Late Style and its Discontents Gordon McMullan, Sam Smiles, 2016-10-06 Late style is a critical term routinely deployed to characterise the work of selected authors composers and creative artists as they enter their last phase of production often but not only in old age Taken at face value this terminology merely points to a chronological division in the artist's oeuvre late being the antonym of early or the third term in the triad early middle late However almost from its inception the idea of late style or late work has been freighted with aesthetic associations and expectations that promote it as a special episode in the artist's creative life Late style is often characterised as the imaginative response made by exceptional talents to the imminence of their death In their confrontation with death creative artists critics claim produce work that is by turns a determination to continue while strength remains a summation of their life's work and a radical vision of the essence of their craft And because this creative phenomenon is understood as primarily an existential response to a common fate so late style is understood as something that transcends the particularities of place time and medium Critics seeking to understand late work regularly invoke the examples of Titian Goethe and Beethoven as exemplars of what constitutes late work proposing that something unites the late style of authors composers and creative artists who otherwise would not be bracketed together and that lateness per se is a special order of creative work The essays in this collection resist this position Ranging across literature the visual arts music and scientific work the material assembled here looks closely at the material biographical and other contexts in which the work was produced and seeks both to question the assumptions surrounding late style and to prompt a more critical understanding of the last works of writers artists and composers

The Mentor, 1914 Art History as a Reflection of Inner Spiritual Impulses Rudolf Steiner, 2016-06-01 13 slide presentations Dornach Oct 8 1916 Oct 29 1917 CW 292 I am going to show you a series of reproductions of slides from a period in art history to which the human mind will probably always return to contemplate and consider for if we consider history as a reflection of inner spiritual impulses it is precisely in this evolutionary moment that we see certain human circumstances ones that are among the deepest and most decisive for the outer course of human history expressed through a relationship to art Rudolf Steiner Rudolf Steiner understood that the history of art is a field in which the evolution of consciousness is symptomatically and transparently revealed This informal sequence of thirteen lectures was given during the darkest hours of World War I It was a moment when the negative consequences of what he called the age of the consciousness soul which began around 1417 were made most terribly apparent In these lectures he sought to provide an antidote to pessimism After describing the movement of consciousness from Greece into Rome coupled with influences from the Orthodox East he showed how these influences transformed as the Middle Ages became the Renaissance The process that begins with Cimabue and Giotto develops deepens and becomes more conscious in the great Renaissance masters Leonardo Michelangelo and Raphael Then this movement continues with the Northern masters Dürer and Holbein as well as the German tradition One entire lecture is devoted to

Rembrandt followed by one on Dutch and Flemish paintings Themes are woven together to show how past epochs of consciousness and art live again in our consciousness soul period Replete with interesting information and more than 600 color and black and white images these lectures are rich and dense with ideas enabling us to understand both the art of the Renaissance and the transformation of consciousness it announced These lectures demonstrate to paraphrase Shelley that artists truly are the unacknowledged legislators of the age Art History as a Reflection of Inner Spiritual Impulses is a translation from German of Kunstgeschichte als Abbild innerer geistiger Impulse GA 292 Rudolf Steiner Verlag 2000

Artists, Patrons, and the Public Barry Lord, Gail Dexter Lord, 2010-05-16 In this book Barry and Gail Lord focus their two lifetimes of international experience working in the cultural sector on the challenging questions of why and how culture changes They situate their discourse on aesthetic culture within a broad and inclusive definition of culture in relation to material physical and socio political cultures Here at last is a dynamic understanding of the work of art in all aspects media and disciplines illuminating both the primary role of the artist in initiating cultural change and the crucial role of patronage in sustaining the artist Drawing on their worldwide experience they demonstrate the interdependence of artistic production patronage and audience and the remarkable transformations that we have witnessed through the millennia of the history of the arts from our ancient past to the knowledge economy of the twenty first century Questions of cultural identity migration and our growing environmental consciousness are just a few examples of the contexts in which the Lords show how and why our cultural values are formed and transformed This book is intended for artists students and teachers of art history museum studies cultural studies and philosophy and for cultural workers in all media and disciplines It is above all intended for those who think of themselves first as audience because we are all participants in cultural change

Michelangelo: The Art That Changed the World Fabricio Sales Silva, 2025-05-08 In every piece of marble I see infinite potential a story waiting to be told As an artist I ve learned to listen to the silent voice of the raw material teaching myself that often the truest beauty lies in what s hardest to achieve That s how it is in life that s how it is in art From the first days when I picked up the chisel and hammer I understood that artistic creation is a dialogue not only between the artist and his material but between our inner self and the world around us If people knew how hard I had to work to earn my mastery it wouldn t seem so wonderful The path to mastery of any craft or aspect of life is paved with hard work with unwavering perseverance in the face of immeasurable adversity My work has never been just about turning stone into sculpture but rather about instilling my soul into each work Each figure I freed from the marble was a part of me a fragment of my life and my struggles Sculpture is an art that takes away all superfluities Just like sculpture life is also the act of removing excess of refining and discovering our purest and truest form Throughout my life I have faced challenges that have tested my faith my strength and my commitment to art The conflicts with patrons the political pressures of the time and even the physical pain of incessant work all served to shape both my creations and my character Each challenge was a lesson persistence is the inseparable companion of excellence I work on the principle that enough is never enough The Slavonic Review ,1926
