Social Movements Dieter Rucht,2023 Dieter Rucht offers a theoretically and historically informed approach to social movements as a phenomenon of modern societies He links the analysis of social movements to general theories of society and processes of social change and combines three basic perspectives interactionist constructivist and process oriented ICP approach Neopluralism Andrew S. McFarland,2004 Many of the basic issues of political science have been addressed by pluralist theory which focuses on the competing interests of a democratic polity their organization and their influence on policy Andrew McFarland shows that this approach still provides a promising foundation for understanding the American political process Understanding Social Movements Greg Martin,2015-05 Understanding Social Movements provides a multidisciplinary global introduction integrating theoretical perspectives and rich case study material Case studies are drawn from North America Europe China Latin America Africa India and the Middle East Marketing change pub date to March 2013 build list in social movements SCSN109615 ONLY 14 names Transhumanism as a New Social Movement James

Michael MacFarlane,2020-05-19 This book explores Technological Human Enhancement Advocacy through ethnographically inspired participant observation across a range of sites James Michael MacFarlane argues that such advocacy is characterized by Techno centrism a belief grounded in today s world while being also future oriented and drawn from the imagination This blurring of real and imagined futures borrows from the materialist grounding of the scientific worldview while granting extended license to visions for technology as an enabler of forward facing action which include reviving humanist ideals associated with the modernization project While Techno centrism is arguably most pronounced in transhumanism where it is acted out in extreme almost hyperbolic ways it reflects more generally held deep seeded concerns around the future of science technology and human self identity in the new millennium Far from being new these emerging social forms capture unresolved ambivalences which have long cast a shadow over late modern society and culture

Networks and Mobilization Processes: The Case of the Japanese Anti-Nuclear Movement after Fukushima Anna Wiemann,2018-05-14 Environmental disasters or other large scale disruptive events often trigger the emergence of social movements demanding social and or political change This study investigates mobilization processes at the meso level of the Japanese anti nuclear movement after the nuclear disaster at the Fukushima Daiichi nuclear power plant caused by the Great East Japan Earthquake and subsequent tsunami waves on March 11 2011 To capture such meso level movement dynamics which so far have played only a minor role in research on social movement mobilization the study presents an analytical model based on premises from political process theory network theory and relational sociology This model is then applied to the case of the Japanese anti nuclear movement after Fukushima by looking at the relational dynamics of two coalitional movement networks engaged in advocacy related activities in T ky The first case study is e shift a network coalition working for nuclear phase out and the promotion of renewable energy the other is SHSK Shienh Shimin Kaigi a coalition pushing for the rights of people affected by radioactive contamination and or evacuation from contaminated areas The study traces the mobilization processes of these two networks by analyzing data gathered in 2013 and 2014 in the form of participant observation of movement events semi structured interviews with movement organization representatives and documentary data
