Cumulated Index Medicus ,1999 Matters of the Heart Fay Bound Alberti,2010-01-14 The heart is the most symbolic organ of the human body Across cultures it is seen as the site of emotions as well as the origin of life We feel emotions in the heart from the heart stopping sensation of romantic love to the crushing sensation of despair And yet since the nineteenth century the heart has been redefined in medical terms as a pump an organ responsible for the circulation of the blood Emotions have been removed from the heart as an active site of influence and towards the brain It is the brain that is the organ most commonly associated with emotion in the modern West So why then do the emotional meanings of the heart linger Why do many transplantation patients believe that the heart for instance can transmit memories and emotions and why do we still refer to emotions as heartfelt We cannot answer these questions without reference to the history of the heart as both physical organ and emotional symbol Matters of the Heart traces the ways emotions have been understood between the seventeenth and nineteenth centuries as both physical entities and spiritual experiences With reference to historical interpretations of such key concepts as gender emotion subjectivity and the self it also addresses the shifting relationship from heart to brain as competing centres of emotion in the West JT Wilson and the Fraternity of Duckmaloi Patricia Morison,2019-12-01 In the 1890s four young scientists at Sydney University two Scots a Londoner and an Australian began sustained research into Australian native fauna for which each was awarded the FRS They all went on to pursue notable careers in the biological sciences concluding in London 46 8 and Cambridge This book follows their careers and enduring friendship exploring in detail the life of its senior member J T Wilson 1861 1945 who was professor of anatomy at Sydney University 1890 1920 and Cambridge 1920 1933 and had abiding interests in science philosophy education and military affairs The narrative is mainly concerned with issues of historical interest to scientists and medical educationists though some like Empire relations and the contribution of Scots to Australia s development will interest a wider readership Many of the preoccupations of Wilson and his colleagues remain topical the debate between biological science and religion the
