Progressives, Patterns, Pedagogy Ute Römer, 2005-01-01 This book presents a large scale corpus driven study of progressives in real English and school English combining an analysis of general linguistic interest with a pedagogically motivated one A systematic comparative analysis of more than 10 000 progressive forms taken from the largest existing corpora of spoken British English and from a small corpus of EFL textbook texts highlights numerous differences between actual language use and textbook language concerning the distribution of progressives their preferred contexts favoured functions and typical lexical grammatical patterns On the basis of these differences a number of pedagogical implications are derived the integration of which then leads to a first draft of an innovative concept of teaching progressives a concept which responds to three key criteria in pedagogical description typicality authenticity and communicative utility The analysis also demonstrates that many existing accounts of the progressive are inappropriate in several respects and that not enough attention is being paid to lexical grammatical relations Winner of the Wissenschaftspreis Hannover 2006 for outstanding research monographs

Report of the Departmental Committee Appointed to Inquire as to Precautions for Preventing Danger of Infection by Anthrax in the Manipulation of Wool, Goat Hair, and Camel Hair Great Britain. Departmental Committee on Anthrax,1918

Engineering and Mining Journal ,1903      The spell-out algorithm and lexicalization patterns Bartosz Wiland,2019 Empirically the book covers two areas the morphosyntax of verbs and categories syncretic with the declarative complementizer in Slavic together with a comparative look at the similar categories in Latvian Baltic and Basa Bantu In the domain of verbs the book investigates a curious instance of analytic vs fusional realization of grammatical categories that we find in a semelfactive iterative alternation in Czech and Polish where a semelfactive verb stem such as in the Czech kop n ou t give a kick alternates with an iterative verb stem as in kop a t kick repeatedly The iterative aj stem is morphologically less complex than the semelfactive stem formed with the n ou sequence which is paradoxical given an analysis of iteratives as categories whose syn sem representation is more complex than semelfactives In the domain of complementizers the book focuses on cross categorial paradigms that include an unexpected morphological containment in Russian a degree of morphological complexity in Latvian and an ABA pattern of syncretic alignment in Basa which we do not expect to find if syncretism is restricted to adjacent cells in a paradigm cf Bobaljik 2012 Analytically the book focuses on the way the syntactic representations of these categories become realized as morphemes In the general sense then this contribution belongs to a growing body of work that investigates the relation between syntactic structure and morphological form understood as the amount of morphemes and their placement in particular the prefix vs suffix opposition More specifically however the approach to lexicalization taken up in this book is informed by the results of research on syntax in the last quarter of a century which show that syntactic representations are maximally fine grained the picture sometimes described as the one feature per one syntactic head dictum Such a scenario has lead to the situation where syntactic representations can be submorphemic in the sense that a lexical item corresponds to more than one syntactic head a strand of research that has become known as Nanosyntax This book investigates the state of art methodology of Nanosyntax in resolving the selected empirical problems in the domain of Slavic verbs and declarative complementizers the problems that all appear to boil down to the way syntactic representations become realized as morphemes

Solanaceae, Biology and Systematics

William G. D'Arcy, 1986 This book explores the puzzling phenomenon of new veiling practices among lower middle class women in Cairo Egypt Although these women are part of a modernizing middle class they also voluntarily adopt a traditional symbol of female subordination How can this paradox be explained An explanation emerges which reconceptualizes what appears to be reactionary behavior as a new style of political struggle as accommodating protest These women most of them clerical workers in the large government bureaucracy are ambivalent about working outside the home considering it a change which brings new burdens as well as some important benefits At the same time they realize that leaving home and family is creating an intolerable situation of the erosion of their social status and the loss of their traditional identity The new veiling expresses women s protest against this MacLeod argues that the symbolism of the new veiling emerges from this tense subcultural dilemma involving elements of both resistance and acquiescence

The Transformation of Work in Welfare State Organizations

Frank Sowa, Ronald Staples, Stefan Zapfel, 2018-04-19 How has New Public Management influenced social policy reform in different developed welfare states New managerialism is conceptualized as a paradigm which not only shapes the decision making process in bureaucratic organizations but also affects the practice of individuals citizens Public administrations have been expected to transform from traditional bureaucratic organizations into modern managerial service providers by adopting a business model that requires the efficient and effective use of resources The introduction of managerial practices controlling and accounting systems management by objectives computerization service orientation increased outsourcing competitive structures and decentralized responsibility are typical of efforts to increase efficiency. These developments have been accompanied by the abolition of civil service systems and fewer secure jobs in public administrations. This book provides a sociological understanding of how public administrations deal with this transformation, how people's role as public servants is affected and what kind of strategies emerge either to meet these new organizational requirements or to circumvent them. It shows how hybrid arrangements of public services are created between the public and the private sphere that lead to conflicts of interest between private strategies and public tasks as well as to increasingly homogeneous social welfare provision across Europe.
