Preparing Teachers to Teach with Technology Charalambos

Vrasidas, Gene V Glass, 2005-06-01 Teacher preparation programs in the United States and around the world have finally begun to address this deficiency in their programs The realization that technology is a powerful driving force in education coupled with a renewed emphasis on teacher preparation by governments have resulted in some dramatic changes in teacher preparation programs I believe that we have just begun to see changes in teacher preparation and that the pace of change will continue to accelerate This volume covers some of the more exciting developments in the field including the emergence of wireless computing in the classroom and the preparation of teachers in an online environment In short I am optimistic For those of you who are also in the field I think you will agree For those who are just entering the field this book is a great place to start as you change education Finally while this book is the last book of the three part series that we at CAIT

conceptualized with Charalambos Vrasidas and Gene Glass it is also the beginning of a new relationship We are excited to join with a new partner CARDET to present this book Over many years in the education and R D field I have come to realize the value of partnerships and relationships I want to thank both Charalambos and Gene for making this series a reality and such a success We are looking forward to working with them and CARDET in the near future

The Status of Social Studies Jeff Passe, Paul G. Fitchett, 2013-10-01 A team of researchers from 35 states across the country developed a survey designed to create a snapshot of social studies teaching and learning in the United States. With over 12 000 responses it is the largest survey of social studies teachers in over three decades. We asked teachers about their curricular goals, their methods of instruction, their use of technology, and the way they address the needs of English language learners and students with disabilities. We gathered demographic data too, along with inquiries about the teachers' training, their professional development experiences, and even whether they serve as coaches. The enormous data set from this project was analyzed by multiple research teams, each with its own chapter. This volume would be a valuable resource for any professor, doctoral student, or Master's student examining the field of social studies education. It is hard to imagine a research study, topical article, or professional development session concerning social studies that would not quote findings from this book about the current status of social studies. With chapters on such key issues as the teaching of history, how teachers address religion, social studies teachers' use of technology, and how teachers adapt their instruction for students with disabilities or for English language learners, the book's content will immediately be relevant and useful.
