Making Medieval Manuscripts Christopher De Hamel, 2018 Many beautiful illuminated manuscripts survive from the Middle Ages and can be seen in libraries and museums throughout Europe But who were the skilled craftsmen who made these exquisite books What precisely is parchment How were medieval manuscripts designed and executed What were the inks and pigments and how were they applied This book looks at the work of scribes illuminators and book binders Based principally on examples in the Bodleian Library this lavishly illustrated account tells the story of manuscript production from the early Middle Ages through to the high Renaissance Each stage of production is described in detail from the preparation of the parchment pens paints and inks to the writing of the scripts and the final decoration and illumination of the manuscript This book also explains the role of the stationer or bookshop often to be found near cathedral and market squares in the commissioning of manuscripts and it cites examples of specific scribes and illuminators who can be identified through their work as professional lay artisans

0Christopher de Hamel's text is accompanied by a glossary of key technical terms relating to manuscripts and illumination providing an invaluable introduction for anyone interested in studying medieval manuscripts today

Book Parts Dennis Duncan, Adam Smyth, 2019-06-27 What would an anatomy of the book look like There is the main text of course the file that the author proudly submits to their publisher But around this hemming it in on the page or enclosing it at the front and back of the book there are dozens of other texts page numbers and running heads copyright statements and errata lists each possessed of particular conventions each with their own lively histories To consider these paratexts recalling them from the margins letting them take centre stage is to be reminded that no book is the sole work of the author whose name appears on the cover rather every book is the sum of a series of collaborations It is to be reminded also that not everything is intended for us the readers There are sections that are solely directed at others binders librarians lawyers parts of the book that if they are working well are working discreetly like a theatrical prompt whispering out of the audience's ear shot Book Parts is a bold and imaginative intervention in the fast growing field of book history it pulls the book apart Over twenty two chapters Book Parts tells the story of the components of the book from title pages to endleaves from dust jackets to indexes and just about everything in between Book Parts covers a broad historical range that runs from the pre print era to the digital bringing together the expertise of some of the most exciting scholars working on book history today in order to shine a new light on these elements hiding in plain sight in the books we all read

Boccaccio's Des Cleres Et Nobles Femmes

Brigitte Buettner, 1996 The first surviving illuminated manuscript of the French translation of Boccaccio's De mulieribus claris known as the Cleres femmes now in the Bibliotheque Nationale Paris is the subject of this book The manuscript was commissioned by a Parisian merchant Jacques Raponde as a New Year's gift for the duke of Burgundy Philip the Bold This innovative aspect of the commission where a merchant rather than a prince acted as the patron of the manuscript provides the subject for the first part of Buettner's study In addition to sketching the Valois rulers practice of collecting illuminated manuscripts and to tracing the reasons for the successful reception of Boccaccio's work in this courtly milieu the author delineates the role of merchants in Parisian artistic production around 1400 The Bulletin of the Midwest Modern
