The Christian Consumer Laura M. Hartman, 2011-11-29 Be it fair trade coffee or foreign oil our choices as consumers affect the well being of humans around the globe not to mention the natural world and of course ourselves Consumption is a serious ethical issue and Christian writers throughout history have weighed in discussing topics such as affluence and poverty greed and gluttony and proper stewardship of resources These voices are often at odds however In this book Laura M Hartman formulates a coherent Christian ethic of consumption imposing order on the debate by dividing it into four imperatives Christians are to consume in ways that avoid sin embrace creation love one s neighbor and envision the future An adequate ethics of consumption she argues must include all four considerations as tools for discernment even when they seem to contradict one another The book includes discussions of Christian practices such as fasting gratitude solidarity gift giving Sabbath keeping and the Eucharist Using exemplars from the Christian tradition and practical examples from everyday life The Christian Consumer offers a thoughtful guide to ethical consumption

Political Economy and Christian Theology Since the Enlightenment A. Waterman, 2004-11-30 Political economy and Christian theology coexisted happily in the intellectual world of the eighteenth century During the nineteenth century they came to be seen as incompatible even mutually hostile In the twentieth century they went their separate ways and are no longer on speaking terms These fourteen essays by Anthony Waterman serve as snapshots of the history of this estrangement and illustrate the gradual replacement of the discourse of theology by that of economics as the rational framework of political debate Others have recently shown that both political economy and Christian theology are important though somewhat neglected elements in modern intellectual history This book is the first to combine these two lines of inquiry
