Whore Biographies, 1700-1825, Part II vol 6 Julie Peakman, 2024-08-07 Across eight volumes this two part collection of selected texts focuses on autobiographies and biographies of courtesans directories of whores erotic poems dedicated to harlots jocular descriptions of prostitutes and jest books on strumpets The Collected Poems of Laurence Whyte Michael Griffin, 2016-09-06 Though his name might not be familiar to many twenty first century readers Laurence Whyte d 1753 is an important missing link in eighteenth century Ireland s literary and musical histories A rural poet who established himself in Dublin as a teacher of mathematics and as an active member and poetic chronicler of the much admired and supported Charitable Musical Society Whyte was a poet of considerable talent and dexterity and his body of work yields a wealth of insight into the intersecting cultures of his time and place Published in 1740 and 1742 Whyte s writing by turns humorous and poignant insightful and nostalgic straddled the worlds of Gaelic and Anglo Irish of the rural midlands and the capital of Catholic and Protestant Some of the dualities explored in his verse were present to varying extents in the work of Jonathan Swift and Oliver Goldsmith In matters poetical political and cultural Whyte is an important though as yet neglected and unstudied figure This edition comprehensively introduced and annotated retrieves him from that neglect Four Sisters:

The History of Ringsend, Irishtown, Sandymount and Merrion Kurt Kullmann, 2017-09-01 This book traces the development of the four coastal villages often referred to as the Four Sisters that make up the eastern part Dublin 4 from their foundation to the present day Richly illustrated with modern and historic images this work looks at the social political religious and economic history of Ringsend Irishtown Sandymount and Merrion recalling the significant events vanished industries and local characters Hidden Dublin Frank Hopkins, 2008-06 A history of Dublin as seen through the poverty soup kitchens food riots street beggars and workhouses of the 18th and 19th centuries Ascendancy Women and Elementary Education in Ireland Eilís O'Sullivan, 2017-06-30 This book outlines the lives of six female members of the Irish Ascendancy and describes their involvement with educational provision for poor children in Ireland at the end of the long eighteenth century It argues that these women were moved by empathy and by a sense of duty and that they were motivated by political considerations pragmatism and especially religious belief The book highlights the women s agency and locates their contribution in international and literary contexts and by exploring sources and evidence not previously considered it generates an enhanced understanding of Ascendancy women s involvement with the provision of elementary education for poor Irish children This book will appeal to scholars and researchers in the fields of Education and History of Education It will also have broad appeal for those interested in Gender and Women s Studies in Georgian Ireland and in the history of Ascendancy families and estates Literary Salons Across Britain and Ireland in the Long Eighteenth Century

 Amy Prendergast, 2015-08-25 The eighteenth century salon played an important role in shaping literary culture while both creating and sustaining transnational intellectual networks Focusing on archival materials this book is the first detailed examination of the literary salon in Ireland considered in the wider contexts of contemporary salon culture in Britain and France Captain Cohonny W. A. Maguire, 2002 The Maguires of Tempo whose substantial estate dated from the Ulster Plantation in 1610 were the only Gaelic family in Fermanagh to survive the upheavals of the next two centuries with their property more or less intact By the time Constantine Maguire inherited in 1800 however only a fraction remained The extraordinary story of this resourceful not to say ruthless man's struggle to retain his social standing in the course of which he married a famous courtesan and then fell in love with a mistress of his own reads like a novel of the period His brutal murder in Tipperary in 1832 was a suitably Gothic finishing touch to a rackets career At a more serious level the tale of Captain Cohonny throws useful light on some obscure aspects of life and death in early 19th century Ireland Irish Historical Studies ,1988 Vols 1 include the sections Writings on Irish history 1936 Research on Irish history in Irish British and American universities 1973 38 The First Irish Cities David Dickson, 2021-01-01 The untold story of a group of Irish cities and their remarkable development before the age of industrialization A backward corner of Europe in 1600 Ireland was transformed during the following centuries This was most evident in the rise of its cities notably Dublin and Cork David Dickson explores ten urban centers and their patterns of physical social and cultural evolution relating this to the legacies of a violent past and he reflects on their subsequent partial eclipse Beautifully illustrated this account reveals how the country's cities were distinctive and through the Irish diaspora influential beyond Ireland's shores Text and talk as social practice ,2016-07-11 No detailed description available for Text and talk as social practice Irish Publishing Record ,1988

Credit and Debt in Eighteenth-Century England Alexander Wakelam, 2020-06-15 Throughout the eighteenth century hundreds of thousands of men and women were cast into prison for failing to pay their debts This apparently illogical system where debtors were kept away from their places of work remained popular with creditors into the nineteenth century even as Britain witnessed industrialisation market growth and the increasing sophistication of commerce as the debtors' prisons proved surprisingly effective Due to insufficient early modern currency almost every exchange was reliant upon the use of credit based upon personal reputation rather than defined collateral making the lives of traders inherently precarious as they struggled to extract payments based on little more than promises This book shows how traders turned to debtors' prisons to give those promises defined consequences the system functioning as a tool of coercive contract enforcement rather than oppression of the poor Credit and Debt demonstrates for the first time the fundamental contribution of debt imprisonment to the early modern economy and reveals how traders made use of existing institutions to alleviate the instabilities of commerce in the context of unprecedented market growth This book will be of interest to scholars and researchers in economic history and early modern British history Dublin Street Life and Lore - An Oral History of Dublin's Streets and their Inhabitants Kevin C. Kearns, 1997-10-01 The first half of this century was the heyday of Dublin's vibrant and bustling traditional street life. Now in Dublin's Street Life and Lore through the vivid oral histories of the participants themselves, Professor Kevin Kearns chronicles this rich street life and lore for future generations. The fascinating and often poignant verbal testimonies of Dublin's last surviving tram drivers, lamplighters, market traders, street dealers, spielers, buskers, local characters, and others of their vanishing breed comprise a wholly original and captivating personal historical record of Dublin's long renowned street life, told in Professor Kearns's uniquely engaging and informative style. Dublin Street Life and Lore

I. Ebbe, 2013-05-13 Comparative and International Criminal Justice Systems: Policing, Judiciary and Corrections Third Edition examines the history, dynamics, structure, organization, and processes in the criminal justice systems in a number of selected countries. Designed for courses in comparative criminal justice systems, comparative criminology, and international criminal law, it explores systems in the United States, Ireland, Israel, Argentina, Sierra Leone, China, Russia, and Poland. A descriptive and quantitative analysis of criminal justice processes, this text goes beyond a mere analysis of individual systems. Instead, the book compares these criminal justice models with each other and contrasts them with United Nations conventions, World Courts of Justice, International Court of Justice, International Military Tribunal, International Criminal Tribunal, International Criminal Court. Understanding these comparisons is crucial for a proper grasp of transnational crimes. The book shows how the national criminal justice systems and the United Nations judicial systems complement each other when adjudicating transnational crimes in the international community. It analyzes the nature of crime and criminal law, explores basic theories of crime, and discusses the various sources of international law. It also examines the inherent pitfalls in comparing international crime rates and discusses terrorism and its control. Unique to this edition is a thorough, unbiased study of the Islamic justice system. Each chapter focuses on a select region and includes crime data and arrest, prosecution, and conviction rates where appropriate. This allows readers looking for information on the criminal justice systems of any part of the world to easily find the relevant section. A sound approach to understanding the laws of various nations and international criminal and humanitarian laws, this volume provides sage insight into the sociological explanations of criminal law and crime. Current Geographical Publications University of

A Union of Multiple Identities L. W. B. Brockliss, David Eastwood, 1997 This book explores the importance of history to Elizabethan and early Stuart gentry and how this led to a vibrant antiquarian culture The family town and county histories written by the community which form the core of the study had an influence on the development of local history in England which lasted into the twentieth century and is still felt today Eschewing a narrow historiographical approach the author examines a range of manuscript and published works and other material reflecting the gentry s interest in the past pedigree rolls antiquarian notebooks heraldic displays and maps The book provides a survey of the development of local history in England from its medieval origins to 1660 This is followed by chapters on the practicalities of local historical research the national educational and institutional framework the development of regional networks of local historians and the gentlemen who controlled access to their sources and analysis of the source materials available The final section features chapters on genealogy didacticism and the physical world
