Texts Of Power:

Texts of Power Partha Chatterjee, 1995 Scholars from the Centre for Studies in Social Sciences in Calcutta explore the genealogy of India's contemporary intellectual modernity concentrating on Bengal the first modern province The topics include colonial and nationalist literature art politics child rearing historical memory and the Texts of Power, the Power of the Text Cezary Galewicz, 2006 Medieval Transformations: Texts, Power, and Gifts in Context Esther Cohen, Mayke de Jong, 2022-02-28 This volume deals with shifts and changes that took place during the Middle Ages when things or ideas or writings were transferred from time to time place to place or one ideological realm to another The same objects ideas or texts changed their meaning impact or symbolic value according to different contexts The twelve papers written by leading experts investigate the authority attributed to texts and their canonization in different contexts the shifting uses and meanings of gifts from honorable instruments in the settlement of disputes to corruption and bribery and the transition of violence and power from relationships between equals to a tool for the maintenance of hierarchies Contributors include Gadi Algazi Monique Bernards Arnoud Jan Bijsterveld Esther Cohen Valentin Groebner Yitzhak Hen Mayke de Jong Rob Meens Marco Mostert Thomas F X Noble Timothy Reuter Hendrik Teunis and Stephen D White History, Power, Text Timothy Neale, Crystal McKinnon, Eve Vincent, 2014-01-01 History Power Text Cultural Studies and Indigenous Studies is a collection of essays on Indigenous themes published between 1996 and 2013 in the journal known first as UTS Review and now as Cultural Studies Review This journal opened up a space for new kinds of politics new styles of writing and new modes of interdisciplinary engagement History Power Text highlights the significance of just one of the exciting interdisciplinary spaces or meeting points the journal enabled Indigenous cultural studies is our name for the intersection of cultural studies and Indigenous studies showcased here This volume republishes key works by academics and writers Katelyn Barney Jennifer Biddle Tony Birch Wendy Brady Gillian Cowlishaw Robyn Ferrell Bronwyn Fredericks Heather Goodall Tess Lea Erin Manning Richard Martin Aileen Moreton Robinson Stephen Muecke Alison Ravenscroft Deborah Bird Rose Lisa Slater Sonia Smallacombe Rebe Taylor Penny van Toorn Eve Vincent Irene Watson and Virginia Watson many of whom have taken this opportunity to write reflections on their work as well as interviews between Christine Nicholls and painter Kathleen Petyarre and Anne Brewster and author Kim Scott The book also features new essays by Birch Moreton Robinson and Crystal McKinnon and a roundtable discussion with former and current journal editors Chris Healy Stephen Muecke and Katrina Schlunke Ideology, Power, Text Yi-tsi Mei Feuerwerker, 1998-10-01 The division between the scholar gentry class and the people was an enduring theme of the traditional Chinese agrarian bureaucratic state Twentieth century elites recast this as a division between intellectuals and peasants and made the confrontation between the writing intellectual self and the peasant other a central concern of literature The author argues that in the process they created the peasantry the downtrodden rural masses represented as proper objects of political action and shifting ideological agendas Throughout this transition language or discourse has been not only a weapon of struggle but the center of controversy and contention. Because of this primacy of language, the author's main approach is the close reading or rather re-reading of significant narrative fictions from four literary generations to demonstrate how historical, ideological, and cultural issues are absorbed, articulated, and debated within the text. Three chapters each focus on one representative author: The fiction of Lu Xun (1881–1936), which initiated the literary preoccupation with the victimized peasant, is also about the identity crisis of the intellectual; Zhao Shuli (1906–1970), upheld by the Communist Party as a model peasant writer, tragically exemplifies in his career the inherent contradictions of such an assigned role; In the post-Mao era, Gao Xiaosheng (1928) uses the ironic play of language to present a more ambiguous peasant while deflating intellectual pretensions. The chapter on the last of the four generations examines several texts by Mo Yan (1956), Han Shaogong (1952), and Wang Anyi (1954) as examples of root-searching fiction from the mid-1980s. While reaching back into the past, this fiction is paradoxically also experimental in technique: the encounter with the peasant leads to questions about the self-construction of the intellectual and the nature of narrative representation itself. Throughout, the focus is on texts in which some sort of representation or stand-in of the writer's intellectual self is present as character, as witness, as center of consciousness, or as first person or obtrusive narrator. Each story catches the writer in a self-reflective mode: the confrontation with the peasant, other, providing a theater for acting out varying dramas of identity, power, ideology, political engagement, and self-representation.

NATURAL LANGUAGE PROCESSING: UNLOCKING THE POWER OF TEXT AND SPEECH DATA Dr. Kirti Shukla, Ela Vashishtha, Dr. Mukta Sandhu, Prof. Ravi Choubey, 2023-05-23

The subject matter that is discussed in this book goes by a number of other names, including natural language, words, such as computational linguistics, human language technology, language processing, and language are all terms that are used in computational linguistics, computer voice, and language processing. All of these titles refer to the same subject matter. This burgeoning academic subfield comprises a diverse array of scholarly subfields and is referred to by a variety of distinct names. This burgeoning area of study tries to allow computers to carry out valuable tasks utilizing human language. Examples of these activities include easing human-machine communication, enhancing human-to-human communication, or simply carrying out meaningful processing of text or voice input. The education of computers in the aforementioned activities is one of the key goals of this burgeoning discipline, which is still relatively new. A conversational agent is only one example of a job that is favorable in this category; nevertheless, this is just one of many possible examples. The HAL 900 computer, which was featured in Stanley Kubrick's film 2001: A Space Odyssey, the protagonist of a film about a space journey, is one of the most recognizable personalities to have come from the world of film in the 20th century. HAL is a man-made agent that is capable of complex language processing characteristics, such as comprehending and speaking the English language. These skills were programmed into HAL by the people who developed the first Star Trek television series. At a pivotal point in the story, HAL even acquires the capacity to decipher what humans are saying by reading their lips. When he made his forecasts, we believe that HAL's creator Arthur C Clarke was a little too excited about when an artificial agent such as HAL will be available to the general public But where exactly did he make the mistake in his line of reasoning What are the necessary steps that would need to be taken in order to build HAL at the very least for the components that are associated with language Conversational agents or dialogue systems are computer programs like HAL that are able to converse with people using natural language Examples of such programs include Hal from the Star Trek franchise These descriptors are assigned to the programs of their own accord

The Power of the Page Pat Pinsent, 2013-10-31 First Published in 1994 This series of books is aimed primarily at student and practising teachers It covers key issues in current educational debate relating to age phases school management the curriculum and teaching methods Each volume examines the topic critically bringing out the practical implications for teachers and school organisation The texts which are discussed in Part One of the present book The Picture and the Story are ones which can be enjoyed many times by child and adult because they have a wealth of different meanings reinforcing and cutting across each other

Dancing with Devtas: Drums, Power and Possession in the Music of Garhwal, North India Andrew Alter, 2016-12-05 In the Central Himalayan region of Garhwal the gods devtas enjoy dancing Musicians whether ritual specialists or musical specialists are therefore an indispensable part of most entertainment and religious events In shamanistic ceremonies their incantations songs and drumming make the gods possess their mediums In other contexts such as dramatic theatrical renditions of stories of specific deities actors dance the role of their character having become possessed by the spirit of their character Through the powerful sounds of their drumming musicians cause the gods to dance Music and more particularly musical sound is perceived in Garhwal as a powerful force Andrew Alter examines music and musical practice in Garhwal from an analytical perspective that explores the nexus between musical sounds and performance events He provides insight into performance practice vocal techniques notions of repertoire classification instruments ensembles performance venues and dance practice However music is not viewed simply as a system of organized sounds such as drum strokes pitch iterations or repertoire items Rather in Garhwal the music is viewed as a system of knowledge and as a system of beliefs in which meaning and spirituality become articulated through potent sound iterations Alter makes a significant contribution to the discipline of ethnomusicology through a detailed documentation of musical practice in the context of ritual events The book offers a traditionally thorough historical ethnographic study of a region with the aim of integrating the local field based case studies of musical practices within the broader Garhwali context The work contains invaluable oral data which has been carefully transliterated as well as translated Alter blends a carefully detailed analysis of drumming in conjunction with the complex ritual and social contexts of this sophisticated and semantically rich musical practice
