The Green Factor:

The Green Factor In German Politics Gerd Langguth, 2019-07-11 The Green Party evolved out of a number of protest movements of the late 1960s and 1970s and became a major political factor in the Federal Republic of Germany in 1983 when it drew enough votes to send twenty seven members to the Bundestag The author follows the party's rise from new social and ecological groups to its current place in the Federal parliament and provincial legislatures He addresses the questions raised by Green Party members and by the unrest they have engendered whether they believe in parliamentary democracy what effect their policy of replacing delegates in parliament at midsession will have on the parliament and the party and how they relate to Germany's traditional political parties The answers to these and other questions form the background for an appraisal of the Green party in which the author traces the development of its role from a political irritant to a factor of serious influence

Shi,2023-02-17 Work, Politics and the Green Industrial Revolution Douglas W.S. Renwick,2024-03-25 In 2020 UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson launched The Green Jobs Taskforce which extended and articulated the green jobs policy of his government and its position within conservative political ideology This book critically highlights gaps in the political and business decision making of his Taskforce most notably on the limited role of employers and HRM associations in skills building for staff in non polluter industries solar and wind issues of a fair and just transition for workers losing jobs in the polluter industries fossil fuels and the lack of employee voice in both work arenas The overtly pro conservative and political nature of this UK Taskforce is also analyzed which occurs and operates in opposition to British trade unions and the wider labor movement by not prioritizing the just transition alongside the extensive skills training and passporting requirements that British workers need to gain decent green jobs This book is distinctive in offering the first in depth analysis and critique of the UK Green Jobs Taskforce in examining this Taskforce using conservative political ideas and by critiquing it too Little academic literature is available globally on the business impact and analysis of UK governmental sustainability policy and this study can provide wider learning points lessons and implications for other green job plans being formed and enacted in the EU USA and other countries It will be of great interest to academics and students of sustainability HRM organizational behavior organization studies and employment relations
