In view of the findings of recent RAND research that suggest that few opponents will be able to challenge the U S Air Force USAF in the air a RAND study for the USAF Countering U S Aerospace Power has been investigating means that future adversaries might pursue to counter U S airpower As part of that study the historical effort reported here examines ground attacks on air bases in conflicts between 1940 and 1992 Its purpose is to offer a comprehensive review of attacker objectives and tactics and of the most effective defensive countermeasures The insights gained can be related to current air base defense doctrine and tactics and should be of interest to Air Force Security Police in training operations and policy positions Additionally it is hoped that the report will serve as a useful reference for Security Police courses on air base ground defense and for officers researching the history of ground attacks on air bases The report should also be of interest to Air Force officers in operations and plans OPLANS positions who have a broader responsibility for ensuring the availability of airpower as a ready instrument in the defense of U S interests Finally the special forces defense analysis and military history communities should find the report of interest
