal Montreal, which was carved out of the wilderness in 1875 by Donald Macpherson Maclean, the French-Canadian for lawyer who turned golf courses entitled in middle age and built such famous courses as St. Andrew and Labrador Springs.
- Van Cortlandt Park, constructed by the early Dutch settlers in the upper reaches of New York City, the course retained some of the characteristics of the Dutch game of kolfen, but Europeans believe that it was, and is, essentially a European golf links.

9

Harvey Penick, the well-known professional long associated with the North (Tex.) Country Club, has taught many fine players, both men and women, who have achieved considerable success on the golf tours. From the following list, name the two protégés of Penick's who, 10 years years have done very well indeed on the PGA Tour.

- | | |
|---------------|---------------|
| Sam Snead | John Mahaffey |
| Tom Watson | Tom Weir |
| Charles Coody | Robert Green |
| Jimmy Furr | Mark Hayes |

10

This June the United States Open will be contested at Inverness for the fourth time. Ted Ray won there in 1926, Dick Mayer in 1957 and Billy Burke in 1961 after an intense playoff with George von Elm. Their playoff lasted:

- Just two holes, Burke winning the first sudden-death playoff over with a birdie on the second.
- 16 holes.
- 18 holes.
- 12 holes.

11

It is a par 3 only 100 yards or so in length. The ball starts in a small green from an elevated tee. The green is practically surrounded by bunkers, and, for good measure, the spine from the ponding water often provides a beautiful 7-stopping backdrop. It is:

- The seventh at Pebble Beach.
- The 17th at Pebble Beach.
- The 10th at Cypress Point.
- The 18th at Cypress Point.

12

Exactly 20 years ago, in 1964, all of these things, except one, happened. Can you isolate it?

- An unknown young amateur, Billy Joe Patton, fought it out all the way in the Masters with Arnold and Hogan, only to lose by a single stroke.
- The U.S. Open was played nationally for the first time.
- Arnold Palmer won his first major title, the U.S. Amateur, at the Country Club of Detroit.
- Sam Hogan won a striking British Open at Muirfield with a total of 271.
- Gene Sarafian, in a gallant performance, won her first and last U.S. Women's Open, edging out the runner-up by a mere 10 strokes.

13

Gary Player, whose inexperience and gift for hard work have no bounds, tested out a new gimmick in 1970 that served him well.

- He gave up of his track operations and spent weeks in Scotland studying and began appearing in studies that ran the gamut of the culture of the nation.
- Deciding that accuracy is far more critical than distance off the tee, he perfected his drive and began using the 3-wood. His victory in the 1975 Masters convinced that and spawned on his brilliant performance off the tee drive.
- After putting his shoulder with a short, jolting stroke, he successfully developed a smooth through the ball stroke.
- Deciding that he needed to get into the better physical condition, he spent a full month at Jimmy Donahoe's Shape-Up School in Houston before playing a shot in the American tour.

14

Five bridges on the Old Course at St. Andrews span the Bannan Burn. Two bridges at Culteran span the Monmouthshire River. Several bridges at Carnoustie span the cutting Barry Burn. Two bridges at Augusta National span the Red's Creek. One of these statements doesn't hold water. Which one is it?

15

Of the four statements that follow, how many are incorrect?

- Samuel Taylor, president of the USGA, was a star golfer at Stanford and also played at Oxford.
- The Americanized golf ball is now mandatory in practically all the important British professional tournaments.
- Bernie Allen won at Ochuana, who married Paul Lambert, was the first French golfer to win the British Ladies' Championship. Her daughter Catherine also won that title.
- The winner of the 1975 Masters was a Georgian.—Tommy Aaron.
