The Self-Donation of God Jack D. Kilcrease, 2013-03-20 In The Self Donation of God Jack Kilcrease argues that the speech act of promise is always an act of self donation A person who unilaterally promises to another is bound to take a particular series of actions to fulfill that promise Being that creation is grounded in God s promising speech the divine human relationship is fundamentally one of divine self donation and human receptivity Sin disrupts this relationship and therefore redemption is constituted by a reassertion of divine promise of salvation in the face of the condemnation of the law Gen 3 15 As a new and effective word of grace the promise of a savior begins the process of redemption within which God speaks forth a new narrative of creation In this new narrative God gives himself in an even deeper manner to humanity By donating himself through a promise first to the protological humanity and then to Israel he binds himself to them At the end of this history of self binding God in Christ enters into the condemnation of the law neutralizes it in the cross and brings about a new creation through his omnipotent word of promise actualized in the resurrection

Roberts,2014-12-05 Is it possible to apply teachings from the Bible to our world today given the vast differences between biblical times and ours Biblical passages are often taken out of context and interpreted to support a particular viewpoint or justify a particular action The Bible Says So examines the origins of well known biblical stories from Adam and Eve the Flood and the Tower of Babel to the birth of Jesus his resurrection and the writings of St Paul The book argues that the meaning of these stories becomes apparent when we read between the lines using the techniques of biblical scholars The Bible Says So explores the original intentions of the biblical writers in their particular context and examines key biblical values The book does justice to the origins of the biblical text whilst also affirming the relevance of the Bible today
